House of Princess Royal Attacked.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

LONDON, June 5.—A middle aged, roughly clad man who arrived only three weeks ago from Australia was seized by police tonight after he fired a shotgun at the duchess of Kent as she was leaving her home in Belgrave square for the movies. Neither the car nor the duchess was hit.

Princess Royal.

The police were reported to believe the man who fired the shot was the same who this morning smashed a window in the town house of the princess royal, sister of the duke of Kent and King George VI. of Great Britain. Some missile—whether it was a bullet, Scotland Yard refused to say—pierced a jagged hole in the window and penetrated the shade.

Remains at Scene.

As the car containing the duchess of Kent, who was the Princess Marina of Greece, and Lady Portarlington was pulling away from the house, a man fired with a sawed off shotgun.

G. Kirkwood, who was driving by with his wife, witnessed the act. The shot, he said, barely missed his own car.

"Then I saw the man sitting on the pavement," Kirkwood said. "I asked him what he was doing there and saw the small shotgun, a pump gun, lying at his side.

"He didn't say anything, so I drove to a policeman, picked him up, and raced back to Belgrave square. The man was still there, beside a racing bicycle which he had ridden into the square."

Grilled at Police Station.

Examination disclosed the gun had contained only one shell. The man was taken to Gerald Road police station where he was questioned. He will be arraigned tomorrow. Senior officials of Scotland Yard entered the case for a thorough investigation.

The duke of Kent will become governor general of Australia this fall and it was believed the attempted assassination might have been made as a protest of his appointment.

Scotland Yard also considered that the two attacks might be linked with the outlawed Irish Republican army or its sympathizers who have been charged by police with waging a campaign of bombing and terrorism in England. The campaign, which was started early this year, caused the duke of Kent to cancel a tour to Northern Ireland.

Duchess Informed Later.

The duchesses' car was in motion when the shot was fired, and it was said she was unaware of the incident until she returned from the Gaumont theater, where she saw the movie, "Wuthering Heights."

A statement by the duke's household staff said, "If the duchess heard the report [of the gun] she certainly did not connect it with a shot," but other sources close to the Kent household said the duchess was greatly shocked on learning of the shooting.

The duke had dined with the duchess at home and left a few minutes before her to attend a Masonic lodge dinner. He was advised of the shooting upon his return home about an hour after the incident.

Marina 32 Years Old.

The duchess, who is 32 years old, was the Princess Marina of Greece before her marriage on Nov. 29, 1934, to the duke, fourth son of King George V. and youngest brother of the present king and duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII.

The princess royal is 42 years old and married the earl of Harewood in 1922 when he was Viscount Lascelles. She is the most retiring member of the royal family. She is the mother of two sons, Viscount Lascelles and the Hon. Gerald Lascelles.

Judy Falls, Not from Grace but from Lack of It

Judy the elephant is one of the early settlers of the Brookfield zoo. She helped move trees and haul materials when they were building the place. So you can see why Director Edward Bean can't always be telling her to be careful.

Some one should have told her, though. She fell into the moat yesterday, dignity and all, four tons of elephant and perhaps more dignity.

A Model of Patience.

Now Judy can trumpet, and she can squeal. But forty years in circuses and the zoo have taught her patience. She has a lot of confidence in Mr. Bean, too. And so she just brushed the mud off her nose, tried out her legs to see that they weren't broken, and waited for him to do whatever he was going to do.

Bean used tact; said "My, my, a nasty fall," and remarked, loud enough for Judy to hear, that the top of the moat must just have given way, because Judy was much too prudent an elephant to wander too close to the edge.

Then he sent the men for wheelbarrows. They trundled bales of hay down to the moat in the wheelbarrows and built Judy a stairway.

At His Nod, She Rises.

When everything was ready, Mr. Bean nodded, and Judy walked out with a somewhat disdainful glance at the rest of the elephant colony, Minnie, Ziggie, Nancy, and Mitzi.

She seemed relieved when Mr. Bean could find nothing more serious than some cuts on her shoulders, which he fixed up with a paint brush and some mercurochrome.

By that time she'd never have raised an eyebrow if Mr. Bean had taken her aside and given her a fatherly lecture on keeping away from that moat, into which she fell once before, back in 1935. He didn't, though. He just gave her an extra helping of her favorite dessert, chopped beets and boiled potatoes, with her supper.

Pendergast entered the penitentiary May 29 after conviction on a charge of evading federal income taxes. He was sentenced to a term of 15 months.

DEMOCRATIC SLATE SWEEPS COUNTY; DADY VICTOR IN CIO FIGHT; WILSON OUT

Slot Machine Issue Defeats Jurist in 12th District.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Republican judicial candidates won in the 12th Illinois circuit yesterday and defeated Judge Edwin L. Wilson of Joliet, who headed the Democratic ticket. The Republican lead was about 4,000 votes. Chief issue in the campaign was Judge Wilson's record in issuing injunctions protecting slot machines and law breaking saloons.

Judge Ralph J. Dady of Waukegan emerged triumphant in the 17th district. He won by a margin of two to one. Judge Dady had strong opposition from the C. I. O. for his firm stand against sitdown strikes started by John L. Lewis' labor organization. The C. I. O. sought to defeat Judge Dady by supporting B. Jay Knight of Rockford, the sole Democratic nominee.

Judge Pierce Leads List.

Republicans: Judge Dady, 32,130; Thomas E. Gill, Rockford, 31,664; Judge William L. Pierce, Belvidere, 32,141. Democrat: Knight, 15,395.

In Lake county, where the C. I. O. fight against Judge Dady was concentrated, Knight carried only twelve out of the county's ninety-five precincts. Of these seven were in Waukegan and North Chicago, three in Highwood, and one each in Mundelein and Antioch. In Lake county Judge Dady polled [illegible] votes; Gill, 13,358; Judge Pierce, 13,975, and Knight, 6,918.

Two Counties Beat Wilson

The defeat of Judge Wilson in the 12th district was accomplished by the voters in Kankakee and Iroquois counties. This was the hottest of the judicial battles in the seventeen downstate circuits, each of which elected three judges. In Joliet the contest was fiercest. Judge Wilson cracked the Republican slate in Will county, his home, but the anti-Wilson vote in the two other counties overcame this advantage.

In ninety-four out of ninety-eight precincts in Will county, Judge Wilson was top man with 11,835 votes. He was 2,710 votes ahead of the low man on the Republican ticket in the county, Roscoe C. South of Watseka. In Kankakee county, Judge Wilson ran more than 4,000 behind the Republicans. In Iroquois county he was trailing by 3,000 votes. Thus his Will county lead was rubbed out.

Four Tickets in District.

With eleven candidates on four tickets, the campaign was somewhat complicated. Judge Claude N. Saum of Watseka, a Democrat, who refused to run with Judge Wilson but made the race as a nonpartisan, was in fifth place. In 162 precincts he had 11,957 votes. His running mates on the nonpartisan ticket, Harry S. Streeter of Kankakee and R. C. Schoenstedt of Joliet, had 7,592 and 7,909 votes, respectively.

On the People's ticket, William R. McCabe of Joliet polled 8,089 votes, and Elmer A. Taylor of Watseka, 4,825. Herman Danforth of Danforth, who was put on the Democratic ticket against his will, polled 9,317 votes, although he told voters not to support him. William J. Parish of Momence, the third Democratic nominee, had 11,754 votes.

EXPENSE OF JUDICIAL VOTE TO TAXPAYERS PLACED AT $418,990

Officials said last evening that the judicial election cost the taxpayers in Cook county approximately $418,990. Of this, the city paid $36,480 for polling place rental. The country town governments paid rental of $7,280. All other expenses were borne by the county board.

Following is a tabulation of the total expenses:

|---|---|
| Judges and clerks' pay roll [canvass and election] | $220,320 |
| Polling place rentals | 43,760 |
| Printing ballots | 79,310 |
| Printing registration sheets | 20,000 |
| Miscellaneous | 55,600 |

G.O.P. DOWNSTATE GAINS 15 PLACES ON CIRCUIT BENCH

Springfield, Ill., June 6.—[Tuesday] —(AP)—Republicans doubled their number of circuit judges in downstate Illinois yesterday, electing thirty out of fifty-one men named to the Circuit bench.

Six years ago, the last time statewide judicial elections were held, only fifteen Republicans were named.

Downstate the Republicans swept the northern sector, made gains in some central Illinois circuits and won a hotly contested seat in the Cairo-Harrisburg district.

Lists Nine Defeats.

Nine Circuit Democratic judges were defeated. They are Grendel F. Bennett, Marshall; John H. Armstrong, Champaign; Chalmer C. Taylor, Bloomington; Frank A. Ortman, Pontiac; Horace H. Baker, El Paso; Edwin L. Wilson, Joliet; Claude N. Saum, Watseka; Francis J. Coyle, Moline, and Albert H. Manus, Freeport.

Democrats lost three seats in both the Bloomington and the Joliet-Kankakee circuits.

Some G. O. P. Winners.

Among other Republican winners are August J. Scheineman of Sterling; Harry E. Wheat, Freeport; Judge Frank H. Hayes, Morris; Louis A. Zearing, Princeton; Judge George W. Bristow, Paris; Ben F. Anderson, Charleston, and William M. Bardens, Monmouth.

In close voting the Cairo-Harrisburg circuit produced one of the Republican gains when Lloyd M. Bradley of Carbondale was elected to a Democratic vacancy. The other two places went to the incumbents—Hal A. Spann of Anna and Darce R. Rumsey of Harrisburg.

Claims Great G. O. P. Gains.

At Chicago Republican State Chairman A. K. Stiles claimed "great gains" for his party.

"In no circuit in the state did we lose any judges we had," Stiles said. "Gains were universal. In each district we either held our own or gained from one to three judges. Some districts in the state which were solidly Democratic were turned into clean sweeps for the Republican party."

Winners by Districts.

3d District—*Maurice V. Joyce,

MY TIME IS YOUR TIME, CORPORATION COUNSEL TELLS TAPROOM MEN

When the clocks in Chicago strike 1 a. m. on week days and 2 a. m. on Sundays it is time for law abiding taverns to close, daylight saving time or central standard time.

Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, made this ruling yesterday. The ordinance establishing daylight saving time makes it the official time of the city from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September, he said.

Today the opinion will be given to a city council subcommittee considering an amendment to the tavern ordinance which would permit saloons to stay open an hour longer. City officials predicted last evening that the ruling will lead to passage of the amendment by the council tomorrow.

The aldermen have been active in protesting the current police drive forcing tavern keepers to observe the legal closing hours. But they have delayed action pending a settlement of the time question.

Several Municipal court judges have refused to convict tavern keepers arrested for staying open after hours.

Republican List Is Swamped by 2-1 Vote Margin.

Other Election News

The entire Democratic ticket, which included ten Republicans, won in the Cook county judicial election yesterday. It was one of the easiest victories ever recorded in a contested major election in this area.

Almost complete figures showed that the ticket, built around twenty sitting judges of the Circuit court, triumphed almost 2 to 1, with the lead margins of various winners well above the 200,000 mark.

The total vote was a disappointment to those who pleaded for a strong independent turnout. It was estimated that the total was only 725,000, considerably less than the forecasts of even prophets most cynical about the degree of public interest in a judicial election.

37 Per Cent of Registered Vote.

This total was approximately 37 per cent of the registered vote, a decided notch below the 40 per cent average for past judicial elections in which there were contests. All the Republicans and, privately, some of the Democrats, said it was another demonstration of the way the Democratic organization and its army of 30,000 pay rollers can deliver votes.

This assertion was supported by observations during the day. It was described as the quietest ever seen in Chicago and its suburbs with so important an election in progress. Precinct workers were so few that they were scarcely noticeable.

Within the polling places judges and clerks spent most of their time resting and talking. The calm of perfect weather seemed to add to the peace of the occasion.

G. O. P. Inactivity Cited.

Some explanation for the runaway of the Democratic nominees was found in the fact that they included all of the sitting judges, among whom were eight Republicans. Further reason for the Republican failure was pointed out in the complete inactivity of the Republican county committee as a unit throughout the campaign. Some earlier exponents of coalition among the Republican ward committeemen, disappointed that their plans fell through, supported the Democratic ticket in its entirety.

Arithmetically the story was told in the staggering total of straight Democratic ballots. It is generally conceded that crosses in the party circle come from members of the party. The 400,000 straight Democratic votes which were cast were taken as proof of the strength of the marching Democratic troops.

In Chicago alone, it was estimated, the organization delivered 365,000 crosses in the circle. That total alone was more than 57 per cent of all the votes cast in the city, a majority which by itself would have been sufficient to overcome a strong Republican movement in the country towns.

Scratched Ballots Few.

But the country towns also went Democratic in the matter of straight votes. There the indicated Democratic total was approximately 35,000 and the total straights of the Republicans came to only 29,000.

Contrary to expectations, the number of scratched ballots or splits fell below 20 per cent in Chicago and below 25 in the country towns, which in many elections show their independent tendency in a large total of splits.

Republicans had been hoping that an early Democratic lead on straight ballots might be overcome by a few of their candidates when it came to adding figures for individual candidates on the splits. Not only was the total of splits too small to breach the margin, but the counting of splits showed that the Democrats also held the advantage there.

The Republicans cast about the same percentage of straight ballots that they did in 1936. It was about 23 per cent in Chicago, 35 per cent in the country towns, and 25 per cent in the county as a whole.

The tremendous falling off in the totals in contrast to other elections was shown by comparison with the figures for the mayoral election only two months ago. In that contest—limited to Chicago—1,481,296 votes were cast. Mayor Kelly received 822,469 and Dwight H. Green, the Republican nominee, received 638,068.

A far earlier glimpse than usual of what had occurred this year was made possible by a change in the method of gathering police returns, a change established by the City News bureau as an improvement over the system used in former years.

Interest centered this year in the group of twenty seats in the Circuit court. Under the old system there would have been hours of waiting for precinct tabulation of the votes of forty contestants for these places and for the collection and tabulation of these figures in the County building.

New Plan Speeds Returns.

The new method provided a flash system of telephoning the precinct figures on straight Democratic, straight Republican, and split ballots. These are the first figures available in the precincts. The first duty of the precinct officials is to count the total number of ballots, to separate the straight ballots from the splits, and to count the three stacks.

Immediate telephoning of these figures showed almost from the beginning that the election was one-sided.

The figures also established that voters ignored the advice of the Chicago Bar association. That organization urged support of six of the candidates on the Republican ticket, but all the early indications were that these six fared little better than the average Republican nominee. That was because of the flood of crosses in the Democratic circle.

Machine Victory, Says Moore.

Edward F. Moore, chairman of the Republican county central committee, who personally did all that he could for his party ticket, said the result was a machine victory.

"We can all agree that this was very definitely a machine victory," he said when the outcome became known. "The machine always can count on half a million votes and in an election which brings out such an unusually light vote as this one the machine usually steam rollers its way through.

"The independent vote could not be brought to the polls. We didn't have a dollar or a jobholder to use in manning the polls. It takes fortitude to conduct a campaign on 'marbles and chalk.' But we fought their power, pap, and patronage and made gains, as the final analysis of the results will show."

Henry F. Tenney, head of the citizens' nonpartisan judicial campaign committee, organized to support the Democratic slate, issued a statement saying that the election constituted a popular indorsement of the coalition method of electing judges.

Gunman Abandons His Girl's Candy in Flight

"Make it look pretty," said the young man in the candy store at 2937 Broadway last night. "It's for my girl." He waited while Mrs. Martha Schneider, the owner, packed two pounds carefully. Two customers at a nearby table walked out. The young man drew a gun and robbed Mrs. Schneider of $16. "You can have the candy," he said as he fled.

Spain Names 5 Man Board to Continue Censorship

MADRID, Spain, June 5.—(AP)—The Spanish government announced today formation of a five member commission to continue, indefinitly, censorship of the press, mails, and telegraphs.

ADAMS COUNTY BOARD MEMBER DIES.

Quincy, Ill., June 5.—[Special.]—Henry Milbert, 58 years old, member of the Adams county board of supervisors, died suddenly of a heart ailment yesterday. He succeeded as a supervisor his brother, George, who died in 1936.

COUNTY'S VOTERS CRUSH TWO BOND ISSUE PROPOSALS

Hospital and Infirmary Plans Defeated.

Two special bond issue proposals were beaten with big majorities by Cook county voters yesterday. With 4,295 of the 4,376 city and country precincts counted, the vote for the Oak Forest infirmary bond issue was 210,562 for to 294,004 against. The Cook County hospital issue got 211,806 votes, while 272,471 voted against it.

While the vote in the city did not show quite so wide a majority against the special issues, it stood at about nine to seven against the Oak Forest proposal and about nine to eight against the County hospital issue. In the country towns the vote against was about eight to three in the case of Oak Forest, and about seven to three in the case of the County hospital. A majority of the votes cast on this question alone was required for passage.

The two referenda were on a separate ballot. The larger of the two propositions provided authority to spend $2,400,000 for improvements at Oak Forest infirmary, including a general hospital and receiving buildings, a recreation and assembly hall, two ward buildings, a tuberculosis hospital, an employés cafeteria, and an addition to the chapel.

Larger Plant Sought.

The second bond issue, for $1,800,000, would provide funds for a new contagious diseases hospital, and buildings for convalescents, maternity cases, and children in addition to those already provided at the Cook County hospital plant.

It was the theory of the county board that the voting of these bonds would provide the basis for obtaining funds from the Public Works administration up to 45 per cent of the total cost in each instance. This would bring a total federal grant of $3,433,330.

Opposition Is Small.

Although there was little public discussion of either of the bond proposals, one organization came out flat footedly against them. It was the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency. Its opposition rested principally on the thesis that if the additions were allowed to the two hospitals the county probably would not be in a financial position to keep up the expanded plants. It pointed out that the county's present obligations are far beyond its resources and urged that the county make some sound plan to take care of its actual and essential services before it takes on new obligations.

VOTE ADDITION OF 8 BLOCKS TO LA GRANGE AREA

The area of La Grange was increased eight square blocks and the population was boosted by 100 persons last night. This was accomplished by the approval of an ordinance by the village board annexing a section south of 47th street and east of La Grange road.

The action was taken on the petition of 60 per cent of the property owners in the area affected. Two taverns will be adversely affected because the village laws bans the sale of drinks stronger than light wines and beers.

FOOTBALL STAR WINS JUDGESHIP IN CALUMET CITY

Re-elect Corcoran and Porter in Evanston.

Two former college football stars ran for judicial office in Calumet City and in Evanston yesterday. One was elected. The other was defeated. The victor was John J. Wallace and the loser was Willis R. Brightmire.

Wallace defeated Judge Roman E. Posanski for the city judgeship of Calumet City by a vote of 1,909 to 1,537. Other defeated candidates in Calumet City and their votes were Martin H. Finneran, 694; Oliver J. Chalmers, 284, and James O. Koontz, 21. Wallace was a substitute end on the 1924 Notre Dame team that boasted the Four Horsemen. He later was a regular end and an assistant coach to the late Knute Rockne.

Two Evanston Judges Reëlected.

Brightmire, a police magistrate, was defeated for a judgeship on the Evanston Municipal court when Chief Justice Harry H. Porter and Judge James M. Corcoran were reëlected. The vote was 7,714 for Porter, 7,025 for Corcoran, and 2,010 for Brightmire.

Brightmire was quarter back on the Northwestern teams of 1916 and 1919, a teammate of the famed Paddy Driscoll, and interrupted his college education and athletic career to join the navy in the war. He has been police magistrate since 1933.

Renamed for Six Year Terms.

Chief Justice Porter has been head of the Evanston Municipal court since its establishment nearly seven years ago. Judge Corcoran has been in office for six years. Both were re-elected to six year terms.

In addition to the city judgeship election won by Wallace in Calumet City, there was a contest for city clerk. This was won by the incumbent, Fred C. Drake by a vote of 1,662. Other candidates and their votes were: William J. Leinen, 1,102; Casimir Stefaniak, 632; Jules A. Goyke, 313, and Anthony Skonieczny, 234.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERK DIES.

Decatur, Ill., June 5.—[Special.]—Charles Edgar Edie, 60 years old, for 37 years a government railway mail clerk, died in a hospital here today. He had been ill since May 1.

Miner, Trapped 11 Hours, Is in a Serious Condition

Shamokin, Pa., June 5.—(AP)—A young miner, imprisoned 11 hours in a make-shift anthracite hole, was freed by a rescue crew tonight and removed to a hospital. The father and two brothers of 21 year old Leonard Ridlinger were among the fifty miners who extricated him from fallen timber and rock. He was buried to his head. A physician pronounced his condition serious.

IRISH REPUBLICAN LEADER IS SEIZED BY U. S. AGENTS

Sean Russell Suspected in England Bombings.

Detroit, Mich., June 5.—(AP)—Federal agents tonight took into custody Sean Russell, a reputed leader of the outlawed Irish Republican army, and were reported holding him incommunicado. King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain are due in Windsor, Ont., across the Detroit river, tomorrow.

A man accompanying Russell was identified as Joseph McGarrity of Philadelphia, known as an Irish leader in the United States. He was not held. The two men were accosted by government men as they were about to enter a taxicab in front of the Michigan Central railway station.

Russell Touring U. S.

Russell has been touring the United States making speeches. The Irish Republican army, a major figure in Ireland's fight for independence, is outlawed in Ireland and has been suspected in connection with the recent bombings in England.

McGarrity, who registered at a hotel here, expressed surprise at the arrest of Russell and said he and Russell had come to Detroit only to see friends. They came here from Chicago, he said.

The Philadelphian described himself as "merely an old friend" of Russell's and said there was no significance to their presence here. He said Russell has been in the United States five or six weeks on a "legal passport."

Put in Detention Quarters.

Federal agents placed Russell in detention quarters and were reported to have refused attorneys permission to see him. Thomas F. Chawke, Detroit criminal attorney, and an associate, Frank Kane, were reported to have been engaged to represent Russell.

Last May 31 the British home office was reliably reported considering an attempt to extradite Russell, who then was reported in California. Specific charges were not disclosed, but were understood to have arisen from the recent wave of bombings in England attributed to the I. R. A.

When questioned about this, McGarrity said he and Russell knew nothing of it "except what we read in the newspapers."

Secretive About Arrest.

Federal officers were secretive about the arrest, and there was no information from police. Reports from Windsor said the Canadian mounted police, who are responsible for the royal couple's bodyguard during their Canadian tour, admitted they knew of the arrest.

The direct responsibility for the arrest could not be established. The state department at Washington said tonight it had received no request for extradition of the Irish leader.

John S. Bugas, head of the federal bureau of investigation here, refused to discuss the case. It was pointed out, however, that an F. B. I. agent could "assist" in such an arrest provided he had an immigration officer with him at the time. If it were an immigration case it would be in the hands of the labor department.

NEW LAW BACKS REPORTERS AND PHOTOGRAPHERS

Albany, N. Y., June 5.—(AP)—A bill designed to protect news reporters and cameramen in New York state against attack in the course of their duties won approval of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman tonight.

The new law holds guilty of assault any person who "strikes, beats, or wilfully injures the person or apparatus of any news reporter or news photographer during the time when such reporter or photographer is engaged in the pursuit of his occupation or calling in any public place or gathering." The law becomes effective immediately.

Oswald, a Lazy Camel, Will Go to Ohio to Loaf

Nevada Decides to Cancel Connection with N.Y. Fair

Reno, Nev., June 5.—[Special.]—Nevada's New York World's Fair commission today decided to cancel Nevada participation in the exposition. The commission will take formal action tomorrow. Members of the Nevada commission, exchanging opinions by telephone this afternoon, said the reply of Grover A. Whalen, president of the Fair corporation, to their letter was too evasive and they decided not to participate and to call back the Nevada representatives. The board had protested the costs as too high.

MURPHY BEATS CRAMPTON FOR SUPREME COURT

Fourth District Majority Nearly 5,000.

Rock Island, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—Loren E. Murphy, veteran Circuit judge from Monmouth, scored a Democratic victory in west central Illinois by winning election to the State Supreme court today.

With only one of 446 precincts missing the vote was 50,312 for Murphy and 45,694 for the Republican, City Judge Albert M. Crampton of Moline.

Murphy won in eleven of the fourteen counties in the 4th Supreme court district.

Republican leaders were pleased at Crampton's majority in Rock Island, his home county, where he led Murphy 13,201 to 9,568. South of here they were able to carry only Mercer county, 2,562 to 1,715, and McDonough, 3,011 to 2,795.

On the Bench Fourteen Years.

After eight years as Warren county judge Murphy was elected a Circuit judge in 1932 to fill a vacancy. The next year he was reëlected to the Circuit bench for the full term of six years. Although a Democrat, he always has been able to win in a strong Republican district.

Several of the counties Murphy carried today went solidly Republican in the Circuit court election, and his seat on the 9th district bench was captured by a Republican.

The 4th district, created in 1903, has elected six Democrats in seven Supreme court elections since then. The 4th district seat now is held by Judge Warren H. Orr, Rock Island Democrat, who did not seek reëlection.

Graduate of Michigan.

Murphy is 56 years old. He studied law at the University of Michigan and was graduated in 1906. He at once hung out his shingle in Monmouth. Four years later, in 1910, he was elected county judge of Warren county and was reëlected in 1914.

Judge Murphy comes of pioneer stock, his great-grandfather settling in Illinois in 1832. His parents, both past 80, live on a farm near Cuba. He is the father of eight children.

Crampton, the losing candidate, was city judge of Moline for eight years. Most of his judicial experience has been in Chicago, where he long has been popular to help handle an overcrowded docket. He is 39 years old and has four children. The village of Crampton was named after his grandfather, an early settler.

GOVERNOR WILL APPROVE PENNA. ANTI-SIT BILL

Harrisburg, Pa., June 5.—(AP)—Gov. Arthur H. James announced tonight he would sign amendments to the commonwealth's "little Wagner act" outlawing sitdown strikes and approve repeal of the labor injunction law.

State leaders of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations had joined forces and brought a large delegation—they estimated it at 2,000 working men—to the capitol today in a last minute effort to have the chief executive veto the bills changing the statutes passed during the preceding Democratic administration.

After a conference with the labor leaders, Gov. James, a Republican, declared in a statement:

"These amendments were passed as a means of helping Pennsylvania dig herself out of the disastrous mess in which she was left by four years of the extravagance, experimentation and stupidity of the little new deal."

Introduces Bill to Make 'America' National Hymn

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—"America" would become the national hymn under a bill introduced today by Representative Knute Hill [D., Wash.]. The status of "The Star Spangled Banner" as the national anthem would be unchanged.

BOY'S DROWNING HELD ACCIDENTAL.

A jury returned a verdict of accidental death at the inquest yesterday over Edward Baker Jr., 8 years old, 2355 North Damen avenue, who drowned in the north branch of the river at Fullerton avenue last Saturday.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which has been holding its second quadrennial convention in Cleveland, O., since May 8, made plans last night to move the convention bodily to Chicago at the end of the week. Final decision is expected today. A. F. Whitney, president of the brotherhood, said he was almost certain the change would be made, with the probability the convention would be finished here at the Stevens or some other large hotel.

Mr. Whitney said the decision to move the convention is based upon two factors. One is the inability of Cleveland hotels to accommodate the more than 1,000 delegates, officials, and clerks beyond June 15 because of other conventions. The other, he said, is what he described as the unfavorable attitude of Cleveland newspapers toward the brotherhood. The brotherhood, he mentioned, has always found Chicago eminently fair.

The present convention is being attended by 972 delegates and 75 officers and clerks. The quadrennial conventions last from 30 to 41 days. The present one is expected to carry over ten days in Chicago if moved here. Since a 40 day convention generally means about $800,000 business to the convention city, Mr. Whitney said, a move to Chicago ought to mean between $100,000 and $200,000 convention business here.

Chile Says Farewell to U. S. Envoy; Praise Close Ties

[Copyright; 1939; By the New York Times.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 5.—The Chile-American association gave a farewell luncheon today in honor of the American ambassador, Norman Armour, who leaves shortly to take up his post as ambassador to Argentina. Speakers praised Armour's work, stressing that relations between Chile and the United States have never been more cordial.

CARDENAS SEEKS TO MEND SPLITS IN PARTY FRONT

Mexican Army and Labor Bosses at Odds.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, June 5.—The growing struggle between the army and labor union officials of Mexico is becoming more evident as the result of political disputes within the Revolutionary party of Mexico, President Lazaro Cardenas' party which unites the two factions.

Immediately after the C. T. M. [Workers Confederation of Mexico], which is the chief support of the all powerful Revolutionary party, decided to support Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho for president in 1940, various defections within the party became public. These were chiefly among the followers of the independent candidate, Gen. Francisco J. Mujica and in the Sanchez Tapia and other camps.

Party Head Resigns.

Finally, in an attempt to prevent a complete breakup in the Revolutionary party, Cardenas decided to give the diverging factions within the party new hope by obtaining the resignation of Luis I. Rodriguez, the party president and replacing him with a man "less ruthless" in politics. It is expected Rodriguez' successor will be Adalberto Tejeda or Antonio Villalobos.

Rodriguez, according to some circles, took too much advantage of his position as head of the party in swaying state politics, chiefly in San Luis Potosi.

Carlos Madrazo, Rodriguez' secretary, declared:

"All this is the work of reactionaries who wished not only to oust Rodriguez, but also to destroy the party which is our only union of soldiers, peasants, and workers."

Blow to Labor Boss.

The interim president, chosen by the party executive committee, will hold office until a successor to Rodriguez is decided on in the party convention next November.

Rodriguez resignation was regarded as a blow to Vicento Lombardo Toledano, boss of the labor confederation, because the two worked hand in hand.

Lombardo Toledano asserted the confederation is not concerned by Rodriguez' resignation, "but is concerned regarding the person who will succeed him, because we want him to be a man who can uphold the victories so far won by the workers of this country."

Separatists May Return.

Army circles believe the resignation of Rodriguez will enable the Revolutionary party to regain some of the elements it has lost during the last six months, chiefly the Sanchez Tapistas who gave notice of their formal separation from the party on May 28, the same day Rodriguez resigned.

The consensus among deputies and senators is that the resignation of Rodriguez is a victory for the opposition factions which sooner or later are likely to be combined into a solid group behind Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan as a compromise candidate.

BRITAIN FIGURES ARMY TO REACH MILLION BY 1940

LONDON, June 5.—(AP)—With some 200,000 Britons registered for compulsory military service, experts estimated today that Great Britain's army would have more than 1,000,000 trained men at the end of this year. The force is divided as follows: regular army and reserves, 366,000; territorial army [national guard], field force, 340,000; anti-aircraft units, 115,000; conscripts, 200,000.

The war office declined to indicate how many men are standing to in semi-mobilization which the government announced May 9 it was putting into effect because "hostilities now are undertaken without notice."

Beginning around July 1, the war office said, about 50,000 conscripts would be called each quarter until those who registered Saturday, numbering 220,018, had started their six months' training. The first calling up of army, navy, and air force reservists will be on June 15 and the second on Sept. 15. They will receive three months' training.

Liner Radios It's on Its Way to Isle of Pines.

Miami, Fla., June 5.—[Special.]—The wandering German liner St. Louis, bearing 907 Jewish refugees, cruised off the coast of Florida today as President Frederico Laredo Bru of Cuba granted the emigrants permission to land in Cuba.

President Laredo Bru, who previously had ordered the St. Louis to get out of Havana harbor, issued the permission for the refugees to land in Cuba with these qualifications:

FIRST—They must live in a concentration camp on the Isle of Pines.

SECOND—They must submit guarantees that their stay will be temporary.

THIRD—They must not become public charges.

The president said he would give Jewish relief organizations until noon tomorrow to accept the conditions for the entry of the distracted Jews.

There was no indication as to whether the 907 refugees would accept the Cuban terms. The liner paused off Miami Beach yesterday and then steamed in a southeasterly direction. The ship was reported to have reappeared in Florida waters early this morning.

The St. Louis tonight radioed it was on its way to the Isle of Pines.

Earlier in the day the New York offices of the Hamburg-Amerika Line, owners of the St. Louis, said the ship had abandoned hope of landing the refugees in America and was returning to Hamburg. The St. Louis left Hamburg on May 15 for Havana.

Red Army Gets a Warning Lies Cannot Be Tolerated

MOSCOW, June 5.—(AP)—The army newspaper Red Star warned soviet fighting forces in an editorial today that "the smallest trace of falsehood and insincerity cannot be tolerated." The paper said: "There still exist commanders and political workers who like to beautify the real situation, who lie without thinking and show themselves and their units in a better light than the facts justify," Red Star said.

A REMARKABLE INFANT ENJOYS A NAME CHANGE

And Two Daring Flyers Lose a Namesake.

Howard West, Chicago airplane pilot, yesterday received a letter from a friend at Baie Comeau, Que., telling him of events that followed the dramatic aerial rescue of a mother and infant performed by West and his co-pilot, Ralph Heimer, in the Canadian timberlands last May 28.

The mother, Mrs. Raoul Grenier, was dying in childbirth in a remote cabin on the River Outardes within timber tract used by THE TRIBUNE. Although the river was partly blocked by ice and the wind was too high for a safe takeoff from Comeau bay, West and Heimer managed the takeoff at their third effort and flew THE TRIBUNE'S twin motored amphibion plane to her aid.

Operation Is Successful.

The mother was brought back in the plane to the Boisvert Memorial hospital in Baie Comeau and a successful Cæsarian operation was performed. West and Heimer returned to Chicago before learning of the success of the operation. The following letter tells the story:

"Friend Howard:

"Herewith a picture of the Grenier child, whose life you saved last week. Mme. Grenier is still too ill to be disturbed and therefore we took pictures only of the baby and nurse. There are so many inquiries from the camps as to your next arrival, I guess you better bring a bigger ship.

An Unexpected Development.

"There was an unexpected development after you left. No sooner had Grenier busted out of the hospital shouting that he would name his boy after you and Ralph than the boy became the talk of the town.

"Telephones took the news to the lumber camps. The telegraph line along the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, which hasn't much traffic and which has been a sort of broadcasting system for local gossip before the radio, got to work. It wasn't long until every one between Quebec and Labrador was discussing our famous one man quint.

"It was universally agreed that the future of the child so adventurously born would lie in aviation. He might become the Canadian Lindbergh, or if he were to continue to follow in the footsteps, as it were, of Julius Cæsar, an air marshal of Canada.

"However, as his life has been made possible by air line pilots, the consensus of opinion is that he should join the Canadian air lines.

"This idea became unanimous until Nurse Hortense Latrobe, coming off duty, remarked that if the baby's future was to be in the air at all, it would have to be that of a stewardess.

"That was the end of Howard Ralph Grenier and of men monopolizing conversation for the first time in the history of Baie Comeau.

The Women Have an Inning.

"Having rested their vocal cords for the first time since the town was founded, the women took up the discussion with amazing vigor.

"What to name the girl child—Rose, Marie, Annette, Antoinette, Yvonne, and a hundred others were fought over. Finally Rose and Marie were considered the most French Canadian. To them were added Louise de Kerowaille, at the suggestion of an erudite transiet at the château, to commemorate the royal visit.

"A committee which went to make the suggestion to the mother found her too tired to receive them, but told the news to Rose Marie Louise de Kerowaille.

"The baby stared for a moment. Then 'wow wow!' quoth Rose Marie Louise de Kerowaille Grenier.

"Your friend,
"FROGGIE."

Baie Comeau is a recently established town in one area of the Canadian timberlands leased by THE TRIBUNE for pulp wood purposes. It is on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence about 225 miles northeast of the city of Quebec. Pilot West lives at 5426 Harper avenue. Co-Pilot Heimer lives at 2812 West Marquette road.

Wedding Coiffure

Gladys Curtiss wearing hair style chosen as suitable for a bride.

The correct June bride this year will select her wedding coiffure before she selects her veil, hat, or hair ornament, members of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association learned last night.

If in perfect style, she will have her face framed in a soft halo of hair, Mrs. Margaret Condos, president of the group, said. "This will accentuate her charming bridelike qualities," Mrs. Condos explained.

The association's June meeting, held in the Hotel Sherman, was devoted to suitable coiffures for the bridal party. Different hairdresses were created for bride, matron of honor, and maid of honor. They varied, too, with the headgear. If the bride wore a large hat for an afternoon wedding, her hair was worn long around the neck and soft around the face. If veiled, for a formal wedding, it was high again.

Court Upholds California Ban on Paper Milk Bottles

Los Angeles, Cal., June 5.—[Special.]—A state agriculture department ban on paper milk bottles was sustained today as Superior Court Judge Emmet J. Wilson dissolved the temporary restraining order against the department order forbidding use of the paper containers. A law enabling the use of paper containers for milk was passed by the state legislature now in session, but will not go into effect until ninety days after adjournment.

PROF. LINN TAKES A CLASS BEHIND ASSEMBLY SCENE

A professor serving his first term in the Illinois general assembly as a representative from the 5th district yesterday gave his impressions of the legislature to the City club at a meeting in the Hotel Sherman. The professor is James Weber Linn of the University of Chicago.

Members of the legislature do not vote according to the merit of bills, Prof. Linn said.

"Only two issues ever come up," he asserted. "One is the Republicans versus Democrats issue. There are a great number of people who really think there is a difference between the principles of Republicans in Illinois and the Democrats. This is humorous because there isn't the slightest difference.

"Secondly, you have the issue of resistance to, or yielding to, the various pressure groups. The strongest pressure group is the Illinois Education association and the Chicago teachers.

NEW JERSEY GAG RULE KILLED BY HIGHEST COURT

Right to Conduct Public Meetings Upheld.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—In a 5 to 2 decision declaring void Jersey City ordinances infringing freedom of speech and of assembly and restraining Mayor Frank Hague's efforts to suppress C. I. O. labor unions, the United States Supreme court today revived momentous constitutional issues growing out of the civil war amendments.

An opinion by Justice Owen J. Roberts, concurred in by Justice Hugo L. Black, held that the Jersey City officials infringed the privileges and immunities of the union members as citizens of the United States, in violation of the 14th amendment.

Differ on Basis of Decision.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Justice Stanley F. Reed, and Justice Harlan F. Stone, in an opinion by Stone, concurred in the result but not on the ground that the 14th amendment conferred any special privileges and immunities on citizens of the United States. Justice Stone's opinion held that freedom of speech and of assembly are secured by the due process clause of the same 14th amendment, and deplored the effort to revive contentions rejected by the Supreme court in the famous Slaughter House cases.

Both opinions were based on a portion of the first paragraph of the fourteenth amendment which says: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

See Unwarranted Experiment.

This portion of the amendment was interpreted in the slaughter house cases of 1873, when the court held that a monopoly granted by the state of Louisiana to a slaughter house corporation did not infringe the privileges or immunities of a citizen of the United States. The decision held that Louisiana had a right under its police powers to grant such a monopoly so long as it did not infringe upon that portion of the amendment which prohibits a state from depriving any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law.

Based on this precedent, Justice Stone said that the resort to the privileges and immunities clause in the collateral opinion involved gratuitous and unwaranted constitutional experimentation which might have unfortunate consequences.

Although Justices Roberts and Black constituted a minority of two with respect to the grounds on which they reached the majority result, great significance was imputed to their opinion. Justices Felix Frankfurter and William O. Douglas, the most recent Roosevelt appointees, took no part in the case, and it is assumed they, too, would have concurred with Justices Roberts and Black.

State's Rights Involved.

The field of civil rights over which the states heretofore have been deemed to exercise exclusive jurisdiction is involved in the controversy over the privileges and immunities clause, which was settled by the decision in the Slaughter House cases and revived today.

The decision in 1873 was taken to mean that the court would not construe the civil war amendments as upsetting state governments. The decision held that the 14th amendment did not add any additional privileges and immunities to those which inhered in such citizens before its adoption. The amendment, the court said, was not intended to bring within the power of congress or the jurisdiction of the federal courts "the entire domain of civil rights heretofore belonging exclusively to the states."

Court Draws Distinction.

The court drew a distinction between citizenship of the United States and state citizenship, and held that privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States were confined to the limited class of interests growing out of the relationship between the citizen and the national government created by the constitution and federal laws.

"The reason for this narrow construction of the clause and the consistently exhibited reluctance of this court to enlarge its scope has been well understood since the decision of the Slaughter Houses cases," said Justice Stone in a footnote to his opinion.

"If its restraint upon state action were to be extended more than is needful to protect relationships between the citizen and the national government, and if it were deemed to extend to those fundamental rights of person and property attached to citizenship by the common law and enactments of the states when the amendment was adopted . . . it would enlarge congressional and judicial control of state action and multiply restrictions upon it."

Justices Pierce Butler and James Clark McReynolds, in brief separate opinions, dissented from the majority decision in holding unconstitutional the Jersey City ordinances and restraining the Jersey City officials from further interference with the rights of the union members.

The Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Civil Liberties union, as well as individual members thereof, filed a bill of complaint charging that the Jersey City officials had infringed their freedom of speech and of assembly on the ground that they were communists.

The bill challenged the validity of an ordinance forbidding the leasing of any hall, without a permit from the chief of police, for any meeting at which any speaker shall advocate obstruction of the government of the United States or of a state. It challenged another ordinance prohibiting the distribution of any pamphlets, leaflets, etc., in the city streets.

Lower Courts Name Limitations.

The bill alleged various other acts of oppression, including searches and seizures, kidnaping, and forcible deportation to New York City. It sought an injunction to restrain the Jersey City officials from further interference with their rights.

The lower courts, while holding the ordinances void, nevertheless prescribed limitations under which they might be administered. The Supreme court declared the ordinances void on their face and modified the decree to permit the unions to hold meetings without a permit.

The opinion by Justice Roberts said the question presented was whether freedom to disseminate information concerning the national labor relations act and to assemble peaceably to discuss the act "is a privilege or immunity of a citizen of the United States secured against abridgment." The opinion was confined to this single question.

"Although it has been held that the Fourteenth amendment creates no rights in citizens of the United States, but merely secured existing rights against state abridgment," said the Roberts' opinion. "It is clear that the right peaceably to assemble and to discuss these topics, and to communicate respecting them, whether orally or in writing, is a privilege inherent in citizenship of the United States which the amendment protects.

"Citizenship of the United States would be little better than a name if it did not carry with it the right to discuss national legislation and the benefits, advantages and opportunities to accrue to citizens therefrom. All of the respondents' prescribed activities had this single end and aim.

"What has been said demonstrates that in the light of the facts found privileges and immunities of the individual respondents as citizens of the United States were infringed by the petitioners, by virtue of their official positions, under color of ordinances of Jersey City."

Justice Stone's opinion said there was no occasion, for jurisdictional purposes or any other, to consider whether freedom of speech and of assembly are immunities secured by the privileges and immunities clause of the Fourteenth amendment to citizens of the United States "or to revive the contention, rejected by this court in the Slaughter Houses cases, that the privileges and immunities of United States citizenship, protected by that clause, extend beyond those which arrive or grow out of the relationship of United States citizens to the national government."

Justice Stone said there was nothing in the record to show, and that neither court below found, that the meetings were called to discuss the national labor relations act. He said the evidence supported the finding of the courts below that the purpose of the meetings was to organize labor unions in various industries. He upheld the right of individuals to maintain their suit, but solely under the due process clause of the Fourteenth amendment.

Rights of All Persons.

"It has been explicitly and repeatedly affirmed by this court, without a dissenting voice, that freedom of speech and of assembly for any lawful purpose are rights of personal liberty secured to all persons, without regard to citizenship, by the due process clause of the Fourteenth amendment," he said.

"No more grave and important issue can be brought before this court than that of freedom of speech and assembly, which the due process clause guarantees to all persons regardless of their citizenship, but which the privileges and immunities clause secures only to citizens and then only to the limited extent that the relationship to the national government is affected."

Justice Stone's opinion agreed with the opinion of Justice Roberts that the individuals had jurisdiction to maintain their suit in federal court under the civil rights act of 1871. Both opinions held that the organizations had no standing in court.

Not Dependent on Citizenship.

Justice Stone's opinion said the right of the individuals to maintain the suit did not depend on their citizenship and could not rightly be made to turn on the existence or non-existence of a purpose to disseminate information about the national labor relations act.

Chief Justice Hughes, in a brief opinion read in his absence by Justice Butler, agreed with the affirmance of the decree as modified.

"With respect to the point as to jurisdiction I agree with what is said in the opinion of Mr. Justice Roberts as to the right to discuss the national labor relations act being a privilege of a citizen of the United States, but I am not satisfied that the record adequately supports the resting of jurisdiction upon that ground," said the chief justice. "As to that matter I concur in the opinion of Mr. Justice Stone."

WPA LEARNS ITS OWN RELIEFERS ARE CAREER MEN

Nearly 1 in 5 on Pay Roll 3 Years or Longer.

Charges have been made that WPA tends to make permanent paupers out of those to whom it gives federal work relief checks. WPA officials have denied these charges vehemently. Yesterday, however, Charles E. Miner, Illinois WPA administrator, released a report showing that 18.4 per cent of those on Illinois WPA rolls have been there for three years or more, and that 55.6 per cent of those on the state rolls have been receiving government bounty for a year or more.

These figures were compiled from an investigation of 212,310 relief workers on WPA pay rolls last March. The investigation was made by the WPA itself. The investigators reported that only 2.2 per cent of those on the Illinois rolls were ineligible for their jobs. Relief experts conversant with the condition of WPA rolls said a thorough investigation should have resulted in the discharge of at least 30 per cent of the WPA-ers.

Details Are Not Given.

Miner did not give details of the statistics gathered by his investigators, but issued a prepared statement containing some of the information that was collected.

His statement said that all WPA workers showed an average of 16.3 months of employment per worker. Negroes, he said, make up 20 per cent of those on WPA rolls and showed an average of 17.1 months of continuous employment per worker.

Each WPA worker is supporting an average of 3.23 persons, including himself, the statement said. This placed the total number of persons supported by WPA at the time of the investigation at 685,761 men, women, and children.

126,180 on Rolls Three Years.

On this basis, approximately 126,180 persons had been living on WPA for three years or longer, and approximately 381,283 persons for one year or more.

Miner said 73.7 per cent of the 187,257 male workers on the state rolls were employed on construction projects. His failure to account for the type of job held by the remaining 26.3 per cent of the men on work relief led to the belief that they were employed on the so-called white collar projects.

"Inferences that the program in Illinois laid off workers with dependents are definitly refuted by the analysis, as the review disclosed that workers with a greater number of dependents remained continuously employed for a longer period than those with few or no dependents," Miner asserted. "Older persons likewise were employed for longer periods than were younger project workers."

ROBS PHONE COLLECTOR OF $100.

Thomas Kelly, a collector for the Illinois Bell Telephone company, was robbed of $100 yesterday by a Negro bandit in a hallway at 5308 Indiana avenue.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich food, or when you are nervous, hurried or eating gastily—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

DISCLOSE N. Y.'S $500,000 PROFIT ON WPA PROJECT

Truck Rental Waste Also Exposed at Inquiry.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—The state of New York made a profit of more than half a million dollars from the sale of building materials salvaged from the demolition of old buildings by the Works Progress administration in New York City, according to evidence presented to a house committee today.

The committee, which is investigating graft, waste, and extravagance in the work-relief agency, was surprised a few weeks ago by the disclosure that the city of Chicago reaped a $50,000 profit from a WPA demolition project. Today's testimony showed Chicago officials were pikers by comparison with New York state officials.

Sold to Private Bidders.

The WPA pulled down some 3,000 buildings in New York City at a cost of $5,775,000, H. R. Burton, committee investigator, testified. The vast amount of building material resulting from this house wreckage was turned over without cost to the New York City housing authority, organized under state law and operated by officials appointed by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

Without spending a penny to cart away this material the state agency sold it to private bidders, the investigator said, averaging a profit of $102,000 a year for more than four years. The total profit was well over $500,000, he testified.

The committee, which shortly must report its recommendations on President Roosevelt's request for 1 billion, 477 million dollars to run the WPA in the coming fiscal year, was given additional testimony of what members termed corruption in the operations of the agency.

Deal for Trucks Described.

Members exhibited great interest in a deal for trucks rented to the WPA whereby a contractor, whose address was in a trailer tourist camp on the edge of New York City, collected $69,600.

One S. B. Manning of Vermont was given a contract for the rental of thirty trucks of 5 to 7 tons each at $24 a day, investigators told the committee. The trucks, of considerable age, were driven down from Vermont and approved by WPA inspectors, although they were only 2 to 4½ ton trucks.

The trucks were assigned to the Orchard Beach park project in the Bronx, N. Y., the committee was told. Complaints came from minor WPA officials that the trucks were too small and unable to perform the work contracted for. These complaints were always overruled by R. C. Smith, head inspector of the WPA, according to the evidence. The subordinate officials, it was said, were warned to keep out of this affair" by Smith.

Paid for in Four Months.

The trucks cost only $3,000 apiece when new, so the $24 daily rental paid for their full cost in about four months, the committee was told. Finally, when the controversy grew exceedingly warm, with rival trucking firms complaining to Washington, the S. B. Manning company trucks disappeared overnight.

"What sort of a phony deal was that?" asked Representative George W. Johnson [D., W. Va.].

"There was no such corporation in New York," was Investigator Burton's reply. "The address given was false and we finally learned that Manning was supposed to be living in a trailer tourist camp, but we could never find him."

The WPA is paying "preposterously high rents" in New York not only for office and warehouse space but for theaters to house productions of the Federal Theater project, Investigator Burton testified.

"For office and warehouse space, the WPA is spending $710,000 annually in rentals," Burton said. "Since this committee investigation opened the contracts with three New York City theaters have been canceled, but the agency is still paying $6,300 a month for the remaining three theaters. A veteran producer said these theaters could be obtained for as low as $400 a month."

FORMER KOKOMO MAYOR SENT TO FEDERAL PRISON

5 Others Sentenced for WPA Frauds.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—[Special.]—Olin R. Holt, former mayor of Kokomo and once a prominent Hoosier Democratic leader, and five other Kokomo men received prison terms and fines today for defrauding the federal government through diverting WPA labor to private uses.

Olin R. Holt.

Prison terms of fifteen months and fines of $5,000 were imposed by Federal Judge J. Leroy Adair on Holt, on Carl J. Broo, former city attorney of Kokomo, and on George H. Morrow, former city engineer.

Overrules New Trial Motions.

George Mix, former assistant city engineer, and Mel Good, former city clerk, each received two year sentences and $5,000 fines. Lincoln F. Record, former Kokomo WPA project superintendent, was given a three month sentence.

Motions for new trials for the defendants were overruled by Judge Adair before he sentenced the men.

The six were convicted on May 13 of conspiring to defraud the United States.

A total of eleven men had been placed on trial, but five were acquitted. Judge Adair sustained defense motions directing the acquittal of Lester E. Ratcliff of Indianapolis, former WPA supervisor for Howard and Tipton counties; Charles W. Harley of Buffton, who succeeded Ratcliff as supervisor, and James A. Harmon of Kokomo, a WPA foreman.

Two others, Thomas C. Heady, president of the Sumption-Heady-Hunt company, a fuel and supplies firm, and Joe Tarkington, former employé of the governor's commission on unemployment relief, were acquitted.

In evidence presented at the trial, the government charged that many WPA employés and materials were used on private work.

Sells WPA Bricks to City.

The jury was told that Mix bought bricks, had them cleaned with WPA labor, and then sold them to the city of Kokomo. It was alleged the scheme originated in the city engineer's office and that Holt, Broo, and Morrow, as members of the board of public works, approved claims filed by Mix for the materials.

The conspiracy allegedly began in 1935 and ended with the change in the city administration at Kokomo last Jan. 1 following Holt's defeat.

The present case was not the first time Holt had run afoul of the law. He was convicted in federal court in 1930 for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law and served seven months of an eighteen month sentence.

He was found guilty at that time of organizing and accepting tribute from a bootlegging syndicate.

FARM PRINCESS WINS CROWN IN BEAUTY CONTEST

They now have beauty contests for cows. A 5 year old brown Swiss cow from Savage Marydale farms of La Fox, Kane county, was the winner in a contest held yesterday in the Stevens hotel.

The contest, which was judged by 225 luncheon guests, was won by a cow known as "Catherine Howard." Her real name is Prince's Fran Vogel. The cow judged second most beautiful was "Catherine Parr" of Borg farms, Delavan, Wis., where she is known as Glenside Lady Waterloo. A Holstein cow placed third.

The contest was sponsored by the Agricultural club of Chicago. It was held in connection with National Dairy Products week, an attempt by dairy interests and food stores to sell more milk and other dairy products.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS FIXING OF MILK PRICES

Split 5 to 4 in N. Y. Case and 6 to 3 on Boston.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—In a far reaching decision the United States Supreme court today declared constitutional the agricultural marketing agreement act of 1937 and the price fixing and other regulation of the sale of milk in the New York City and Boston areas.

The decision validating the fixing of prices by the government for milk moving chiefly in interstate commerce is regarded by constitutional lawyers as the lowering of the bars by the court to general government fixing of prices on any commodities involved in any manner in commerce between the astates. It is viewed as another long step toward centralization of government by a court which is undergoing transformation by the infusion of New Deal doctrine through the filling of vacancies by President Roosevelt.

Price regulation has invariably led to higher prices for milk in the areas in which it has been in effect. Since it was declared unconstitutional by a federal District court two months ago, the marketing agreement had not been in operation in New York. In that time the price of milk delivered to the door fell 2¾ cents to 11½ cents a quart.

Hughes Holds Order Invalid.

Six justices held the marketing agreement act constitutional—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and Associate Justices Harlan F. Stone, Hugo L. Black, Stanley F. Reed, Felix Frankfurter, and William O. Douglas. Three justices—Owen J. Roberts, James C. McReynolds, and Pierce Butler—contended in dissenting opinions that the act is unconstitutional.

In the New York case, however, Chief Justice Hughes, while upholding the constitutionality of the law, agreed with Justice Roberts that the order issued thereunder by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace was invalid because it operated to discriminate against small milk handlers and deny them due process of law. Chief Justice Hughes was absent because of illness.

The decisions therefore were by a divided 6 to 3 in the Boston case and 5 to 4 in the New York case. Justice Roberts argued that the marketing act is unconstitutional because it represents an illegal delegation of law making power by congress to the secretary of agriculture.

Cites Secretary's Position.

"The secretary," said Justice Roberts, "is to decide not only whether there is to be a law, but, as well, the nature of the law to be enacted."

The court at this term, in an opinion by Justice Roberts, upheld the constitutionality of the delegation of power by the 1938 act providing for compulsory marketing quotas. But Justice Roberts contended today that the limitations of the delegation in the marketing quota legislation were not observed in the marketing agreement act.

Justices McReynolds and Butler denied "congressional authority to manage private business affairs under the transparent guise of regulating interstate commerce." They argued that authority to manage the milk business cannot be delegated.

"A cursory examination of the statute," they said, "shows clearly enough the design to allow a secretary to prescribe according to his own errant will and then to execute. This is not government by law, but by caprice. Whimsies may displace deliberate action by chosen representatives and become rules of conduct. To us the outcome seems wholly incompatible with the system under which we are supposed to live."

Reed Gives Majority Opinion.

Justice Reed, who wrote the majority opinion, upheld the power of the government to fix minimum prices under the commerce clause of the constitution.

"The authority of the federal government over interstate commerce," he said, "does not differ in extent or character from that retained by the states over intrastate commerce. Since Munn vs. Illinois this court has had occasion repeatedly to give consideration to the action of states in regulating prices. Recently, upon a reëxamination of the grounds of state power over prices, that power was phrased by this court to mean that upon proper occasion and by appropriate measures the state may regulate a business in any of its aspects, including the prices to be charged for the products or commodities it sells.

"The power of a state to fix the price has been adjudicated by this court. The people of great cities depend largely upon an adequate supply of pure, fresh milk. So essential is it for health that the consumer has been willing to forego unrestricted competition from low cost territory to be assured of the producer's compliance with sanitary requirements as enforced by the municipal health authorities.

"It belongs to that category of commodities that for many years has been subjected to the regulatory power of the state. The power enjoyed by the states to regulate the prices for handling and selling commodities within their internal commerce rests with the congress in the commerce between the states."

The court also dismissed the contentions that the milk marketing agreement constituted a violation of the anti-trust laws. Today's decisions were among a series handed down before the court adjourned for the summer.

Wallace Key Gough, 18 months old, doing a bit of climbing on the bars in C. Y. O. gymnasium yesterday.

Thirty-two pounds of brawn is Wallace Key Gough, infant athlete, who was a visitor in town yesterday with his parents, Galen and Martha Gough. When he was 5 months old Wallace could chin himself twice, climb a ladder, and swing on a trapeze.

Wallace is now 18 months old. In a workout yesterday in the C. Y. O. gymnasium he walloped the punching bag with professional skill, romped up and down the bars, raised his body rigidly horizontal while his father held his ankles, and, hanging down from the paternal hands, curved himself backward in a "Roman chair" arc.

REBELS AGAINST WISCONSIN MILK PRICE FIXING LAW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kaukauna, Wis., June 5.—[Special.]—William Rohan rebelled against the state's price fixing on milk today. He served notice that he will sell his milk at 4 cents a quart retail at his farm. Rohan said other dairymen neighbors have promised to sell enough at the same price to supply all of Wisconsin's Fox river valley industrial communities. The retail price in this area as fixed by the state is 10 cents a quart.

Rohan, a former member of the Wisconsin legislature, said that ne and most of his neighbors now are selling their milk to a cheese factory at about 2 cents a quart wholesale.

"That's giving it away," he said. "If the customers come and get it, the neighbors here can at least break even and get a living out of 4 cents a quart."

Big Demand for Rohan Milk.

Reports that Rohan intended to retail his milk at a cut price were widely circulated yesterday. Prospective customers with pails, bottles, and cans were driving into his farm yard all today and this evening to buy at the bargain rates, but Rohan told them they must wait until his son returns from the agricultural school at the University of Wisconsin and arrangements can be made for serving the retail trade.

Milk sells at 10 cents a quart here and in Milwaukee. In a few cities it is as high as 11 cents. In rural districts the fixed price ranges as low as 6 cents.

Rohan, who has about twenty-five cows, sent notice of his intention to Ralph E. Ammons, state director of agriculture and markets. The board Ammons heads fixes milk prices under a law enacted six years ago as an emergency and reënacted every two years since.

Ammons to Prosecute.

Ammons promptly notified Rohan that he would be prosecuted if he violated the price fixing order. Ammons said in a speech at Waukesha tonight that no man will defy the law without being prosecuted so long as he is head of the price fixing body. The state director said Rohan's action appeared to be the beginning of a united effort to break down price fixing.

Rohan said his revolt is a protest against an injunction issued by Judge E. V. Warner in Shawano county last Friday to restrain Charles Anderson from selling milk at his farm for 5 cents a quart.

Rohan complained that only 4 per cent of the state's farmers are able to sell their milk at the prices set for fluid milk.

"I propose to stand on my constitutional rights," he told Ammons, "and sell the product of my labor, and investment, not based on a slave labor price. Wisconsin farmers still are sovereign."

COURT DECISION HAS BEARING ON STATE MILK BILL

Main Issue, However, Is Economic.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 5.—[Special.]—A United States Supreme court decision today upholding the constitutionality of federal milk price fixing has an indirect bearing upon a state milk control bill pending in the legislature here. A hearing on this bill is scheduled for Wednesday before the house of representatives.

The proposed state law would create a board empowered to fix the farm and the consumer prices for milk in intrastate commerce. In an interstate market like Chicago, which receives much of its supply from Wisconsin and Indiana, the state control would be ineffectual without federal regulation.

Farmers serving the Chicago market, in addition to their advocacy of the state legislation, have petitioned Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace for a public hearing on whether his department shall fix prices in this metropolitan milk shed.

If the department of agriculture takes control, it is believed this might have some influence upon the department of justice in its prosecution under indictments pending in the federal court in Chicago charging farmer organizers, union labor officers, dealers and officials of the Chicago board of health with a conspiracy to control the market.

So it may be seen that today's decision by the United States is of concern to the Illinois milk industry although the case directly involves the Boston and New York markets.

The court decided constitutionality. In Illinois the legislature must decide questions of economic advisability.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS STATES ON CHILD LABOR

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—The Supreme court today ruled that lapse of time and rejection by nineteen states had not killed the proposed child labor amendment, pending since 1924.

The tribunal turned back two challenges to the right of a state to ratify the amendment after once rejecting it, and said that the time limit for final approval rested with congress. Congress set no time limit in proposing the amendment.

In question was the right of the Kentucky and Kansas legislatures to approve the proposal to give congress power "to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age."

Those states once turned down the amendment, but in 1936 Kentucky reversed the action and Kansas did likewise a year later. Nine other states—Indiana, Maine, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Utah, Washington, and West Virginia— also have ratified the amendment after previously rejecting it. In all, twenty-eight states have given approval.

SEN. VANDENBERG WARNS GRADS OF RESPONSIBILITIES

Asks All Help in Keeping Republic Functioning.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 5.—[Special.]—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan complimented the 1939 graduating class of Syracuse university for scholastic achievement today and reminded the graduates that by completing their schooling they have become heirs to a great responsibility.

"Incidentally," said Senator Vandenberg, "you are the victims of a sadly mauled, muddled and mismanaged world which today presents an unfragrant bouquet of devastating perplexities to you as a graduation gift. Your diploma is a passport to tremendous obligations in an era which finds democracy, if not civilization, at the crossroads of destiny."

Senator Vandenberg emphasized the value of a college education and said a sound conception of dependable political and commercial economy still ought to be the harbinger of a great and satisfying career.

Youth Robbed of Its Rights.

"But all these things are at the mercy of our way of life," he said. "We know when we survey the contemporary world that culture may be sacrificed swiftly to despotism; that the most brilliant technical brain often is the first victim of imperial jealousy and hate, and that youth, however competent, is robbed of its fair chance to strive and thrive if the wrong kind of government greets it with the servitude of disaster rather than the opportunity to succeed.

"No matter what attributes may be embellished on the face of a diploma, it deserts reality if it fails to certify a citizen of the republic who has an intellectual conviction that the American system should survive and once more be put to work and an indomitable purpose that popular government shall not perish."

World of Uncertainties.

The Michigan senator told the class it was maturing amid baffling and hazardous world uncertainties which stagger its elders, as the confusion in Washington clearly attests.

"You confront a world of flux," he said. "Down to date geography is dependent upon the last editions of the newspapers. We tread a gigantic paradox.

"For example, we spend to save; we hunt more prosperity by going deeper into debt; we try to stretch the annual income of 60 billions into 80 billions by squandering the difference; we call 12 million unemployed a depression in 1932 and call 12 million unemployed a recovery in 1939 and announce that 'we planned it that way.'

"We lecture foreigners about democracy and set up a virtual government by executive decree for ourselves. We kill pigs while children cry for food and we have famine in the midst of plenty."

Senator Vandenberg assailed the Roosevelt administration for poking its nose into the affairs of Europe and the tendency to succumb to the fatalistic propaganda of war makers abroad.

The senator warned the graduates that the practical business of life in America today is to save America, not only from wars abroad but from disintegrations at home.

New York, June 5.—[Special.]—Another romance of an orchestra leader and a socially prominent young woman—that of Eddie LeBaron and Burnice Smith—culminated in an elopement in which the couple were married yesterday in Yonkers.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burns Lyman Smith of Seattle and Los Angeles, whose fortune comes from typewriter manufacturing. LeBaron, whose real name is Eduardo Albaclini de Gastine, is a native of Venezuela, but was reared in Mexico City.

The marriage recalls such other society-musical romances as those of Ellin Mackay and Irving Berlin; the late Marjorie Oelrichs and Eddie Duchin; Fredericka Gallatin and Al Donahue, and Martha Stephenson and Hal Kemp.

Justice McReynolds 'Snubs' Royalty for Reunion

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—Justice James Clark McReynolds was absent from today's closing session of the Supreme court, having gone to his birthplace—Elkton, Ky.—for a family reunion and celebration. In leaving the capital at this time Justice McReynolds passed up an invitation to meet the king and queen of Great Britain, who are to be entertained next Thursday at the British embassy's garden party.

HOUSE REJECTS PLAN FOR HYDE PARK MEMORIAL

Treadway Leads Fight on Propriety of Move.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—The house of representatives today refused to approve the erection of a memorial to President Franklin D. Roosevelt upon his mother's estate at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Rep. Allen Treadway, leader in fight on memorial project.

Under a suspension of the rules requiring a two-thirds vote for passage Democratic leaders sought to obtain approval of a bill authorizing the establishment of a Franklin D. Roosevelt library. The two-thirds majority could not be obtained, only 229 members voting in the affirmative against 139 in the negative.

The senate recently approved the bill unanimously. It is expected that house leaders will strive for its indorsement later in the session.

Public to Donate Funds.

Mr. Roosevelt suggested several months ago that he would offer his books, papers, and other historical material to the government if authority were granted by congress to erect a building to house the collection upon his mother's estate on the Hudson river. The building would be built with funds solicited from the public, but it would be maintained thereafter perpetually at government expense, under the President's proposal.

Representative Allen T. Treadway [R., Mass.] led the fight against the measure. He urged that posterity be permitted to decide whether Mr. Roosevelt's career justified such a memorial.

Rayburn Loses Appeal.

Democratic Majority Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas appealed to Republicans not to follow Treadway's leadership.

"I realized I would be accused of partisanship and ungraciousness toward what might be regarded as a worth while donation from the President," retorted Treadway.

"It is astonishing to think that a monument is proposed to be erected to a living man, and during his lifetime made a perpetual expense to the government for maintenance and upkeep. I venture to say that such a thing never has been done in the history of our country and it never should be done."

Treadway pointed out that the federal archives building recently was completed at a cost of $12,000,000. It and the Library of Congress have ample facilities for storing and caring for historical documents and collections, he said.

STUDY PROPOSAL TO EXTEND SOUTH LIMIT OF SUBWAY

The city is considering a proposal for extension of the State street subway tunnel southward several blocks beyond Roosevelt road, Ralph H. Burke, deputy subway commissioner, said yesterday. Under present plans the tunnel would end at Roosevelt road, where tracks would lead above ground to the elevated structure. The proposed extension, which would have to have PWA approval, would add about $1,000,000 to the subway cost, Burke said.

Suggested plans call for carrying the tunnel on to 16th or perhaps 18th street. Burke said property owners in the vicinity of Roosevelt road and State street would be put to considerable expense if the tunnel should emerge at that point. The Commonwealth Edison company, with a substation just south of Roosevelt road on State, would have to make costly changes in its underground system.

THE TRUTH ABOUT TELEVISION (1)

By CALEB

THE truth about television needs to be told as a service to everyone who has not had time to read about, or inquire exhaustively into, the subject. Complexity always breeds perplexity; and to say that Television is at present complex, is stating the situation mildly.

The public generally is aware of television's function; that of combining the entertainment values of radio and screen, and then putting them into a place where only the former had existed—the home. And while the public is also aware that this new development has had to solve the problems of both radio and screen, it has not realized that their solution required an entirely different technique.

For not only is television new . . . it is far more startlingly different from other devices than would appear at first glance. First-glancers, in fact, might think of simultaneously broadcasting sound and sight as a mere matter of "adding sight" to apparatus already existing for sound. They are familiar with the photo-electric cell; they know that telephotos are accepted procedure—and besides, "American inventors and engineers can accomplish practically anything."

So they can, and so they have! Imagine David Sarnoff, head of the Radio Corporation of America, for example, announcing to the Radio Manufacturers' Association, on October 20, 1938, that on April 30, 1939, television broadcasts would be regularly scheduled—six and a third months away—and having the prophecy substantiated literally to the day!

Like any other picture, that of television has a background, a middle ground, and a foreground—its historic, or evolutionary, side; its practical development phase; and its current application activities. It is desirable, perhaps, to review the first two briefly, and the last in sufficient detail to answer the questions uppermost in many people's minds as to television's present status. . . .

It all started with the discovery, in 1817, of a peculiar element called selenium, by a Swedish pharmacist named Berzelius. It was merely a scientific oddity, and soon forgotten. Then, twenty-two years later, Henri Becquerel, a French physicist, discovered the electro-chemical effect of light—and the phenomenon known as photo-electricity was introduced into man's kit of wonders. But not until 1873 was its practicality proved, when a telegrapher named May found that sunlight oddly affected the selenium with which he was working. . . . So starts the story, and subsequent chapters unfold a series of real surprises.

ROYAL TOURISTS EXPLORE A MINE AT 2,800 FT. LEVEL

Pause to Set a Precedent on Way to U. S.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUDBURY, Ont., June 4.—Another royal precedent was broken today when King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain donned khaki, silk waterproofs and safety helmets and descended half a mile into the earth to look at the gleaming ore in the richest nickel mine in the world.

At the request of the king, the royal tour program was changed to permit an extra hour and a half at the famous Frood mine of the International Nickel company. The tour is rapidly approaching its first American phase. Tomorrow night the king and queen will be at Windsor, across the river from Detroit, where a million sightseers, mostly Americans, are expected. On Wednesday evening they will begin their official visit to the United States at Niagara Falls.

Unique Adventure.

The adventure today was unique in royal history. King Edward VIII., as prince of Wales, once visited a mine in South Africa, but a reigning monarch of England has never been permitted before to go this far out of routine where safety depends upon machinery.

The descent into the mine was made at a rate of 1,500 feet a minute. At the 2,800 feet level, the king and queen and their escorts stepped out to find themselves in a brightly lighted shaft station. The party took seats on a special car, drawn by a battery locomotive to a crosscut where miners were operating drills. Shortly afterward they returned to the surface, where they inspected machinery and other operations of the mine plant.

Get Ore Samples.

When the pilgrimage was over, the royal couple were given samples of ore to take as souvenirs.

Arriving at Sudbury at 7:30 p. m. [Chicago time] the king and queen were greeted by a huge crowd. The mines had been closed to permit the 2,500 workmen to see the procession. All the people of Coppercliff, a smelting town, Coniston and other towns were there. They were welcomed by W. J. Laforest, mayor of Sudbury, and E. A. Collins, mayor of Coppercliff, their wives, and members of the cities' councils. There was a procession to Athletic park where 15,000 school children and 800 invited guests had gathered. The visit to the mine followed the park ceremonies.

Sudbury, with 23,000 inhabitants, was the first big town to be touched in a day and night of travel through Ontario's northern wilderness. The king's interest in mining was increased last night at Sioux Lookout, a small mining center, where he was presented with a box of gold nuggets for Princess Elizabeth.

Guelph, Kitchener, Stratford, and Windsor are the scheduled stops for tomorrow. On Wednesday there are brief stops at London, Ingersoll, Woodstock, Brantford, Hamilton, and St. Catherine's before reaching Niagara falls.

3 FROM CHICAGO WILL BE GUESTS AT ROYAL PARTY

Dawes, Wife Decline Invitations.

Three Chicagoans will leave tomorrow to attend the garden party for King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth at the British embassy in Washington on Thursday. They are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker and Mrs. Alma Kerr.

Mr. Rinaker is president of the English Speaking union. Mrs. Kerr, a native of South Dakota, was sent to Bagdad by the British government to open the first schools for Mohammedan girls after the world war. She is now regional supervisor for the Works Progress administration. Her invitation came through British connections.

Dawes Will Not Attend.

Two Chicagoans who were invited to the garden party to be given by Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, and his American-born wife, will not attend. They are Gen. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes. Explaining why she and the former ambassador to the Court of St. James's and former Vice President of the United States are not accepting the invitation, Mrs. Dawes said yesterday, "We have just been east."

Mrs. Lewis Bernays, wife of the British consul in Chicago, is going to Washington to be presented to her sovereigns, as are the acting consul and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross. They will not attend the garden party, but are to curtsy Friday morning when British war veterans, who will be entertained by the Lindsays, meet the king and queen.

Motoring to Capital.

Bob Bernays, the eldest of the three Bernays sons, is motoring to Washington with his mother. He expects to be at the reception for the war veterans but does not anticipate that he will be presented to the royal couple. His father is ill in Billings hospital.

Several former Chicagoans will be among the guests at the party. They include Mrs. Felipe Espil [Courtney Letts Stillwell Borden], wife of the ambassador from Argentina; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling. The Houghtelings are cousins of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, but they were not invited to the White House dinner for the king and queen.

SUEZ DIRECTORS REJECT ITALIAN CLAIMS ON CANAL

Say Demands Are Based on 'Theory of Force.'

PARIS, June 5.—(AP)—Directors of the Suez canal company today rejected temporarily Italian demands for representation in the canal's management and declined to reply to claims which its president said were presented under the theory that "force is the foundation of relations among peoples."

The board at its annual meeting approved unanimously a statement of policy drawn by the Marquis de Vogue, its president, criticizing Italy's claims as "based on violence and envy."

The marquis' statement was a flat denial of Italy's demands for representation, which he said resulted either from "bad faith" or "extreme ignorance."

None Have Valid Claim.

He cited three men—Negrelli, Paleocapa and Torelli—for whom Fascists were claiming the honor of constructing the canal.

Of these three, the marquis said that Negrelli was an Austrian who died in 1858, one year before the canal was started; that Paleocapa was forced to decline a part in building the canal because he was blind in 1858, and that Torelli did not become interested in the canal until it was almost finished.

The marquis said Italy's purpose was threefold: "To obtain seats on the board, to get reductions in the canal transit charges and to replace the private company management by an international commission."

Four Powers Represented.

The Suez canal is governed by a board of nineteen Frenchmen, ten Englishmen, two Egyptians and one citizen of The Netherlands. The Britons represent their government, the others private interests.

The canal is a gateway to Italy's new Ethiopian empire in Africa and Italians asked a share in its control to satisfy "natural aspirations of the Italian people."

POPE BEGINS NEW DRIVE TO AVERT A WAR IN EUROPE

VATICAN CITY, June 5.—(AP)—Informed Vatican sources said tonight Pope Pius XII. had renewed his efforts to promote peaceful solution of Europe's controversies.

The pope conferred with the British minister to the Holy See, Francis D'Arcy Godalphin Osborne. Vatican sources said he had dispatched separate messages to London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, and Warsaw in which he sought to indicate a definite way out of problems perplexing European statesmen.

A news service which generally makes available reports of Vatican activities announced it was certain that conversations between the Vatican and European governments were continuing.

SHOT AND WOUNDED BY WIFE.

Leroy Burris, colored, 30 years old, was shot twice and seriously wounded last night by his wife, Ruby, 29, in a quarrel in their flat at 4041 Indiana avenue.

Number of British Idle Drops 156,000 in Month

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, June 5.—The revival of business confidence and the growth of rearmament activity were reflected tonight in an announcement that unemployment fell 156,000 between April 17 and May 15. This is the biggest drop in any month of May for the last ten years. Between January and May of this year the number of unemployed fell by 547,000. The total unemployed now is 1,492,000.

HITLER STRIVES TO MAKE SERBIA PARTNER IN AXIS

Confers with Prince Paul on Pact Proposals.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 5.—Secret diplomacy again was in full swing in Europe today. While Prince Regent Paul of Jugo-Slavia was closeted for five hours with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in the chancellery this afternoon, London and Paris were studying German proposals for a possible solution of the Danzig problem. The proposals were presented to Great Britain and France through secret channels.

It was understood that Prince Paul discussed with Hitler the German proposals for a nonaggression pact which virtually would make Jugo-Slavia one of the Rome-Berlin axis powers.

Another far reaching plan deals with the creation of a southeastern Europe and Baltic bloc based on the economic relations of these countries with Germany. The plans do not call for an actual customs union of southeastern Europe with Germany but for such close coöperation that it almost amounts to that.

Promises Aid to Serbs.

As a price for helping create a new order under German influence in the Balkans, Jugo-Slavia has been promised German aid in compelling the Hungarians to make concessions to Jugo-Slavia. The Hungarians are to be rewarded for giving up their claims against the Jugo-Slavs with parts of Slovakia now under German control.

Great secrecy shrouds the German proposals about the probable solution of the Danzig problem. Hans von Moltke, German ambassador to Warsaw, is engaged in conversations with Polish officials. The German plans refer only to Danzig and its return to Germany. They do not mention the Polish corridor. Well informed sources said the scheme is a compromise allowing a few concessions to the Poles. The Germans hope Britain and France will recommend acceptance of the concessions to Poland.

Chamberlain Pleased.

Foreign diplomats, who have seen a summary of the German suggestions, said they are quite tempting to Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain.

The French are more critical. They assert that if England and France accept Germany's so-called moderate terms it will give the Nazis a new foothold. The French argue it will enable the Nazis to seize what they want at the next opportunity "when the others again are lulled into a feeling of safety as they were when the Germans took Czecho-Slovakia."

The Nazis brand this as libelous and point to the series of nonaggression pacts they are signing as proof of their peaceful intentions. The foreign ministers of Estonia and Latvia are scheduled to arrive in Berlin Wednesday for the final signature of their nonaggression pacts with Germany.

Claims Axis Rules Europe.

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi minister of propaganda, and Dino Alfieri, Italian propaganda chief, addressed a meeting of propaganda leaders in Vienna today. Goebbels voiced the Nazi and Fascist claim for absolute leadership in Europe.

"We hold the fate of our continent in our hands," he said. "We, the Nazis and Fascists, are the pioneers of a new political era."

Alfieri spoke in the same vein.

BRITISH PREMIER REFUSES TO VISIT RUSSIA FOR PACT

Trip Would Be of No Use, Commons Told.

LONDON, June 5.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today rejected a suggestion that he try to speed British-soviet Russian negotiations by a visit to Moscow. It was indicated Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax might go. A decision was not likely until the cabinet considers the latest soviet note Wednesday.

Chamberlain told the house of commons he did not believe his visiting Moscow at this time would serve a useful purpose in British-French efforts to bring soviet Russia within their mutual assistance framework. He refused to make a statement on the negotiations.

Little or No Progress Indicated.

The French and British were understood to be working together to find a plan on guarantees to Baltic states which would satisfy Russia and also meet the approval of Finland, Latvia, and Estonia.

Sources close to the government indicated little or no progress had been made on this point, which they described as the chief obstacle now in the way of bringing Russia into the British-French front.

David Adams, a Laborite, asked Chamberlain whether "in view of his [the prime minister's] public declaration before the Munich conversations, that it was of great benefit for the heads of states to confer personally, he has considered or will consider the desirability of making an official visit to Moscow?"

Chamberlain's Reply.

Chamberlain replied: "In the present circumstances I do not consider that the suggestion made by Mr. Adams would serve a useful purpose."

Adams paraphrased a statement Chamberlain made in commons May 19 with reference to the difficulties of getting Moscow into the British-French front.

"Did not the prime minister say there was an impassable barrier between this country and Russia and does he not feel that a personal visit would remove that undesirable phenomena?" Adams asked.

CHAMBERLAIN PLEDGES FULL PUBLIC INQUIRY INTO SUB DISASTER

LONDON, June 5.—(AP)—Promising a full public inquiry into the sinking of the submarine Thetis, Prime Minister Chamberlain rose personally in the house of commons today to give the puzzled British public an official account of the disaster.

He presented what he described as a full account of the accident "so far as the facts are yet known," and said that "so far as can be ascertained" the sinking of the Thetis last Thursday with a loss of 99 of 103 men aboard "was caused by flooding of the two forward compartments through one of the bow torpedo tubes. The rear door of one of these tubes," he said, "came open or was thrown open through reasons which cannot be fully explained."

Reveals 2 Nazi U-Boats Fought in Spanish War

BERLIN, June 5.—(AP)—Disclosure that two German submarines had served in Spanish waters in the Spanish civil war was made today by Admiral-General Erich Raeder in an address to German sailors who participated in that war. Speaking at Doeberitz, the admiral expressed the thanks of the German nation to the crews of "the battleships Deutschland and Admiral Scheer, the second torpedo boat flotilla, and the U-boats U-33 and 34."

TAVERN MANAGER ROBBED.

Thomas Steele, colored, manager of the Palm tavern at 446 East 47th street, was robbed of $547 yesterday by a colored bandit. The thief overlooked $700 in a safe but took Steele's revolver.

BECAUSE LIFE DEPENDS ON TIRE SAFETY—
They Choose
Firestone
CHAMPION TIRES

FIRESTONE WINS
20TH Consecutive Victory in Indianapolis 500-Mile Race

A merciless sun beat down upon the speedway as Wilbur Shaw drove to victory on Firestone Champion Tires. The blistering brick of the main stretch and the granite-hard surface of the turns and the back stretch put tire safety to the test supreme! Record after record was shattered. Speeds reached as high as 160 miles an hour on the straightaways, as 33 of the fastest drivers in the world waged a breath-taking battle for gold and glory.

Never before in all the history of the motor car have tires been put to such a torturous test. And never before has any tire so firmly established itself as a Champion in construction and performance, as well as in name. Here is dramatic proof of the extra strength which the revolutionary new Safety-Lock cord body provides in Firestone Champion Tires — of the extra protection against blowouts assured by the new and advanced Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process — of the extra mileage resulting from the tougher, wear-resisting rubber compounds in the sensational new Gear-Grip tread.

No longer can there be any question of which tire is safest. One tire — and only one — provides these exclusive safety construction features. One tire — and only one — has been on the winning cars at Indianapolis for 20 consecutive years. Motor car manufacturers enthusiastically adopted the Firestone Champion Tire for their 1939 models. Order your new car equipped with this amazing tire. Or drive in and let us equip your present car with a set of new Firestone Champion Tires, the one tire—and only one that is safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

See Firestone Tires made in the Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building at New York World's Fair. Also visit the Firestone Exhibit at the Golden Gate International Exposition at San Francisco

the 1939 winner

On May 30th, Wilbur Shaw drove to his second victory in the 500-mile Indianapolis Race on Firestone Champion Tires at an average speed of 115.03 miles an hour. Champion race drivers, whose very lives and chances of victory depend on tire safety, know tire construction. That is why they select and buy Firestone Tires for their racing cars.

THE COMMUNISTIC CON. CON.

Illinois has a good constitution. Its suitability has been proved in bad years in which the state escaped some of the troubles brought upon its neighbors by radicals and communists. The proposal in the legislature for a convention and the rewriting of the constitution is in anticipation of the success of the Roosevelt revolutionaries in Washington. They do not despair of their prospects. They still think they can carry the country next year for the planned society of socialized finance and industry.

In Springfield it is proposed to time an Illinois constitutional movement with this next attempt of the collectivists to carry another election and come out with a mandate to go on with their schemes for a new social, political, and economic order. Preparations in detail are being made for this and they seem to have reached Springfield.

Legislators who support the proposal mistakenly will be dull fellows used by shrewder men who know what they are about. All radicals, revolutionaries, and communists could be polled in support of the resolution. They are staking everything on the next general election with Mr. Roosevelt as a candidate. If they lose in the Democratic convention or in the election they will pack up for departure from Washington. Their new era will be over. If they should win they will move rapidly to convert the election returns into a revolution ending free enterprise.

THE CRAZY EPISODE.

The death of Alexander Gumberg of the executive staff of the Atlas corporation removes another of the actors in the oddest and wildest of American adventures abroad. Mr. Gumberg was guide, interpreter, and liaison man for Americans who had been sent to Russia to deal with the new republic and found they had the bolshevist revolution on their hands.

Raymond Robins, the Chicago Bull Mooser, in Petrograd for the Red Cross, was about the only one of the various official and semi-official missionaries who knew what a bolshevist was. He had encountered the comrades in and about some of the Chicago social settlements years before the war. In Washington, Lansing, the secretary of state, was puzzled. Lenin was a new one to him and to Wilson. Lansing thought, as he recorded in his notes of the day, that the bolshevists were anarchists even if they called themselves socialists.

The Root mission had been in Russia in June and July, 1917, when Kerensky was in power. The new revolution made its service useless. The Stevens railroad commission was hung up in Japan and Vladivostok. While Kerensky was still in power Wilson sent Edgar Sisson, once of THE TRIBUNE staff and somewhat later assistant to George Creel of the committee on public information, to Petrograd with $250,000 for American propaganda. Lenin was in power before Sisson could get to Finland. Nevertheless he went on and so did the propaganda.

The ambassador was ex-Gov. David R. Francis of Missouri. His service covered thirteen months which included the czar, Kerensky, and Lenin. The Americans were soon quarreling with each other. Robins and the American industrialist, William Boyce Thompson, agreed that whether any one liked it or not Lenin was the government of Russia. Thompson spent a million dollars of his own money in propaganda to keep Russia in the war. He wanted Wilson to put in three million. There was no response from Washington.

Sisson hired a Russian government printing shop and put out bales of pamphlets in Russian and German. Lenin, at the instance of Robins and Gumberg, cleared the wires for the spread of Wilson's state paper on the Brest treaty and the fourteen points. The Americans could fill the Russian newspapers, cover the dead walls with posters, and send pamphlets into both Russian and German camps. Sisson rented the largest Petrograd theater and exhibited an American war picture.

Lenin, who spoke excellent English, liked Robins. The Bull Mooser touched his sense of sardonic humor and Robins could get almost anything from him. The boss of the communists fired Trotzky's nephew out of the foreign office, of which he was temporarily in charge, and out of the country because Robins demanded it. The man had sent an insulting note from the anarchist group to Francis threatening to blow up him and the embassy if anything happened to the anarchists Berkman and Emma Goldman in this country and if Tom Mooney were not released. The anarchists stole Robin's automobile and Lenin promised its return as soon as it was convenient for him to exterminate them, which it soon was.

Wilson's appeals to Russia went over the head of Lenin to the people, to keep them in the war. They were published and circulated. Francis, even after the Brest treaty had been signed and while the Germans were within thirty miles of Petrograd—he had moved the embassy to Vologda on the Siberian railroad—made speeches for publication urging the Russians in the name of their American friends to keep up the war and not submit to the peace which Lenin had made.

There has been no crazier period in American intervention abroad. Its culmination was in the futile expeditions in the Murmansk district and in Siberia. Before that the Americans had played with the bolshevist revolution as if it were an inter-fraternity scrap in a university.

NEW DEAL REFUGEES.

The Chicago board of education intends to spend more than a million and a quarter dollars this year to build new schools and additions to old ones in the sections of the south side where colored people live. Since 1933 seven schools and additions have been erected in this area but the overcrowding is still severe. The 1939 program will provide a new elementary high school, a new vocational school, additions to four elementary schools, and an addition to the Du Sable High school.

Mr. Henry Wallace, the secretary of agriculture, and his fellow New Dealers have thrust this burden on Chicago. The overcrowding of the schools in the colored districts results not from an increase in the Chicago born Negro population but from immigration of Negroes to Chicago from the cotton states. The parents of these children were thrown off the land by the successive plow unders and acreage restriction schemes imposed by the New Dealers. When less land was cultivated fewer hands were needed to hoe and pick cotton. Some of the families driven from the land found their way into southern cities but by tens of thousands they fled to the north.

The statisticians of the board of education have provided some significant figures in this connection. Twelve schools in Negro districts were studied. It was found that more than 21 per cent of the children in these schools had come to Chicago since September, 1934. Approximately half of the newcomers had arrived since last September. Most of them were from such typical cotton states as Mississippi, Alabama, Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas.

The migration appears to be gaining momentum. Thus, in the school year beginning in 1934 the newcomers at the twelve schools numbered only 232. In 1935 the migration from the south accounted for another 321 children. A year later it was 558. By 1937 it was 1,247 and last year it was 2,057. Of 4,415 who have come in five years, 2,057, or 46 per cent, have come since September, 1938.

The world is horrified, and rightly so, at the enforced migration of persecuted racial religious and political minorities from central Europe. A little indignation might well be spared for those toploftу idealists of ours in Washington who deliberately plotted an economic persecution of the southern Negroes, a persecution which drove them off the land and out of the only occupation which most of them knew.

Mr. Wallace's schemes haven't succeeded in solving the surplus cotton problem. The surplus is greater than ever today. The schemes have not brought prosperity to cotton. In spite of acreage reductions and everything else, the price today is still desperately low. All that the New Dealers have accomplished has been to throw hundreds of thousands of tenants and share croppers out of work and thrust the responsibility for the care of them and their families upon already overburdened communities.

The migration has imposed a stupendous burden upon Chicago and it falls with greatest weight upon the Negroes long resident here. Their residential areas have been overcrowded, with resultant discomfort, high rentals, and neighborhood deterioration. Their schools have been overcrowded and in consequence the education of their children has suffered.

The New Dealers did this and they did it deliberately, in the face of repeated warnings that the consequences of the cotton program would be exactly what they have proved to be. What Herr Hitler did to the Jews and Comrade Stalin did to the kulaks, Mr. Wallace and his starry-eyed pals have done to the southern Negroes.

THOUGHTS ON DULL READING AND PESSIMISM.

[Merle Thorpe in "Nation's Business."]

When a member of the cabinet, and the head of the commerce department at that, states that the reports of the National Chamber of Commerce's annual meeting made "dull reading" the comment invites elaboration.

It is doubtful if the business community could ever compete on equal terms with the official planners and dispensers in the authorship of hot news. Business can only repeat, as it did at its annual meeting, the dull prose of $2 + 2 = 4$; that you can't have your cake and eat it, too; that taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors.

What chance has a statement of old time thrift, self-respect, pay-as-you-go virtues against the front page news of the massacre of little pigs, the mobilization of rakes for leaf juggling, the plowing under, the ordeal of the potato growers, tree belts and Greenbelts, the yardsticks, court packing, deficit financing, the Matanuska mirage, the mumbo-jumbo of "parity" and farm allotments and quotas, grocery stamps to relievers, the tidal wave of taxes, the rain of laws, a million citizens added to bureaucracy, the nonstop climb of administrative absolutism?

The WPA itself never make "dull reading." "Man bites dog" is the time honored example of exciting news. How close to the ideal, then, are the news items that the WPA has a project to instruct its workers how to see Europe on $2 a day . . . that the American Federation of Actors has fined two Hollywood members $10 for cracking a WPA joke . . . that the WPA distributed sixty women's ski suits in Independence, Kas., and announces that a limited number of tuxedos are available at Kansas state headquarters . . . that the WPA theater projects have produced 1,200 plays at an average cost of $40,000, with average receipts of $1,500 . . . that a WPA sewing center in Omaha made so many diapers that state headquarters distributed a quantity of them in surplus commodity packages to aged persons on relief.

"Dull reading," indeed, is the business man's review of conditions that brought the country an 80 billion dollar income and a recommendation of conditions that would permit it again. Dull reading that the most gigantic spending program of the ages still finds the number of unemployed at the 1933 peak and individual annual incomes down from $672 ten years ago to $490 today.

MR. PEPYS SEES A PLAY.

5th June—Did go to the Civic theater last Sabbath evening to see the new venture in play-acting which has started there, and was surprised, not having been in this place for six or seven years, to find it so gay and pleasant. Lord only knows why it has not been giving shows regularly, for it is the prettiest house of drama in town, and the newest, too; and close beside it there is a parking lot for metal chariots, very handy, which is free for ticket buyers.

The play was an old favorite of mine, and the water has been running under the bridges for twenty-three years since I used to think that of all murder mysteries on the stage it was the best, so now I have a right to change my mind. It should be called "The Knife in the Ceiling," but that would betray the secret on which it depends, so they call it "The Thirteenth Chair."

I was glad to see in this play certain old friends who were famous before the drama went to the dogs, such as Margaret Wycherly and Donald Brian. Many people remember Mistress Wycherly from the halcyon days of "The Thirteenth Chair," in 1916, but only a few know she was the first American actress to give plays from the Abbey theater of Dublin, long before the general renown of this movement.

As for Mr. Brian, everybody knows he was the Prince Danilo of "The Merry Widow" who was fond of all the girls at Maxim's; and whenever I am feeling gay, to this day, I sing his song about those girls—"Margot, Clo-Clo, Jou-Jou, Mimi, Fifi, Frou-Frou." Do I get the names right, Mr. Brian?

LAMENT FOR MURDERED TREES.

They are cutting trees down in village and town,
They are cutting them ruthlessly down;
They are felling them now on every street,
Forgetting that summer's shade is sweet,
Forgetting the birds will come again
And look for their leafy choirs in vain.

They are cutting down poplars without pity,
Unveiling the drab face of the city—
Each scar and disfigurement plainly seen
Without the redeeming flutter of green;
Hail and farewell, O, friendly trees,
That made such music with every breeze!

Invading beauty's defenseless realm,
They are cutting down sumach, maple, elm.
O, how shall we know that it is spring
Without their magical burgeoning?
How shall we know when autumn grieves
Without their rumor of falling leaves!

Billy Patterson 102 Years Ago.

The Billy Patterson story has been traced back to 1837 by John Kelley, retired Tribune writer. In the files of the Erie, Pa., Gazette, issue of Aug. 30, 1837, he found an article under the heading, "Billy Patterson, A Story of the Broad Street Riots."

Billy was badly beaten up in these riots [see early New York history], and his friend, Patrick McMahonie, a blustering fellow, went about roaring, "Who struck Billy Patterson?"

A fireman announced that he was the assailant, and what did McMahonie want to make of it?

"Well, allow me to tell you," said the Irishman, "that you gave him a pair of as pretty black eyes as ever were seen."

Baby Robins Have Right of Way.

The public service company's repair crew went to the home of John F. Moulds, secretary of the board of trustees of the University of Chicago, to repair an outside bracket. After inspection they departed, leaving this note:

"Called this A. M. to refasten electrical bracket. Noticed four young robins on upper window sill, and as we were afraid of disturbing them, decided to come back at some later date."

Before Stockings Became Sox.

Can any of you readers say, from actual knowledge, where the original White Stockings played, and what teams opposed them? Well, I'm 83 years old and I know.

They played near the lake at Ontario street. Some of the players were McAtee, Hodes, Wood, Myerle, Tracy, and Cuthbert. They played against the Atlantics of Brooklyn, the Haymakers of Troy, the Mutuals of New York, the Athletics of Philadelphia, and the Red Stockings of Boston and Cincinnati. J. G.

SAFEGUARDING THE CHILD AGAINST CONTAGION.

EVERY mother wants to know something about the contagious maladies that may attack her offspring. It is only fair to state that despite the tremendous gains that have been made in the saving of child life we are still obliged to face the ravages of diphtheria, measles, whooping cough, and scarlet fever. But there is little excuse nowadays for a youngster's contracting one of these dangerous ailments if the parents will keep in touch with the family physician and utilize the protective measures which he can provide. The death rate from diphtheria has been reduced 87.6 per cent since 1911; that from whooping cough 73.5; scarlet fever 72.5, and measles, 76.7 per cent. These accomplishments have come about because research laboratory workers have pointed the way and alert doctors have made the clinical trials.

For the first six months the tot faces scarcely any hazard from contagion other than smallpox. The mother's blood has furnished neutralizing elements and, if the baby is nursing, additional defensive factors are supplied with her milk. Thereafter, a program designed to insure good health will need to be inaugurated: whooping cough vaccine at six months, diphtheria at nine months, and smallpox at about 1 year of age.

The erection of bulwarks against pertussis [whooping cough] is of the greatest importance because science has provided no antitoxin. Should diphtheria develop, a neutralizing substance is available. We can guard against measles by administering a comparatively small quantity of human blood serum from recovered patients. With scarlet fever the relatively simple Dick test will tell us whether or not susceptibility is present. If a positive response is observed, weekly injections of the scarlet fever toxin with gradually increasing doses may be given. Occasionally a severe reaction is encountered and in building immunity the physician will add to the amount of toxin depending upon the behavior of the child.

For erysipelas there is no vaccine, but in sulfanilamide we have an able adversary against the causative organisms. Children withstand this remedy as readily as adults and, with certain precautions—such as watching for blueness of the finger tips or about the lips, skin eruptions, and vomiting—there is no real contraindication to its employment. Of course, if there is grave kidney involvement the drug should be used with discretion, if at all.

Meningitis is a most serious problem and here again there is no specific vaccine, although anti-meningococcic serum is at hand should the disease actually appear. Sulfanilamide is reported to be of special value, and between antitoxin and this compound safety has been greatly enhanced.

While typhoid is not the scourge that it was a generation ago, nevertheless youngsters who accompany their parents on journeys should be protected. This is particularly necessary on automobile trips. Boys and girls are thirsty and the demand for a drink comes often. Thermos bottles of pure water should be carried and it is wise to use typhoid vaccine several weeks before departure.

We can evade undulant fever by making sure that no raw milk is taken. The possibility of tick fever, more likely to be encountered in woodsy regions and on trips to the mountains, must be considered. In a locality known to be infested, proper clothing should be worn and the skin should be inspected frequently for the presence of these insects. Removal of the invader with cauterization of the wound is always in order. If exposure is anticipated, immune injections may be resorted to.

This may seem like a large order and one calculated to subject the child to considerable strain. Experience has shown, however, that most of our little ones can follow this schedule without the slightest difficulty. There is a wonderful sense of security in knowing that should epidemics occur in the neighborhood our sons and daughters are forearmed against these powerful enemies of health.

NERVOUS COUGH.

Mrs. B. writes: My son has a nervous cough. What can I do to stop it?

REPLY.

Your child should be examined thoroughly to determine whether or not the cough is due to irritation, obstruction, or nervousness. If the latter, patience and perseverance are necessary to overcome the habit. Build up his general health and resistance, see that he gets much rest, and train him in calmness and poise. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a list of books on child training.

FUNCTION OF THE LIVER.

K. A. writes: How does the liver function in the body?

REPLY.

This organ—the largest in the body—receives blood loaded with nutriment from the digestive tract. This material is filtered and "conditioned" before being passed on to the general circulation. Its most important secretion is bile.

INSULIN SHOCK.

F. F. writes: What are the symptoms of insulin shock? What can be done?

REPLY.

The usual reactions from an overdose of insulin are: nervousness, sweating, a feeling of hunger, trembling, and—in extreme cases—convulsions and a loss of consciousness. A small amount of orange juice or a lump of sugar will counteract mild symptoms.

THEY WON'T HELP.

I. Y. writes: Are two or three glasses of beer daily harmful to a person suffering from Ménierè's disease?

REPLY.

The most successful treatment of this condition requires a marked reduction in the amount of fluids and salts imbibed. Unneeded liquids should not be taken.

SPOTTED FEVER.

M. Y. writes: What are the symptoms of spotted fever?

REPLY.

This term refers to a mottled or fine red pin point [sometimes larger] rash occurring during the course of the following fevers: Cerebrosperial, Rocky Mountain, tick, or typhus. Each has its own act of symptoms.

YES, SEE A SPECIALIST.

G. T. writes: Is iritis curable? What is the cause?

REPLY.

Yes. The condition usually accompanies a systemic disease such as rheumatism, tuberculosis, or some other infection. Treatment of the underlying disorder is demanded. A skilled eye specialist should be in charge.

OUR NOW STAGNANT RIVER.

Chicago, June 5.—The drainage canal odor mentioned in your issue of Saturday is not only discernible [to any one with a good sense of smell] in the out-of-town places, but bad odor is distinctly discernible any time [almost] that a person crosses downtown Chicago bridges, even as near the lake as Dearborn street, and particularly at Clark, where most of the time the water in the river is stagnant, full of greasy rubbish along the edges, and a dark brown muddy color — very odorous—with waste pouring in from many places.

"HULL," NOT "HILL"; "DAM," NOT "DAMN."

Chicago, June 3.—I note twice in your continued story the expression "a hill of beans" to express worthlessness. This is a common error. Obviously, in a country as fond of this flatutent weed, a big hill of the right beans might be worth much dough.

The correct phrase is "not worth a hull o' beans," the hull being the cover that holds the beans even as the pod does the pea. Naturally, not very valuable.

In the days of my youth I wondered why "a tinker's imprecation," as a local columnist persisted in calling it, should be of less value than a nobleman's "full rounded damn" until I found out that "a tinker's dam" has no "n" to it—that it is not "a bad word," as queer people think "damn" and all its relatives are.

A tinker's dam is just an everyday dam such as the busy beaver builds, only the tinker uses it to stop his metal running out of his mold before the metal can harden.

The dam may consist of dough, putty, clay, etc., and when used is utterly worthless—as worthless as a tinker's dam. One may use this phrase with impunity even when the parson's wife is about.

BAGPIPES.

Park Ridge, Ill., June 3.—The indignation of "True American" against the bagpipes in the Memorial day parade doesn't seem to be shared by many spectators. I have noticed that the Highlanders always get a big hand—even from those who haven't a drop of Scottish blood in them.

A uniform has no real significance unless worn by an active member of a military organization. When worn by a civilian in a parade it is merely a souvenir.

By participating in the Memorial day parade the veterans of the other allied countries are joining with the American Legion in honoring the American dead.

EXTOLS WHITNEY OF TRAINMEN.

Cleveland, O., June 1.—I have just finished reading an article in THE TRIBUNE entitled, "Trainmen Fight Reelection of A. F. Whitney." I am a Chicago delegate to the convention of Railroad Trainmen and I must challenge your article.

I heard the opening address of Mr. Whitney to the convention now in session. He is 66, but an inspiring, energetic speaker. All who know him recognize his alert mentality. Your article says he has built up a political machine.

But his host of friends, constituting that so-called machine, are ably served. They know it was President Whitney alone who saved them from an unjust 15 per cent wage cut in 1938. Wall street is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to defeat him because his book, "Main Street Not Wall Street," definitly placed him as the most fearless labor leader of all time.

Again, your article states that his subordinate officers hesitate to oppose him. This is not true, for President Whitney is noted for lending a sympathetic ear to all, from the highest to the lowest. If any man has anything coming, A. F. Whitney will see that he gets it!

THE TEMPERATURE TABLE.

Evanston, Ill., June 2.—Why, O why, has THE TRIBUNE decided to put the previous day's temperature way back in the center of the paper! Possibly to make people read the the business pages. I wouldn't know. But I loath having to hunt for it in there. It was always the first thing I looked for with one eye open in the morning, and I miss its front page convenience. It irritates me terrifically to have to turn inside.

RIGHTS OF SURVIVOR.

Peoria, Ill., June 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died about twenty years ago leaving a will in which a farm was given his five children, saying mother could have the rent as long as she lived. He left mother a home and some money also.

1. Mother wasn't satisfied with the rent of the farm [2] so she asked us to break the will, which we did.

3. She sold the farm, had full control of the money. The party paid down $12,000, which mother divided among the children and herself. There was a mortgage of $19,000 on which she got 5 per cent interest. Last year they paid off the mortgage and mother put the money in a bank to be loaned out.

4. She promised the children that she would not use any of this money, only the interest. After we sold the farm she got full control of the money.

5. That's all we have, her promise.

6. Surely there is some way we children could stop her from using our money.

7. Wouldn't the will my father made still be on file?

8. Couldn't we prove that the money belongs to us, or what can we do?

S. H.

1. The surviving spouse has a legal right to renounce the will and take instead the statutory share.

2. It is not clear what you mean by this statement.

3. Do you mean that you quitclaimed the farm to her? If not, we do not see how she could have conveyed a clear title.

4. We cannot advise to advantage without having your background information.

5. If you gave the assets to her in exchange for an oral promise you may have difficulty in enforcing rights.

6. The first step would be to go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

7. Yes.

8. Depends on what steps you have taken to substitute a new arrangement for the arrangement contained in the will.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TO EXAMINE WILL.

Chicago, June 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can any person read or get a copy of a will without consulting or hiring a lawyer?

2. If no mention is made in will about clothing or jewelry or household effects, does the surviving heir get it? My sister died recently and when will was read parties were mentioned and the amount of cash they were to receive.

3. Two parties were mentioned, but no bequest was made. Are they entitled to anything?

4. How long after will is read can a copy of same be secured? M. L.

1. If the testator has died and her will has been filed for probate any one can examine it in the office of the clerk.

2. Most wills contain broad wording at the end called a residuary clause which would carry assets not specifically mentioned.

3. Depends on the context in which their names were mentioned.

4. You can obtain a copy from the clerk of the court at any time by paying him.

U. S. JURY BEGINS ANNENBERG TAX EVASION INQUIRY

Publisher to Produce Books by Truckload Today.

Investigation of the income of Moses L. Annenberg, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer and several racing publications, was begun here yesterday by a federal grand jury.

United States Attorney William J. Campbell, who has charge of the inquiry and who started the investigation on orders of Attorney General Frank Murphy, said the utmost secrecy would surround the activities of the grand jurors.

"The government wants to give all persons a full, fair, impartial and secret hearing," Campbell explained. "For me to discuss the evidence would detract from the fairness of the inquiry."

Impanel Grand Jury of 23.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson spoke in a similar vein after he impaneled the twenty-three men who will be asked to determine if Annenberg intended to defraud the government of any income tax.

The court appointed W. H. Warford, 503 North Lake street, Aurora, as foreman of the grand jury. Later the jurors selected William P. Erickson 7117 Ellis avenue, as secretary.

Campbell spent the afternoon outlining the case to the jurors. If they do not finish their inquiry during the coming month they will be held over as a special grand jury, he said.

The Annenberg investigation is separate from that concerning the finances of William R. Skidmore, alleged payoff man of the gambling syndicate, Campbell explained. He plans to finish the Annenberg case first and then take up Skidmore's affairs.

Annenberg to Produce Books.

Attorney Dwight P. Green of the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin and Ellis, which represents Annenberg, consulted Campbell on the submission of subpenaed records.

As a result, the law firm will send two or three truckloads of books and letter files to the United States courthouse today. Green said Annenberg owns forty or fifty companies the top or holding company being called the Cecelia company, and that the records of every one of them would be turned over to the prosecutors.

The government seeks records of Annenberg's entire business for the years 1927 to 1935, inclusive. Green, however, said it is his understanding that Annenberg's income is being investigated only for the years 1933 to 1936.

Monopoly Charge Also Eyed.

In his remarks to the newspaper representatives present — and there was one from Philadelphia, where Annenberg has become a political power and is an ardent critic of the New Deal —Campbell said the primary purpose of the investigation concerns income tax.

Another possibility was said to concern the charge that Annenberg has a monopoly which may be in violation of the anti-trust laws. In cornering the market on horse race information—which is sold by Annenberg's organization all over the country—the publisher may have become liable to prosecution, it was explained. Because of that possibility three assistant attorneys general assigned to the anti-trust division will sit in the grand jury room as observers.

FRIEND OF SLAIN SPINSTER FREED AFTER INQUIRY

New Clews Hunted in Radio Cord Killing.

Edward Donovan, the man Miss Rose Neary called her sweetheart, was released yesterday after having been questioned for two and one-half days in the radio cord slaying mystery.

Police said the mystery was becoming more perplexing each hour. They had no suspects and few clews in their investigation of the killing in which Miss Neary, a moderately wealthy spinster, 50 years old, was strangled and bludgeoned on Friday in her apartment at 3248 Franklin boulevard.

Lieut. Otto Erlanson and Sergt. Patrick Tuohy disclosed yesterday that they had found Miss Neary's missing purse on Sunday. In it were two Canadian $1 bills and promissory notes for the $2,000 that Donovan has admitted borrowing from Miss Neary.

Signature Friend's, Says Donovan.

Donovan said he wrote the notes on a typewriter at home and gave them to Miss Neary. He denied, however, that the signatures on them were his. Because he feared he never could repay the loans, he said, he had his name signed to the notes by a friend.

Although her friends said Miss Neary never knew that he was married, Donovan said that a year ago, while they were motoring in Indiana, she said: "Let's go over to Crown Point and get married."

He said he replied: "I can't. I have a wife and two children."

Donovan, a street car conductor, 38 years old, lives with his family at 4522 North Wolcott avenue. His wife said she never knew of his romance with Miss Neary.

Explanation Is Accepted.

Austin police and Lieut. Erlanson, head of the homicide squad, said they were convinced that Donovan had given a truthful account of his movements on the day of the slaying.

They previously had said that Donovan had told them he ate dinner that night with his motorman, Roy Woods of 6447 Sinclair avenue, Berwyn. Donovan's alibi therefore was believed to have been weakened Sunday night when Woods said he had not eaten with him. But when the police reviewed Donovan's story, they found he had not said he ate with Woods. They established that the conductor ate in the restaurant where he said he had.

THREE CONVICTED IN OPERATION OF MOONSHINE STILL

Nicholas Perry, 35 years old, 16901 Page avenue, Hazelcrest, and Michael Cifone, 40, of 253 State street, Chicago Heights, were found guilty at a bench hearing before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday of keeping a moonshine still.

The star witness against them was a co-defendant, Albert LaBorance, 31, of 1609 Cisson street, Lockport. He, Perry and Cifone operated the still on a farm at Marley, near Joliet, in Will county. LaBorance recently pleaded guilty. All three men will appear for sentence today.

In his story, LaBorance accused two former Will county deputy sheriffs of accepting a $450 bribe. He said the deputies raided the still, then returned the confiscated alcohol for $450. He did not name the deputies. They were revealed some time ago, however, as Paul Peterson, 34, of Lockport, and John R. Barber, 46, of Joliet. Federal action against the two faded in a grand jury no bill.

Chicago Lawn police were searching yesterday for John B. DeYoung, 47 years old, an accountant, who disappeared Saturday morning. His wife, who reported his disappearance, said he was carrying $80 in cash and a certified check for $2,000, with which he planned to complete payment on a cottage at Hudson Lake, Ind. DeYoung lives at 6711 South Bell avenue.

MRS. PLAMONDON IMPROVING AFTER INJURY IN CRASH

Mrs. A. D. Plamondon, wife of the former president of the Lincoln park board, was recovering yesterday in the Condell Memorial hospital at Libertyville from serious injuries received in an automobile accident five miles south of Mundelein Sunday noon.

Mrs. Plamondon, 68 years old, was riding with her husband, president of the Plamondon-Gabriel company, who is well known in civic and industrial affairs. On state route 54, at the intersection with route 59A, their automobile collided with one driven by Edward J. Smith, 1643 Lunt avenue, a trafic policeman. The Plamondons live on Prairie road, Long Grove, Ill.

Walter Petchulis, 46, of 1515 East 57th street, was killed when he was struck by an Interstate Transit Lines bus at Roosevelt road and Union avenue. Francis McDonnell, 27, of 4512 North Paulina street, the driver, said Petchulis stepped off a safety island.

Leo Smithkwilinski, 35, 3922 66th street, died in the Holy Cross hospital of injuries suffered in a collision yesterday afternoon. A laundry truck driven by Smithkwilinski and an automobile driven by Harry Sobotka, 35, of 3519 South 52d court, Cicero, collided at 51st street and Kedzie avenue. Sobotka was injured seriously.

Mrs. Garret Hellinger, 50, Walworth, Wis., died in the Community hospital at Harvard of injuries suffered last Friday in a head-on automobile collision near Harvard.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 354 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 277 were killed in Chicago, where 8,423 were injured in the same period.

Class Reunion Sets Stage for This Romance

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHEN Clarence B. Randall and J. Gordon Gilkey returned to Harvard for the 25th reunion of the class of 1912 Mr. Randall's daughter met Mr. Gilkey's son. That was in 1937. Today Mr. and Mrs. Randall are announcing the engagement of their elder daughter, Mary Fitch, to J. Gordon Gilkey Jr., son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Gordon Gilkey of Springfield, Mass.

Miss Randall is being graduated on the 19th from Wellesley and her fiancé is receiving his diploma at Harvard the same week. He is graduating with honors and his fiancée is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He has rowed bow on the 150 pound varsity crew for three years and she has been leader of the choir. No date is set for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall and their younger daughter, Miranda, are going east for the Wellesley and Harvard commencements. Miranda will be particularly interested in the girls' college for she is to enter there as a freshman next fall. She is finishing at the North Shore Country Day school this month.

Mr. Randall is active in the work of the United Charities and the Community Fund in Chicago, and is a trustee of the University of Chicago. The Rev. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the chapel of the University of Chicago, is an uncle of Mr. Randall's future son-in-law.

Miss Mardi Burnham Will Be Bride Today.

Miss Mardi Burnham, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Burnham of Evanston, will become the bride of Neil Williams at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of her parents.

Mr. Williams, the son of Mrs. Grace Neil Williams and the late Arista Bedford Williams, of Evanston, will have George Winger of Kansas City as best man. Miss Burnham will be unattended. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the Burnham home. After a wedding trip to Bermuda Mr. Williams and his bride will make their home in Evanston.

The marriage of Miss Helen Meyercord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Meyercord, to Wesley Ewing Gwatkin of Berlin, Conn., took place at 8:30 last night in the Meyercord home in Hawthorne place. Mrs. R. Jerome Dunn and George Meyercord Jr. were the only attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Gwatkin left by plane for New York. They plan to motor through New England for about ten days and then make their home in Ilion, N. Y.

Vocational Society to Meet at White Fence Farm.

All the board members of the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins who are on reducing diets will want to forget them entirely on Friday when they have luncheon at the White Fence farm as the guests of Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody. Hamburgers, made of chopped sirloin steak and ice cream sodas are the specialties of the place, which is owned by Mr. Peabody. It was started as a roadside stand for the Peabody's friends but the place has become a thriving business.

Mrs. Peabody is turning over the place to the vocational society on Friday for a sale and exhibit, and she will be hostess at luncheon to the board members who will assist as saleswomen.

Others who wish to have luncheon there can make reservations by telephoning Lamont 267. A special luncheon will be served that day. Among those who will be on hand to assist at the sale are Mrs. L. Edward Hart Jr., president of the society, Mrs. Edward E. Robbins, Mrs. John R. Hurley Mrs. Horace Wetmore, Mrs. Frederick L. Spencer, Mrs. David Taber, Mrs. William A. Ryan, Mrs. Columbus Healy, and Mrs. Frank M. Gordon.

Mrs. Gordon and her daughters, the Misses Marion and Evelyn, have delightful plans for this summer. They are sailing June 24 in the Saturnia to spend two months abroad. Sailing in the same ship will be Mrs. Robert Stevenson and her daughter, Miss Ethel Husband, who already are in the east.

Mrs. Spencer, the former Blutord Richardson, is making daily trips to St. Luke's hospital, for her husband is there convalescing from an emergency appendectomy performed last Thursday.

Meekers Leave for California.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker left yesterday to spend the summer in their California home, Constantia, in Montecito. Mr. Meeker Jr. sailed about two weeks ago to pass the summer in his Swiss chalet on Lake Lucerne.

Miss Kathleen Kelly made a flying trip to Chicago Saturday to attend the marriage of Miss Betty Armour and Gerald V. Hollins Jr. Miss Kelly, who is a junior at Vassar, will be back in Chicago on June 20 to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kelly.

Miss Kelly is staying at college for commencement week as she is a member of the Glee club, which will sing at the exercises, and is taking part in the Third Hall play to be given during senior week. From Vassar she will go to Bryn Mawr, Pa., to attend the wedding of a classmate, Miss Ann Knight, to William Galely on June 16.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[Tribune Studio Photo.]

For summer use, when heavy, too lush scents are overpowering, a perfumer has created a brand new kind of a blend, woodsy but not at all unromantic. There is a cologne in the same fragrance, and both are headed for great popularity.

There's a marvelous new perfume for your summer consideration. It's one of the few blended perfumes that is perfect in hot weather, when headiness in a scent is much too overpowering.

This one is extremely difficult to describe. But you can get an idea of it when we tell you that it is distinctly woodsy. Not piney, but somehow suggestive of a green wood. And it has just a suggestion of a lemony note—to our way of thinking, the coolest, cleanest kind of a scent for summer.

It's this baffling blend that makes it such an unusual perfume. It won't remind you of any you've ever used before. And sophisticated women will like it for its subtlety. It grows on you; you like it better and better as it dries and as you wear it. Other people will like it, too, and they'll find it almost impossible to identify. To some people that lemony touch seems dominant; with others it's the woodsy note that gets 'em.

This new scent has a companion piece in a cologne in the same scent. You'll be fond of it for a body lotion when the hot weather strikes.

One nice thing about this scent is that it's as alluring with fluffy clothes as it is with simple sports clothes. It's got the rare quality of being romantic as well as blithe.

You'll love the packaging of this pair; the handsome, simple bottles are frosted, the boxes a beautiful, unique brown banded in silver. And while perfume and cologne are top quality they're not top priced.

Avers Mutual Hate, Not Love, Unites Churches

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The principle of hatred as the force which merges churches and other social groups was outlined last night by Dr. Shailer Mathews, former dean of the University of Chicago divinity school. He spoke before the Midway alumni school dinner and said trends toward interchurch cooperation and union are based on opposition to something.

"You cannot coöperate on the basis of heavenly love, desirable as such a thing might be," declared Dr. Mathews. "You must move people into opposition to something and on the basis of the attitude of opposition you can get them to coöperate. The principle is the same that the late Dr. Charles W. Elliot, president of Harvard university, announced when he spoke of the moral equivalent of war."

Those who hate racial intolerance, Dr. Mathews explained, have formed the National Conference of Christians and Jews in which Catholics, Protestants and Jews are coöperating. He added that churches are coöperating on the basis of their hatred for war and explained that coöperative bases for the most divergent kinds of churches are emerging in sociological areas. Hate for communism, Fascism, and Nazilism, Dr. Mathews declared, is the basis for unity movements.

"Competitive sectarianism is fading and a coöperative attack on everything that threatens human welfare is emerging," said Dr. Mathews. "The reunion of Methodism two or three weeks ago was not based on creed, but service to mankind. Presbyterians have not gone as far yet toward union as the Methodists and the Baptists have not advanced as far as Presbyterians."

Dr. Mathews said that no attitude of mind was as universal as religion and that in America the types of religion are as varied as America. He cited an alumni school speaker who said there are 217 kinds of religion in America. Dr. Mathews asserted that he had personally met many more than that.

"I will never meet some of them in heaven—not if I see them first," said the former divinity dean.

Scorning the person who said he had swung to the right, theologically, and to the left, socially, Dr. Mathews declared that a conservative person in economics, politics, or in other branches will be conservative in his religion; the social liberal will be a religious liberal. He said that all great religious groups are divided between the conservatives and liberals, modernists and authoritarians.

Junior League Talks Plans for Children's Theater, Fall Benefit

Interesting plans were discussed yesterday at the Chicago Junior league's annual meeting. The first involved the league's giant housewarming at the Drake hotel on Oct. 15 and the second was the future of the children's theater department.

William McCreary, who will direct the children's theater in the fall, will give a series of lectures to start Sept. 15. The series will be open to all league members who wish to learn stage technique. Mrs. John Kovas will be theater chairman next winter. The play to be given will be an "accordion" version of "Alice in Wonderland," that is, it can be presented in either short form or at some length. It will be taken to several public schools and will close with a downtown performance on Dec. 16.

Bridge Benefit.

A benefit dessert bridge will be given today at the Rogers Park Woman's club, 7077 North Ashland avenue. Proceeds will be contributed to the Rogers Park Y. M. C. A. girl and boy camp fund. Mrs. Alexander M. Kerr, chairman of girls' activities at the "Y," is in charge of arrangements.

Involved Tale.

This tale will be hard to untangle. It jumps from Ravinia, which opens for a six weeks' season June 29, to an incident in No Man's Land in Poland during the world war, to the playing of Wagner in a hotel on a small island in Florida. The connecting link is George Voevodsky, once an officer of the Chevalier guards in Russia, the regiment of the late czar, now a Chicagoan and a music lover who was one of the seven business men who brought Ravinia back to life in 1936.

One night during the world war Col. Voevodsky, hungry for music, crept out to a deserted cathedral in No Man's Land in Poland, taking an orderly with him to pump the organ. He stayed there until dawn, playing Chopin and Strawinsky and Wagner. When, fatigued and numb of finger, he stumbled off the organ seat to return to the lines, he found the church was no longer deserted. The word that music was being played at the cathedral had spread to both lines, and other music hungry men had crept through the barbed wire to the church. On one side of the church were men from the allied lines; on the other side the enemy.

Several years ago Col. Voevodsky was sunning himself on a tiny island off the west coast of Florida. There was a grand piano in the hall of the small hotel at which he was stopping, and one day when he valued the joy of playing it beyond his privacy he sat down and played Wagner for an hour. A distinguished looking elderly gentleman introduced himself, expressed appreciation of the music, and begged Voevodsky to play more Wagner.

Four seasons ago, when Col. Voevodsky was helping raise money to save Ravinia, one of the first and most generous contributions came from this chance acquaintance. He did not live to enjoy Ravinia very long, but his widow and two sons have continued his generous support. He was George Pick, a Jew, who had listened with pleasure to a Russian playing German music, just as different races and nationalities had gathered in the Polish cathedral in No Man's Land. Ravinia, perhaps, is an expression of the same idea. There is no race, creed, or color discrimination in Ravinia's program, performances, or audiences. . . . Thus we gather the threads and tie the knot, and the story turns out to be a plug for Ravinia, which deserves a plug.

White Orchids Exquisite for Romantic June

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Blooming just one month of the year and that the romantic month of weddings, commencement and moonlight parties, every hour sentimental, the loveliest of white orchids arrive to mark each day. Beautiful beyond describing, these gorgeous blooms are plentiful and amazingly modest in price during the rare days in June.

Fluttery petals of cool white with fuchsia lip as the daring and exotic color contrast in the center with a pale shadow of yellow just behind the fuchsia or magenta tone make them breath taking beauties to cause even the most blasé soul to grope for new adjectives.

White orchids for the bridal bouquet, white orchids for the graduate, and white orchids for the sophisticate who wears dull black clothes like a uniform. Nothing can surpass such a subtle compliment!

Ask for canhamianas if you're the gentleman sending the orchids. Wheedle them by this name out of your best beau or doting dad if you're the bride, graduate or sophisticate. All the florists know them and have them now.

Are you in a quandary about wall papers? Here's an idea for a room with old walls that do not take kindly to paint on account of blemishes of one sort or another. Perhaps you've used wall paper until you are tired of all the patterns and designs and long for a plain, solid color such as an enamel paint gives.

In this case try one of the charming wall papers that are now available in absolutely plain tones. They give any room a painted look, yet because they're paper they cover all the minor mars on a plaster wall. You can get them in soft powder blue or turquoise, in all the beautiful pale rose, pink, and pinky-beige tints, in light green, light yellow, and tan.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Collection of Random Thoughts.

Hollywood, Cal., June 5.—R. C. Sheriff, English insurance clerk, who penned "Journey's End," guessed pretty close to the truth. In the zero hour scene of his play one of the officers, a former teacher, engaged in an animated conversation about the qualities of "Alice in Wonderland." Survivors of the British submarine Thetis related that the trapped men were talking about sports on the muddy bottom of the sea. Death itself must approach embarrassed and awkward when men face it with such composure.

Cunningham, brutal provost marshal, having subjected Nathan Hale to every humiliation in an effort to crack his spirit, asked him sarcastically if he [Hale] did not entertain some regrets. Hale looked at him calmly. "I regret that I have but one life to give for my country," and Cunningham fell back as if he had been hit a blow in the face. . . . Sir Thomas More, famous author of "Utopia," convicted of high treason because he would not recognize the marriage of Henry VIII. to Ann Boleyn, stayed the executioner with his classic: "Stay, friend, till I put aside my beard, for that never committed treason." . . . Beethoven, reunited on his death bed with a friend, Hammell, asked him: "Will you not agree now, Hammell, that I have some talent after all?" Benjamin Franklin, agonized in death, philosophized: "A dying man can do nothing easily."

Frederick the Great's last thought was for one of his dogs shivering at his feet: "Please throw a quilt over it." . . . Goethe pleaded: "More light, more light," as his eyes failed. . . . Sir Henry Havelock said to his companions: "Summon my son so that he can see how a gentleman should die."

In a tiny cemetery at Groton, Conn., a gravestone bears witness to the noble heights to which some men can arise at the approach of death. The gravestone testifies that on Oct. 20, 1781, William Hotman, United States soldier, having been thrice wounded by bayonets, was dying on the ground when he saw enemy soldiers trickling a connecting line of powder to the fort which his comrades still were defending, the idea being to start a flame along the line of powder and thus blow up the fort. Hotman, mortally wounded, dragged himself to the powder line and so dampened the powder with his blood that the flames fizzled out. He was just a small town fellow in life, perhaps, but in death he was a superb hero. He would have fitted in perfectly with the boys trapped in the Thetis who waited for death by talking of sport.

SYNOPSIS.

Jeff Hunter, an American mining engineer, awaits execution in a Mexican jail by order of Pancho Banderas, rebel leader. A peon friend helps him escape to Texas. Jeff meets Joan Raleigh, lost in the vastness of her feudal estate, and assists her home. He meets her brothers, Bill and Phil, and Phil's wife, Mary Lou. When they learn Jeff went to college with their cousin, Raeburn, he is invited to be their guest. An old feud against the Raleighs is being renewed under the leadership of Butler Lane, suspected of poisoning their aunt, his wife, and forging her will. Banderas, rented from Mexico, has joined Lane. Jeff offers to try to make peace with the better element and, with Jim Williams, calls at the ranch of Carl Nielsen. En route they are pursued and fired on by Banderas and his men, who follow them to the ranch. Jeff manages to disarm them. Nielsen is shocked by the outlaws. The feud has prevented a romance between beautiful Olga Nielsen and Bill Raleigh. Joan and Phil disappear—kidnaped in their own plane and made the prisoners of Banderas. Phil tries to buy their escape from the bandit. Jeff, Raeburn Raleigh and Jim Williams kidnap Lane Butler from his hotel and force him to arrange for the release of Joan and Phil. Meanwhile Banderas agrees to ransom terms with Phil. He calls one of the gangsters who becomes suspicious. He takes the captives to the bank at Raleigh where Phil is to obtain money. When Jeff and the Raleigh searchers reach the hideout they find only the body of the dead gangster.

INSTALMENT XLIV.

TRAILING THE CAPTIVES.

Bill and Rae Raleigh stood back of Jeff and stared down at the white face of the dead man. All of them had suffered a shock, for the first thought of each had been that the body lying on the sand was that of Phil.

"Who is this man?" Jeff asked.

It was Sowder who answered. "Goes by the name of Whitey. He was one of Lane's gunmen."

Whitey. The man mentioned in Joan's note as the one who had captured them. Violently he had come to the end of his evil ways.

"A knife in his throat and at least two bullets in his body," Jeff said.

Rae examined the automatic which was still clutched in the hand of Whitey. Two empty shells lay on the ground beside him.

"Fired through his pocket," Rae said.

"Into the ground," the old River Bend rider added. "See here. One of the bullets went into the sand at this point and the other close to this hand. Pancho caught him unexpected. He didn't even have time to drag the pistol out of his pocket. When he fired he was practically already dead."

"Do you know anything about this?" Bill asked Sowder harshly.

The cowboy shook his head. "Not a thing. Whitey was sitting by the fire beside your brother and sister when I left."

"Had there been any trouble between him and Pancho?" Rae asked.

"Well, yes, kind of. Pancho was sore at him. It was like this. Pancho ate breakfast over there at this fire with the prisoners. Whitey got a notion the greaser was fixing up a double cross, so he walked over and joined them. When Pancho told him to get the hell back to us Whitey said he reckoned he would stay where he was at. Pancho took it, though he didn't like it. He came over to where we were eating breakfast and cussed around a while, then told me to saddle and get back to Rannigan's so I could make contact with Lane."

Old Jim Williams felt the body. "Been dead an hour, I'd say. Pancho must have killed him right after Sowder left."

"Then he's got a long start on us," Bill cried. "Let's get a move on us."

Jeff asked Sowder another question. "Any idea where Pancho would go? Had any other rendezvous been mentioned?"

"No. We were to wait here till we heard from Lane."

"If you're lying to us——," Bill threatened.

Sowder flared back at him. "Do you think I'm plumb crazy? I want yore folks rescued just as much as you do. If anything happens to them I'm done for. No use chewing the rag here. We'd better follow that devil."

"That's good medicine," Williams agreed. "The sooner the better."

They quartered over the ground and found that the party had split. Two of them had gone in one direction, the other three in another. Bill picked a lady's handkerchief from a clump of catclaw to which it was clinging.

"Joan must have left it here to show us which way they are heading," he told his cousin.

"There were three in this party," Old Jim said. "Probably Pancho and his prisoners. But we can't be sure of that. Some of us will have to trail the others. How you dividing the party, Rae?"

The Raleighs and Jeff held a brief consultation, as a result of which three men were assigned to take Lane to the Nielsen ranch and hold him there for further instructions. Rae, Sowder, and a couple of Bill's posse men were to follow the two riders, while Bill, Jeff, Old Jim, and the sixth deputy pursued the others.

The trail was a spotty one, in some places easy to follow and in others difficult. They crossed places muddy from the rain where the tracks could be read at a run. On the sand stretches occasional prints of shoes crumbled the terrain. But when they climbed to a higher level of disintegrated granite hoof marks were rarely visible. After a time Williams pulled up.

"The sign has done petered out," he said. "You boys wait here till I have a looksee. Except you, Bill. We'll make a half mile circle, you to the right and me to the left."

To wait was difficult for Jeff. His mind was full of Joan. Pictures tortured his imagination. He saw Phil prone and lifeless in the brush, with Joan at the mercy of the ruffian. She was calling to him for help.

Old Jim's shout reached them. He had found tracks, and the party was once more on the move. Twice more they lost and found the hoof prints. The warm sun was out and had driven away the misty rain. Bigger patches of blue showed in the sky.

"Looks like," agreed Williams. "Below the big house. For Raleigh, I'd guess. But I don't get the reason. Pancho knows this country. What's he after? There can't be anything but trouble waiting for him there."

"Unless he has struck a bargain with Phil. It begins to look as though he has double-crossed Lane as Whitey guessed he was going to do." Jeff came to a swift decision. "Give me the direction, Jim. I'm going to ride straight for Raleigh. The rest of you had better stick to the trail. Our hunch may be wrong. He may cut to the south for the border when the country gets more open."

"Sure." Old Jim scratched a puzzled head. "But he'd be losing time. He could be followed that first ridge in pretty open ground for twenty miles. By gravy, this don't make sense to me."

Bill spoke up, excitement in his voice. "I believe Jeff has got the right of it. I'm going to hightail it with him for Raleigh hell-for-leather. You two stick to the trail. Let's go, Jeff."

. . . . . .

Raleigh was a little Texas town which sat in the sun and slept. Though inhabited mostly by Spanish-Americans, it was better kept than Trail End. The oiled road was good. There was a small one-story brick bank, owned by the big ranch and a well-equipped general store which carried everything from powdered sugar to ten-penny nails. Most of the residents were employés of the River Bend. Their adobe houses were in good repair. A good many windows held nasturtiums in tin cans and some of the gardens were filled with roses. The place had an air of content.

Phil Raleigh, his sister, and the outlaw rode up to the bank and dismounted. Some boys were playing marbles on the sidewalk. At sight of the River Bend manager and Joan they dropped their game and started to move closer.

"Ve te!" Pancho ordered gruffly.

"Just a moment, general," Phil suggested. "I'd better tell them everything is all right. We don't want them bringing back their fathers to interfere and make trouble."

"That is true," the bandit agreed. "I tell you again that if any one tries to kill or capture me here I shall shoot your sister first."

Since Phil was afraid of that he dared not risk any attempt at rescue. He spoke to the boys in Spanish.

"All is well. We were found in the brush by Gen. Banderas and brought back. At present we do not want to be disturbed, since we have some business to do. You, Juan, will hold the horses. The rest of you will go on with your game and will tell what I have told you to anybody else who finds out we are here."

Good Morning!

Grr-rr! Here's a frightener!

Both scary and merry!

It's the 1939 version of the popular old stage play, and the Ritz Brothers were hired to impersonate the three detectives hired to guard a threatened man in a lonely old house, honeycombed with secret passages.

There's a lot more meat on the bones of the plot than you give it credit for till toward the very last. . . . Just when you think you have the murderer all tagged and wrapped up, whoops, my dears!——if a Ritz Brother doesn't up and——do what he does!

Speaking of the brothers—they are as usual, and—to me—unnecessary. I'd have liked the picture played "straight" using only Patsy Kelly and the real gorilla who puts in several appearances, as comedy relief. But that's just my personal reaction and pliss to pay it no never mind.

Besides being funny Miss Kelly does some right good acting. She can portray stark terror quite as well as Lillian Gish ever did—and the latter used to be head woman along that line. [Not quite so refined—Patsy—but quite as effective.]

Those able hair raisers, Lionel Atwill, Joseph Calleia, and Bela Lugosi, do their parts to a turn. Anita Louise and Edward Norris provide pleasing romantic interest and other players are ably on the job.

Direction was clever and eerie staging was cannily photographed.

I really had a whopping good time watching "The Gorilla." The same to you!

Wife's Applause Helps the Man Bringing Bacon

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Reviving the old argument of how much more romantic at heart are men than are women, stage star and director Henry Youngman says there isn't any argument.

"Men are romantics at heart," he contends firmly. "They'd sooner be following the shrill siren of a fire engine, or embarking upon a tramp steamer for parts unknown, than sit chained to a desk or other occupation, following the same dull, daily pattern.

Mr. Youngman has an idea that the feminine power behind the daily grind may influence the pattern even to the point of injecting a certain amount of romance into it. In other words, the spirit of the little woman for whom he grinds daily may, at least, quiet the restless spirit of adventure in her mate's soul, may, indeed, lift his daily grind into an adventure in itself.

"Whether that daily pattern," are Youngman's words, "becomes deadly and confined, or exciting and interesting with unlimited horizon, depends upon the spirit and encouragement of the man's helpmeet.

"Having a family to support and the problem of building a bank balance to take care of Junior and Sis, keeps a man's nose to the grindstone. But a woman can do her noble share by taking a real interest in her man's work and by sharing the joy of accomplishment with him."

"If you would follow your man around his business clock," continues our speaker, "you would know how much raw courage it takes to bring home the bacon which you so casually accept as your due, wives."

Indeed, Youngman thinks that if you went this route with your man for one day you'd feel more like pinning a D.S.C. on the bacon than plopping it into the frying pan. It takes a great deal of something or other to keep the masculine chin up through all exigencies, to maintain the hopeful outlook and determination involved in selling a client what is to be sold.

"Husbands could use some of that enthusiasm that wives can put into the planning of a garden club party, picnic, or other such event."

Tired Mother Finds Child a Nerve Twister

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I am in receipt of your letter containing suggestions for tired mothers and wish to thank you. It seems to fit me perfectly and I am endeavoring to make the best of it."

There are two angles that I see to this tiredness business. One is that, as one mother who wishes well to another, I want to help you out of this hole—indeed, I might call it an abyss you may be in; because chronic tiredness can get you about as low in spirits as anything I can think of. And it can bewilder you and reduce your efficiency to a minimum.

This is not merely something I know from personal experience; it is something I have evidence of in my correspondence. A great many letters will begin with the description of a problem child, and end on a note of fatigue and confusion. "My work and the care of my baby seem to floor me—they make me impatient and irritable," a letter may wind up.

Caring for a baby or bringing up older children is a job which takes a lot of energy, patience and judgment. If you haven't the first, you frequently haven't the second or third. Fatigue—not just ordinary tiredness, but constant fatigue does rob us of serenity, and serenity is an almost necessary background if we are to be patient and fair with our children.

If you doubt the truth of the things I've been saying, just reserve judgment until you wake up some fine morning so fresh and rested that you feel as if you could conquer the world. Then, look back at the irritablity of last days and the troubles with the children and you'll see a great deal of it had no real basis, but occurred because you were simply tired out.

And when you see clearly how much of the joy that state takes out of life for you and the children, put your mind at work to correct it. After all, that's what our intellect is for—first, to see problems for what they are and, next, to cope with them.

New Revue Has Wit and Fresh Young Players

"ONE FOR THE MONEY."

Musical revue in two acts. Book and lyrics by Nancy Hamilton. Music by Morgan Lewis. Direction by John Murray Anderson. Musical numbers staged by Robert Alton. Settings and costumes by Raoul Pene du Bois. Sketches staged by Edward Clarke Lilley. Orchestrations by Hans Spialek. Presented by Gertrude Macy and Stanley Gilkey in the Harris theater Monday evening, June 5, 1939.

THE CAST.

BY CECIL SMITH.

"One for the Money" is manna from heaven in our depleted theatrical sector in these early summer days. For despite the absence of big names to plaster all over the marquee the newly arrived musical revue glories in an abundance of talent among its sixteen youthful performers, of unceasingly fresh wit in its book and lyrics, and of smooth competence in its musical score.

No redundant encores are permitted in the performance. With each number whittled down to its minimum effective length and done only once, the evening's items tumble out one after another with unbroken gayety.

A girl named Nancy Hamilton, from Sewickley, Pa., by way of Smith college and New York, wrote every word of "One for the Money" and appears prominently in the cast. One of those lucky people whose minds never seem to go stale, she is literate in her writing without ever becoming precious, and she is up to date without lapsing into laborious political satire of either leftist or rightist persuasion.

As an actress she possesses a cool collectedness and an immediate friendliness that make you sure you always understand just what she means, and that whatever she means is very, very funny. She never overplays her hand, for having written the material herself she knows exactly how it ought to register with the audience.

The production surrounding Miss Hamilton and her fifteen young associates is extraordinarily beautifully mounted—surpassing, I thought, even "I Married an Angel." While there is seemingly no end to the variety of the settings and costumes, Raoul Pene du Bois has handled his entire assignment with the most faultless taste.

The individual members of the cast unfortunately cannot be awarded their just due in this space. They are a hand picked group, able to function well in ensemble numbers, yet capable of contributing valuable specialties whenever the occasion arises. Brenda Forbes provided some of the most hysterical merriment of the year as Bébé Baiser, a French movie star being interviewed by reporters.

Nadine Gae, a particularly piquant member of the cast, indicated clearly that acrobatic dancing need not always seem an offense against nature. Alfred Drake turned easily from some excellent baritone singing to a well pointed travesty of Orson Welles' idiosyncrasies. There was a goodly amount of excellent dancing throughout.

It would be hard to pick the best of Miss Hamilton's skits. My favorite was one called "The Story of the Opera," in which she herself endeavored to clarify the plot of "Die Walküre" to Maxine Barrat, with appropriate vocal illustrations. Possibly you will prefer her version of Orson Welles' "Five Kings," in which she undertook with complete success to streamline all the Shakespeare out of the Richard and Henry dramas, or her persiflage aimed at Eleanor Roosevelt's homey column and entitled "My Day."

North Dearborn street is a good region toward which to direct your footsteps now, with a toy notch, banner musical at the Harris and with John Barrymore once again playing to big houses at the Selwyn. [Yes, "My Dear Children" reopened last night, and Ethel Barrymore was in the audience to see her brother's play for the first time.]

Organize New Synod of Evangelical and Reformed Units Today

The northern Illinois district of the Evangelical synod went out of existence yesterday to make way for the completion today of the North Illinois synod of the Evangelical and Reformed [German] church. The meeting was held at St. Peter's church, 2250 Cortez street.

The synod will comprise 140 congregations in Illinois and northern Indiana, with a total membership of about 45,000. It is one of thirty-four synods to be formed from the twenty districts of the Evangelical synod and the fifty-six classes [jurisdictions] of the Reformed church. The meeting yesterday resulted from the merger of the two churches last year at Columbus, O.

Editor White Claims Training at the Top Can Save Democracy

Bloomington, Ind., June 5.—[Special.]—Breeding and training of "the useful top dog in the way of peace and justice" rather than "preservation of the underdog" was declared today to be the problem of democracy by William Allen White at Indiana university's 110th commencement.

The Kansas editor told the 1,350 recipients of degrees from the state school that their "first, last and chiefest job is to preserve democracy."

The university conferred the honorary doctor of laws degree upon: President William C. Dennis, Earlham college; Dr. Edward Martin Kindle, paleontologist of the Geological society of Canada, and Dr. Charles H. Beeson, professor of Latin, University of Chicago.

Inspiration Is from Holland

DUTCH FROCK FOR MISSES.

We're borrowing from Holland these days for one of the latest fashion inspirations. That "ittle girl" look, as such, is fast fading from the style picture, but girlish charm is still in order, and so is femininity. We think all you slimsters will like this simple frock with just enough of the foreign about it to make it fetching.

The largest sketch, the one at the right, keeps the Dutch mood intact. There is a wide, flat contrasting collar that matches the little Dutch hat, included in the pattern at no extra cost. The sleeves are puffed and short, and the skirt shirred moderately into the snug waistband. Buttons are used all the way down for that "juvenile" air.

You can use the same pattern for a slightly different frock, sketched at upper left. The neckline of this version is square and edged with lace, more of which is used on the short puffed sleeves. Floral cottons and sheers of all types make up well in this dainty mode.

Style No. 2912 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for the dress, 1 yard of contrasting for collar and hat.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. President Hutchins of the University of Chicago announced yesterday that the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation has made a grant of $40,000, continuing the support it gave last year to the broadcasting of economic information. The gift will be used to improve and experiment with the University of Chicago Round Table, which is broadcast every Sunday morning over a national network.

Beach Season Is Here; Make Hips Slender

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Bathing suits are here again, maybe not quite ready for their first dipping, but they're on sale in even more tempting styles than last year and the year before.

Have you the figure for one of the smart beach numbers? If you don't cut a handsome beach figure this season, it won't be because you can't find the right suit. It will be because you haven't the silhouette to put into the suit.

But you have some weeks yet before you'll start splashing around in the water, or joining the beach parade. In those few weeks you can get your figure under good control if you've the mind to. You can get to a point where it will be simpler for you to brave beach audience eyes and continue on with the good reducing work while swimming.

If you don't feel up to a rigid dietary plan, make your own plan. A simple and effective way of sluicing off the spare tires and the hip padding is to eat just half the amount of food you have been in the habit of eating from morning toast to your dinner dessert. If it's pies and cakes and creamladen temptations you've grown accustomed to for dessert, abandon them entirely for the time being. Substitute fruit, stewed or natural.

We approve this method of dieting because, when it is practiced one realizes, as she never suspected before, how much more food she has been consuming than she needed. If any one had told her of her actual caloric total alone of the sugar she has been taking in her coffee and tea for a day, she would be popeyed. The same with cream in her beverage, with the bread she consumes and the butter added to it. All the way along the line, the woman begins to see that this figure of hers hasn't grown overweighted "because she's just naturally inclined that way." It's because her appetite has been bossing her around to the destruction of her own good sense and pride.

"The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|

| 1 heart | 2 clubs | 3 hearts | Double |
| Pass | Pass | Pass | |

"West opened the spade jack, the dummy came up with the king, and East's ace won. East returned the queen of spades and then led the club six through South.

"East's reasoning was sound in quitting the spade suit, for very probably his partner was void in trumps. The club ace won and a low diamond was led, dummy and East playing low and the ace winning. Declarer led the heart ace and, when West showed out, promptly gave up any thought of drawing trumps. He cashed one of his high clubs and then led the spade eight to dummy's nine. The heart seven was returned and, when East played low, South won with the eight. South then led the spade ten, discarding a small diamond from dummy, after which he led his remaining diamond to the king. When next the diamond ten was played East had to trump and South jauntily discarded the jack of clubs. Now East had to lead away from his Q-10 of hearts up to the combined tenace of the J-9 in dummy and the K-5 in declarer's hand, so obviously North-South took the balance and the contract. We would appreciate your analysis and comments. K. S., New York."

It seems to me that my correspondent criticized the wrong opponent. I don't blame East for doubling three hearts after his partner had put in two voluntary overcalls, one in diamonds and the other in clubs. I admit that it was strange that East should have stayed out of the bidding until he entered with a double, but that is hardly the point. How West could have dug up two bids when his hand contained one ace and two jacks is more than I can say. Certainly his distribution, good as it was, did not justify such aggressiveness.

As for the play, undoubtedly declarer handled the cards well and deserved his victory. West's opening lead of the spade jack, however, certainly did not make matters any harder for the declarer, and I must say that the lead of a doubleton, particularly from the J-x, was rather remarkable, considering that West had no trumps, hence could not hope to get in a ruff.

By Evelyn Holmes

June 6, 1939.

If this is your birthday, take it quietly this year. It is neither a good day nor a good year for elaborate celebrations. Every one would profit from a quiet hour spent in reflection today. A little introspection will pay dividends in the days to follow. A day of rest doesn't necessarily always have to be a Sunday. We can rest within ourselves.

Since the cherry season is short, fresh cherry pies and desserts must be made frequently if the family is to get full enjoyment from their seasonableness. Better not put off making those cherry jams, either, for the day will arrive when there'll be no more cherries, and you'll be left with only a nice fat regret!

There's plenty of time yet, of course, for the cherry season is just well begun. In the next few weeks many smart homemakers are going to be making cherry and raspberry jam, cherry and orange marmalade, cherry jelly, conserve, and preserves. They'll find the recipes they want in "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies," I hope, for this 23 cent booklet contains numerous cherry recipes.

CHERRY PRESERVES.

Stem and pit cherries. Use a cherry pitter or a small, clean wire hairpin. Drain off juice. Place fruit in preserving kettle. Measure into the pan enough water and cherry juice to cover the cherries. For every 2 cups water and juice added, measure 3 cups of sugar into the pan. Mix well, bring to a boil, and boil for 10 minutes. Remove from heat and allow cherries to stand in sirup for 6 to 12 hours to "plump." Drain off sirup and pack cherries into clean, hot jars. Bring sirup to a boil and pour over them. Seal while hot.

The sirup may be boiled to a heavy consistency if thick sirup is liked.

Record Shows of Furniture Open in City

Some 5,000 furniture dealers, the advance contingent of an army that will visit the city within the next two weeks, were in Chicago yesterday for the opening of the International Homefurnishings market in the Merchandise Mart and the National Home Furnishings exposition in the American Furniture mart. The two shows will continue until June 17.

Exhibits occupy approximately 2,000,000 square feet of space in the Merchandise mart. Manufacturers anticipate a $30,000,000 business.

Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the Furniture mart, said that in spite of the increase in cost of production—the result of high taxes and a higher wage scale—furniture makers had managed to keep prices at approximately last year's level. Business is booming, he reported, and for the next three months manufacturers will be running their factories to capacity. In the Furniture mart the exposition takes up about 1,500,000 square feet. Space is rented to 99.3 per cent of capacity, a record in the building's history.

This is the first year of June expositions. Previously shows were held in May and in July.

As for the displays, everything has gone wholeheartedly American. One concern has Daniel Boone and Village Smithy bedroom suites in maple. The lad who lays him down to sleep in the Boone four poster will have blunderbusses at his head and feet, powder horns for handles on his chest of drawers, and carvings of his hero on his dresser. A large half wagon wheel is the head and two giant horseshoes and an anvil constitute the foot of the bed in the village Smithy suite. In tune with modern America, the company also has an airplane suite in which the decorative motif is a propeller.

Transfer Pattern Places Felt on a Set for Luncheon

BY NANCY CABOT.

One of the innumerable uses for felt is in a luncheon set. Groups of fresh fruit are arranged in each of the four corners. The hot iron transfer pattern contains designs for four place mats as well as an illustration showing detailed arrangement of the fruit groups. The felt mat, measuring 12 by 18 inches, is ideal for outdoor meals, and for an indoor arrangement white or ecru linen with colored linen applique. Organdy may be substituted for either linen or felt.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the appliqued felt luncheon mats, No. X-588, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Sculptor Tells Intense Story of Chinese War

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An intensely interesting exhibition, one which could easily be classed as "a human document," is on view in the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club, through Thursday. It is of Chinese art, part of it sculpture, by W. W. Wagstaff, an English sculptor, who found in wartorn China the material for his poignant and suggestive figures.

The other part of the exhibit consists of thirty-five scrolls, copies of ancient Chinese masterpieces.

The Chinese paintings are fascinating, revealing a country of lovely landscapes and quaint customs. They cover in brief a vast period of time, from the early copy of Wang Wei, who lived in the seventh century, to the works of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The scrolls are picturesque and intriguing. Some of the work is in color and some is in black and white. The beauty and serenity of the scenes make one passionately resent what is now occurring in China.

The sculpture by Mr. Wagstaff increases that resentment. The subjects he has used are the refugees; pathetic, simple, innocent people suddenly at the mercy of death and damnation by air and land. The "Protection" was inspired by the sight of a Chinese child running from the "foreign devil," at the moment a harmless one, the artist himself. "Chinese Refugee Mother and Child" had more to fear and "Unconquered," the study of a woman, shows one who lost her home and tiny truck garden and finally her only son when the Japanese occupied Shanghai.

The striking exhibition of lithographs, aquatints and etchings by the noted woman artist, Kyra Markham, will continue at the Club Woman's bureau, Mandel Brothers, through June 21.

HOME RUNS BY BEJMA, WALKER AID JACK KNOTT

Veteran Limits A's to Three Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Jack Knott's long wait for his maiden triumph of 1939 is no more. It ended yesterday in a shower of White Sox base hits which were so lengthy and numerous that Connie Mack's Athletics were drowned out in the third of the series, 12 to 1. Mr. Knott assisted in such an impressive fashion that the visiting batters' power was reduced to three safeties.

Leading helpers in the task of making Knott's fifth start a lopsided success were Gerald Walker and Ollie Bejma. They furnished the punches that gave the Texas giant ample protection against a blowup which never came. Walker fired a homer, his sixth, to left field to start the fifth inning. Bejma sailed one, his fifth, to the same spot with two on base in the same inning, which netted six runs and brought on the overdue retirement from the mound of one Bob Joyce. Leroy Parmelee finished, but it was more a case of endurance than ability.

The Boys Clinch It Early.

The Sox really settled the affair in Knott's favor in the third inning when they added three runs to one picked up in the second. The trio of tallies involved Joe Kuhel and Rip Radcliff, as well as Walker, who later opened the busy fifth with his homer and closed it with a tap to Parmelee. Walker made only one subsequent appearance—in the seventh—and the wild Parmelee plunked him on the right elbow with an errant pitch. Gerry was pained for a moment, but not damaged.

Along with the three hits he yielded the Athletics, Knott issued four passes, two being mixed with two hits. One of these combinations was additionally complicated by a wild pitch, this one bad throw robbing Knott of a shutout. Third base was reached only twice by a visiting athlete and it was Nick Etten both times, once in the fourth, when he scored, and again in the sixth, when an error by Appling gave him time to race from first to the far corner.

Bases Full—One Run.

The one run with which the Sox inaugurated their scoring in the second inning wasn't much when allowance is made for the fact that they had the bags jammed before anybody was retired. Appling started the full house by singling to right. Gantenbein did his part by fumbling Kreevich's grounder. Owen bunted to Joyce and beat it for a hit. Appling scampered home on Tresh's fly to Johnson. Knott then sacrificed and Bejma flied to Moses.

Kuhel opened the third with a scratch single to Etten, and for a few minutes thereafter business was brisk for the Sox. Kuhel stole second, dusted off his pants, and headed for the plate on Walker's single to left. Radcliff doubled to right, but Walker, who had to tarry to see whether the ball would be caught, went only as far as third. He scored on Appling's tap to Gantenbein. Radcliff went to third on this play and home when Kreevich slapped a long fly to Moses. Owen fouled to Hayes for the third out.

Knott Starts Very Well.

The first hit off Knott was a single with which Johnson launched the second inning. There also was a pass with one out, but nothing happened. The next hit didn't appear until the fourth when Etten opened with a two bagger to left center. He moved to third on Johnson's fly and was still there when Hayes was disposed of on

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Yankees already have the son of one National league umpire with one of their farm clubs and they expect to have another. . . . Kenneth Sears, son of Ziggy Sears, is a catcher at Norfolk, and Ralph R. Pinelli, shortstop at Notre Dame, son of Babe Pinelli, is said to be headed for the Yanks. . . . Harry Lasater, tackle, who will return to Illinois next September after a year's absence, is farming and running a sawmill near Fairfield, Ill. . . . His weight has increased from 205 to 215 pounds. . . . Bob Henrichs, Wisconsin pitcher whose appearance is not unlike Dizzy Dean's, has signed a contract with the Giants. . . . He made a favorable impression on Scout Heinie Groh. . . . Oklahoma university may withdraw from the Big Six conference as a result of the league's refusal to let the Sooners play ten football games next fall. . . . Decision now is reported to rest with President W. B. Bizzell and Coach Tom Stidham. . . . Eulace Peacock, Negro athlete who surprised the track world by defeating Jesse Owens in the 1935 A. A. U. meet, is still in competition and will represent the Newark A. C. in the games at Lincoln, Neb., July 3 and 4. . . .

Riley Smith.

In the east they are printing that the Cubs gave from $25,000 to $50,000 for Claude Passeau in addition to Joe Marty, Walter Higbe, and Ray Harrell. . . . Guesses are based on quotations said to have been made to the Giants on the same player. . . . Every one ignored when invitations were sent out for the queen's tea party in Washington will be welcome to the bachelor dinner George Marshall will throw for his Redskin quarter back, Riley Smith, late this month. . . . Smith, a former Alabama quarter back who led the All-Stars against the Detroit Lions in 1936, will marry a senator's daughter this summer. . . . The average light bill for a major league night game is $500. . . . Hockey receipts have kept the Boston Garden out of the red.

SEA SCOUTS IN CUTTERS VIE FOR REGATTA HONORS

Four Crews Prepare for Sunday's Races.

Sheldon Clark, national commodore of the Sea Scouts of America, yesterday rallied his forces for participation in the first annual Blade and Paddle regatta on the Chicago river Sunday afternoon. The two-hour program, starting at 2 o'clock, is sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in coöperation with the Lincoln Park Boat club and the Chicago Park district.

Further impetus to the water sports spectacle was given last night when the Lake Michigan Yachting association's power squadron accepted THE TRIBUNE'S invitation to participate. Commodore Anthony J. Caliendo, chairman of the squadron's regatta committee, announced the acceptance after a meeting of delegates from the various yacht clubs in the Sherman hotel. Raymond Greist, rear commodore of the association's power squadron, presided.

Yachts to Line Course.

The representatives of the motor yachtsmen present expressed enthusiasm over the regatta, and promised that cruisers of their respective clubs would tie up along both banks of the Chicago river before Sunday's program. The yachts will form a spectator fleet much the same as at the annual boat races at New London and Poughkeepsie. The yachtsmen are urged to fly their regatta flags.

Skippers of cruisers coming into the river from the lake were reminded by Commodore Caliendo that calm water is necessary for peak performance of the delicate shells, canoes and kayaks. This makes it necessary, he said, that all yachts be in the river and tied up by 1:30 p. m.

Rowing Cutters Is Work.

Commodore Clark announced through the Chicago office of the organization that four rowing cutters will compete in the Sea Scout rowing race, one of the twelve features scheduled. Boys from four of Chicago's eighty Sea Scout ships will man the cutters. Each cutter, will have ten youthful oarsmen and one coxswain. These craft will present a striking contrast to the long, narrow delicate shells in which boys from four of the city's high schools will compete for the Chicago river interscholastic championship. The cutters are 28 feet long and seven feet wide, whereas the shells are 62 feet long and only 27 inches wide.

Both cutters and shells use 12 foot oars, but the sweeps used by the high school oarsmen have spoon shaped blades and hollow handles, weighing but nine and a half pounds. The oars in the cutters are the same length, but are solid and therefore much heavier.

He Has a Background.

Many of Chicago's 1,250 Sea Scouts have been practicing in cutters for more than a month on the lake front. Different ships are assigned to the craft, which resemble lifeboats, each night of the week and on Saturdays and Sundays. The boys learn oarsmanship and become familiar with the parts of a small boat during these practice trips. The city's Sea Scouts are assigned to cutters just as the Boy Scouts are to troops. The average age is 17 years and the minimum is 15.

Clark, who a few months ago was named national leader of the Sea Scouts, remains as commodore of the Chicago council. He also is commodore of the Yachtsmen's Association of America, which holds the Harmsworth trophy regatta on the Detroit river whenever the world speedboat racing champion, Gar Wood, is challenged.

The craft entered in the sea scout races are:

888 Legionnaire of the South Shore squadron, sponsored by Men's Club of Immanuel Evangelical church; Carl C. Stammerjohn, skipper.

888 Emden of the South Shore squadron, sponsored by South Shore Presbyterian church; Edward Stein, skipper.

Bridges Deals Yankees First Shutout, 3 to 0

Detroit, Mich., June 5.—(AP)—Tommy Bridges was the toast of the American league today for he did what no other pitcher has been able to do this season—blank the Yankees.

Bridges did it with a sparkling four hit performance as the champions lost, 3 to 0, in the face of successive home run blasts by Hank Greenberg and Pinkie Higgins in the fourth inning.

The Tigers' other run came when Pete Fox singled, stole second, and came home on Billy Rogell's single. The Yanks' four hits were all singles. Two came in the fourth and two in the ninth.

CHUCK KLEIN, THE ONE-TIME GREAT, IS OUT OF A JOB

Philadelphia, Pa., June 5.—(AP)—The Phillies' today told Chuck Klein, voted most valuable player in the National league seven years ago, to look for another job. Manager Doc Prothro decided he can't carry six outfielders and that Klein is one too many. He hasn't been producing hits in the pinches and his fielding has fallen off.

Among the leading home run hitters in 1930, Klein's batting average of .386 won him the National league batting crown that year. In 1932 he was declared the most valuable player.

New Machine to Test Speed of Bob Feller

Cleveland, O., June 5.—(AP)—A series of photo-electric cells may settle arguments over who is the speedball king of the major leagues.

A few amateurs warmed up today on a new pitching speed meter. Tomorrow it will test Bob Feller and any other members of the Cleveland and Boston clubs who are willing. Other American league clubs will be given a chance later.

Girl First to Test It.

First Miss Cappy Oguin, a visitor from Orlando, Fla., tried her speed today. Her best was 40 feet a second. A varied assortment of men followed. The best throw was 86 feet a second, the second best, 84. A man of about 60 years old did a foot for each of his years.

Sponsors recalled that in 1917, in Bridgeport [Conn.] arms laboratory, Walter Johnson recorded 134 feet per second, Christy Mathewson, 127, and Smoky Joe Wood, 124. They used a gravity drop interval recorder.

The new meter, which gives an immediate reading which engineers said compared with standard laboratory meter accuracy, is built in a trailer. You throw into a hole two feet square. Just inside is a set of photo-electric tubes, and five feet back is another set. The device measures the ball's speed between the two points and flashes it on a scale facing the pitcher.

MAYBE THE JURY DID DEMPSEY'S COURT FOE FAVOR

New York, June 5.—(AP)—"Listen," Jack Dempsey told a jury today, "if I had socked this little guy he wouldn't be here to tell this story, and if I have to pay him $3,000, I feel I should be entitled to one punch at him."

The jury thereupon returned a verdict denying the claims of Charles McFarland, 135 pound colored bootblack, who said that while helping the ex-champion on with his coat in a barber shop, he couldn't resist the temptation to tickle Dempsey's ribs and that Dempsey punched him.

The blow, which Dempsey dismissed as a mere nudge of the elbow — "all in good fun" — caused stomach injuries, the Negro testified, and a colored doctor supported his claim.

MARTY'S HOMER WITH 1 ON FOILS FORMER MATES

Victory Credited to Kirby Higbe.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 5.—The recent Philly-Cub trade didn't look so bad today to the Philly fans, if any. Walter Kirby Higbe was the winning pitcher and batted in the winning run on a squeeze play in an 8 to 7 Philly success. Joe Marty, another former Cub in the transaction, scored the third run in the Philadelphia first inning to put the Phillies ahead and his homer with one on was very jolting, indeed.

Larry French, seeking his fourth straight victory, was the starting and losing pitcher. Lawrence disappeared when Merrill May followed Marty's homer with a triple. Charley Root was socked for two more runs after the pair produced by Marty's homer, before the third inning was terminated.

Lillard Isn't So Hot.

The eighth run was scored in the fifth off Gene Lillard. May led off with a single, third of the four hits he made during the afternoon, and Scharein walked. Lillard ignored a good chance for a triple play on Virgil Davis' smash and got only one man at second. At this juncture Higbe put on the squeeze play. Gus Mancuso appeared to lose his bearings and left the plate uncovered when he tried to field the ball. The net of the panic was that May scored the winning run and Higbe reached first, credited with a single.

Dizzy Gets a Workout.

The Phillies didn't threaten afterward against Lillard and Dizzy Dean retired three men in order in the eighth.

The Cubs let the tying run die on third in the eighth. Reynolds started a three run splurge with a leadoff homer. After G. Russell had supplied the second out, Dick Bartell doubled and, after Mancuso had flied out, Pinch Batter Hartnett scored Bartell with a single and brought on Hugh Mulcahy as Higbe's replacement. Hartnett scored on a triple by Stan Hack. The inning ended when Bill Herman flied to Herschel Martin.

It was the fourth victory for the Phillies in six games with the Cubs. The Phillies won only four in all twenty-two games with Chicago last season.

Didn't Last Long.

Here's the way the Cubs acquired their shortlived lead in the first inning: Hack walked and, after Herman had been called out on strikes, stole second. Gleeson tripled to right center, scoring Hack, and Jim got home on Galan's sacrifice fly to Arnovich. Reynolds flied to Martin.

There were two out when the Phils got tough in the opening inning. Martin fanned and Hack threw out Mueller, after which Brack walked and stopped at third on Arnovich's double to left. Marty was given an intentional pass to load the bases and when May singled to center, Brack and Arnovich scored the tying runs and Marty reached third. Scharein singled to right, scoring Marty. Davis flied to Gleeson.

MAGIC KEY OUT TO MAKE MONEY FOR MRS. MARS

Wins at Lincoln Fields for 4 Out of 5.

There is a little brown colt named Magic Key out at Lincoln Fields which might turn out to be the talk of the town before the season closes. In fact, the speedy son of Pompey-Conclave is something to boast about right now.

Magic Key proved yesterday in the Hillside purse, the sixth race at the Crete track, that he can step. He broke on top ahead of four others and made every post a winning one to take the decision over Melodist, Mrs. Emil Denemark's 5 year old gray gelding by a neck.

Last Beaten in March.

The speedy colt owned by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars has won four of his last five starts, his only defeat being over a muddy strip at Oaklawn Park, Hot Springs last March. The other day he won by five lengths over a good field and repeated yesterday defeating Melodist, Don Moss, Blaze Around, and Three Bangs.

Mrs. Mars, who has one of the largest racing establishments in the country, shipped many of her thoroughbreds to Lincoln Fields with hopes of getting back some of her investment. Indications are that it will be up to Magic Key to carry Mrs. Mars' orange and black silks to the winner's circle, as Magic Key is the only winner Trainer Ray Waldron has saddled so far at Crete.

The winner off his impressive record was installed a 4 to 5 favorite in the seven furlong dash and paid $3.60. He finished the distance in 1:26 4-5.

Red Moss Takes Opener.

Red Moss from the Leo Beyda stable won the opening race for 3 year olds at six furlongs. Red Moss rushed into the lead and held on all the way, finishing two lengths in front of Holiday Tea. Paul Ryan was up on the winner, which paid $4.20. The time was 1:15 3-5. Egyptian Belle was third.

In the second race, a five furlong affair, A. G. Tarn's 2 year old filly, Maebrille, took a nose decision over Valdina Babe.

Maebrille got off to a good start and led the field by a length and a half until the final furlong, when Valdina Babe began to work her way up in the stretch. Boy Baby, a strong factor from the start, weakened in the final furlong but held on to take third money. Maebrille did the five furlongs in 1:02 1-5. The winner was ridden by Charley Kurtsinger and returned $6 for every $2 winning ticket, $4 for place, and $2.80 to show.

Second Victory for Colonel Ed.

Colonel Ed, a 7 year old campaigner making his fourth start at Lincoln Fields, beat a band of eight when he romped the six furlongs in 1:14 1-5 for his second victory of the meeting in the third race. In four times at the post Colonel Ed was never out of the money, placing twice.

Warren Yarberry, leading jocky at the Crete track, was astride the winner and chalked up his eleventh victory. Colonel Ed was away fast and wore Million Bucks, the early pace setter, down in the stretch. Aglow, running well in the early stages, dropped back as if through after reaching the stretch, but came back to nose out Million Bucks for second place.

Luck with Lady Thirteen.

Lady Thirteen, with Ernest Hanke of Chicago up, took the fourth race, beating out Morris Vehon's Threadneedle and Delta Dan, the favorite, which ran third. The unlucky number horse paid $18.40 to win. The distance was six furlongs and the time was 1:14 1-5.

Longshot players were rewarded with a winner in the fifth race when Shama Thrush, a 19 to 1 shot, beat Ron, the favorite, to the barrier by a half length. Shama Thrush's prices across the board were $40.80, $12.80, and $5.60. Patan was third. The time for the mile was 1:41 1-5.

SATCHEL PAIGE TO FACE MILLS IN NIGHT GAME

Satchel Paige, strikeout king of Negro baseball, will lead his team against the Chicago Mills at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, Friday. The great southpaw, whose long list of strikeout victims includes many major league players, will be appearing in Chicago for the first time in several years.

Chapman Plays Today for French Amateur Title

ST. GERMAIN, France, June 5.—(AP)—Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., reached the finals of the French amateur golf tournament today. He defeated D. Sinclair, English resident of southern France, 3 and 2 in the morning and in the afternoon eliminated L. Brisson of France, 4 and 3. He will meet Jacques Leglise, 1937 champion, of Chantilly, in the 36 hole finals tomorrow.

HYDROX MEETS RIVAL NINE.

The Hydrox Beverage girls will play the Rivals tonight on Shewbridge field in a fast pitching softball game.

Time, :23 1-5, :47 1-5, 1:15 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Red Moss, $4.20 straight, $2.80 place, $2.20 show; Holiday Tea, $3.80 place, $3.00 show; Egyptian Belle, $2.80 show.

Winner trained by W. Causey. Went to post at 2:15½. At post ½ minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won handily; place driving.

RED MOSS, rushed into command on the inside, was taken in hand after about three-sixteenths, was inclined to veer through the stretch, where he weakened but held HOLIDAY TEA safe. Latter worked her way up after about three-eighths, was taken to the inside in the stretch and held on well. EGYPTIAN BELLE raced very wide in the stretch, where she closed some ground.

MAEBRILLE, lucky draw, drew clear before going an eighth, was steadied around the turn, swerved out entering the stretch and weakened in the drive but lasted. VALDINA BABE, taken to the inside after the eighth, began to work her way up when approaching the stretch, continued with determination under strong handling in the drive and might have got up in another stride. BOY BABY, a sharp factor from the start and raced wide throughout, was under strong urging the last three-sixteenths and faltered in the final furlong.

Time, :23 2-5, :46 2-5, 1:14 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Colonel Ed, $9.80 straight, $5.00 place, $3.20 show; Aglow, $5.20 place, $3.60 show; Million Bucks, $5.40 show.

Winner trained by L. J. Wilson. Went to post at 3:15. At post 5 minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

COLONEL ED, away fast and rated under a strong hold for a half mile, rallied with much energy when called upon and, wearing down MILLION BUCKS, drew clear in the last fifty yards. AGLOW, well up in the early stages, dropped back as if through soon after reaching the stretch but came again in the final eighth and headed MILLION BUCKS in the closing strides. MILLION BUCKS received a hustling ride and held away to the last eighth, where he weakened.

FOURTH RACE—Three-quarters of a mile. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Winner trained by C. Blair. Went to post at 3:44. At post ½ minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

LADY THIRTEEN followed CAUTIVO'S pace under snug restraint until straightened out in the stretch, responded vigorously when called on and, taking command after five-eighths, came away thereafter. THREADNEEDLE saved ground in the early stages, was slow to respond to vigorous urging but rallied in the last three-sixteenths and finished fast after having closed a gap. DELTA DAN, raced wide much of the distance, entered contention with a rush on the turn and holding on resolutely in the drive.

| PEGGY'S PEGGY [O.Grohs] | 108 | 4 | 5 | 6³ | 7² | 8 | 8 | A.Wittgren | 24.30-1 |

Time, :23 2-5, :46 4-5, 1:13, 1:41 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Shama Thrush, $40.80 straight, $12.80 place, $5.60 show; Ron, $3.40 place, $2.80 show; Patan, $2.60 show. Winner trained by C. Falkenberg. Went to post at 4:13. At post 3 minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

SHAMA THRUSH, well up from the start and saving much ground, came around KISSEM soon after reaching the stretch, then returned to the inside and, closing resolutely under brisk urging, wore down RON in the last fifty yards. Latter followed the early pacemaker under restraint, took command gradually when nearing the stretch and held on fairly well but was not good enough. PATAN, away slowly and badly outrun for three-quarters, rapidly improved his position thereafter and was strongest of all at the end.

SIXTH RACE—Seven furlongs. Three year olds and up. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 2-5, :47 1-5, 1:13 1-5, 1:26 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Magic Key, $3.60 straight, $2.80 place, $2.20 show; Melodist, $4.00 place, $2.40 show; Don Moss, $2.20 show. Winner trained by Roy Waldron. Went to post at 4:43. At post 4 minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

MAGIC KEY cut out the pace under restraint for five-eighths, came out entering the stretch, stood mild pressure gamely and was holding her advantage over MELODIST at the end. The latter also strongly restrained until the final quarter, was taken to the inside to race very wide, moved up under hand riding when approaching the final eighth and hung on well thereafter but could not get up. DON MOSS raced prominently from the start, saved much ground and held on with determination in the drive.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile. Claiming. Three year olds and up. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 2-5, :47, 1:13 1-5, 1:40 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Moon Bow Miss, $7.80 straight, $4.40 place, $3.20 show; Boston Sound, $5.60 place, $3.60 show; Summit Hill, $8.80 show. Winner trained by K. Ramsey. Went to post at 5:12½. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

MOON BOW MISS, under strong restraint for about five-eighths, raced to BOSTON SOUND, gradually bore over after getting to the outside and drew out while under much punishment the last sixteenth. BOSTON SOUND made the early pace under a good hold, increased his advantage on the stretch turn, came out in the last quarter, failed to withstand the winner but held on stubbornly while being forced to the inside in the last eighth. SUMMIT HILL, also in hand early, made only a mild bid when placed to a drive and weakened in the last sixteenth.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Claiming. Four year olds and up. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Winner trained by C. Porter. Went to post at 5:42½. At post 1¼ minutes. Start good. Won ridden out; place driving.

BLACK GIFT, reserved off the pace under strong restraint, began to move up after reaching the stretch turn, took command easily and drew out under vigorous hand riding. LABOR DAY, a strong factor from the start, took command without need of strong urging, could not withstand the winner but held on well. INVINCIBLE, badly outrun from the start, raced wide the final half mile and made up ground under severe pressure the last three-sixteenths.

REDS BREAK OUT IN 6TH; DEFEAT GIANTS, 8 TO 2

Push Five Runs Across on Six Hits.

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Bucky Walters won his seventh victory of the season today as he paced the league leading Cincinnati Reds to an 8 to 2 victory over the Giants. He yielded only seven hits.

A five run rally in the sixth inning broke up the game and blasted Hal Schumacher from the mound. A triple by Linus Frey with the bases full was the biggest item in the inning in which the Reds got six hits.

DODGERS, 6; PIRATES, 2.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 5.—(AP)—Vito Tamulis held the Pirates to seven hits and that was good enough for the Dodgers, who went on to win, 6 to 2, today for their second straight over the Pirates.

The Pirates hit Tamulis freely only in one inning—the sixth—but he weathered that with the loss of only one run and thereafter settled down.

BEES BEAT CARDS, 10 TO 4.

Boston, Mass., June 5.—(AP)—The slugging of Max West, who connected for two home runs, and Rookie Eddie Miller, who hit one, today enabled the Boston Bees to gain a 10 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

INDIANS BEAT RED SOX, 7-5, ON AVERILL'S HOMER

Cleveland, O., June 5.—(AP)—Earl Averill's first home run of the year, driving in Jimmy Webb and Frankie Pytlak, beat the Boston Red Sox today, 7 to 5.

The Cleveland outfielder also hit two doubles. His home run was off Southpaw Fritz Ostermueller, who started the game and was the losing pitcher for Boston although three teammates — Weaver, Wilson, and Dickman—saw duty on the mound.

Johnny Allen, traveling the route for Cleveland, yielded thirteen hits, but a half dozen were of the scratch variety. It was his second victory against three losses. Score:

a foul to Tresh. Then Knott walked Chapman, the fourth ball being a wild pitch on which Etten scored. After giving the pass to Chapman, Knott went to the opposite extreme by fanning Nagel.

The joy was taken from Joyce when Walker hit his homer to left on the first pitch in the fifth. Radcliff singled and went to third on Appling's single. Kreevich also singled. Radcliff scoring and Appling taking third, whence he scored on Owens' fly to Chapman. Kreevich stole third on a fourth ball which put Tresh on first. Knott struck out, probably to hurry the clinching of his first victory, but Bejma delayed it by smacking his homer to left, Kreevich and Tresh preceding him home. A pass to Kuhel meant Joyce's removal, Parmelee ending the inning without further mishap.

Roy Gets Generous.

The sixth was another tedious session, made so by Parmelee's well established lack of control. He walked Radcliff, Appling, and Kreevich in succession. Happily for those who wished to get started toward the dining table, Radcliff tried to steal as soon as he reached first and was turned back. Owen flied to Moses for the second out and Tresh singled to right, Appling scoring and Kreevich going to third. Mike scored on Knott's bounding single over McNamara's head, and Bejma struck out.

The third and last hit off Knott was recorded when Moses led off in the eighth with a single to right. Newsome flied to Walker. Etten fouled to Owen and Johnson's tap to Appling forced Moses at second. Only three Mackmen faced Knott in the ninth.

Bill Dietrich, whom the Athletics eliminated in the third inning of Sunday's second game, will take another shot at Connie Macks boys today in the final of the series. George Caster, usually a tough problem for the Sox, probably will start for the visitors.

In the first inning of the first game Sunday Rip Radcliff was credited with a scratch hit, the ball apparently having hit his bat and rolled slowly toward the pitcher. Investigation revealed that the pitch bounced in front of the plate but Radcliff swung at it for a third strike. The ball then bounced off Catcher Hayes shin guard and not off Radcliffe's bat. Under the revised ruling Radcliff loses the hit and Pitcher Pippen is charged with an error.

Ted Lyons, Marvin Owen, and Coaches Monty Stratton and Muddy Ruel have been delegated to represent the Sox in Cooperstown, N. Y., next Monday when baseball will hold a celebration in observance of its hundredth birthday.

Body of Eddie Collins to Reach Chicago Tomorrow

The body of Eddie Collins, former Notre Dame football star, who died of a heart attack in Tucson, Ariz., Sunday, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning. Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, but it probably will be held Friday morning. Collins played left end for Notre Dame in 1927, '28, and '29.

Page to Oppose Phils Today in Final of Series

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 5.—Vance Page will pitch for the Cubs tomorrow in the final game of the Philadelphia series. Coach Sylvester Johnson, who has been startlingly effective against the Cubs this season, will pitch for the Phillies.

The Cubs are scheduled to catch a 5:12 o'clock train for New York. They are booked to play the Giants in single engagements Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Clay Bryant, who was left in Chicago with instructions to get in shape to pitch at the earliest possible moment, is about ready to work but probably will not rejoin the team in New York or Boston, Manager Gabby Hartnett said today.

Umpire Bill Klem, who tried to slow down Diz Dean in yesterday's phonus bolognus game because he couldn't work his indicator as rapidly as Diz was throwing without a windup, was behind the plate again today.

10 Americans to Seek Titles at Wimbledon

LONDON, June 5.—(AP)—The United States will challenge for the all-England tennis titles at Wimbledon with a team of ten players, headed by Bobby Riggs, the country's top ranking amateur from Chicago, and Alice Marble, San Francisco's national champion.

Entries for the June 26-July 8 tournament closed today with more than 350 players seeking the singles titles won last year by America's Don Budge and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody. Budge has turned pro and Mrs. Moody, in New York, said she did not feel her game was at its best.

Riggs, playing on foreign soil for the first time, and England's H. W. [Bunny] Austin are co-favorites. Austin, never a winner but runnerup to Budge last year and to Ellsworth Vines in 1932, is in the United States but plans to return in time to practice.

Also entered from the United States are Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., who never has played at Wimbledon; Don McNeill, Oklahoma City; Charles Harris, Palm Beach; Owen Anderson, Los Angeles; Bill Robertson, of California; Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, Brookline, Mass.; Helen Jacobs, Oakland, Cal.; and Gracyn Wheeler, Santa Monica, Cal.

Riggs will team in doubles with Cooke, Harris with McNeill, and Anderson with Robertson. Mrs. Fabyan and Miss Marble also will play together. Miss Jacobs, 1936 champion, and Miss Wheeler will limit their competition to singles.

The men's competition figures to be the most open in years. Germany's combination of Henner Henkel and Roderich Menzel and the Yugo-Slavia trio of Ferenc Puncec, Demeter Mitic and Josef Pallada are highly regarded, with the Chinese, Kho Sin Kie and W. C. Choy, as possible threats.

Higbe Checks Cubs as Phils Triumph, 8-7

Double Play Stops Them.

The Cubs took up two runs of the slack before a double play nipped them in the fourth. With one out, Reynolds was hit by a pitched ball and G. Russell singled. Bartell also singled, Reynolds scoring and G. Russell taking third. Mancuso singled to center, scoring G. Russell. Leiber batted for Root and walked, loading the bases. J. Russell ran for Leiber. Scharein made a leaping one hand catch of Hack's drive toward center and doubled Mancuso off second.

The Cubs were all set to overtake the Phils in the fifth when another double play sank them. Herman and Gleeson walked and the count was three balls and one strike against Galan before Augie bounced out to Brack. May then speared Reynolds' drive and tossed to Mueller to double Herman off second.

Gene Is no Puzzle.

The Phillies got busy against Lillard, third Cub pitcher, in the fifth. May singled and Scharein walked. Davis slammed one into Lillard. Hack was on third, ready to try for a triple play, but Lillard hesitated and had to be content with a single forceout at second. Higbe bunted, and, when Mancuso left his station to field the ball, May scored standing up. In the confusion Higbe got to first, credited with a single. Then Martin and Mueller popped out.

Reynolds knocked a homer, his second of the year, to get the Cub eighth under way. It was a nice shot into the upper deck of the left field stand. G. Russell flied to Arnovich, but Bartell doubled to right center for his third hit. Mancuso flied to Marty and Hartnett, batting for Lillard, singled to left, scoring Bartell. Mulcahy replaced Higbe. Herman flied to Martin and Hack died on third with the tying run.

Yankees Give Fordham Star $9,000 to Sign

New York, June 5.—[Special.]—Henry [Hank] Borowy, Fordham's ace right hander, today said he had signed a contract to pitch for the Newark Bears, the International league farm club of the Yankees. He will report to the Bears tomorrow.

Although Borowy did not make known the terms of his contract, it is believed he will receive a bonus of $9,000 for signing.

The Fordham star, who won twenty-three games and lost only one in two years on the varsity, is expected to fill in the vacancy on the Newark pitching staff caused by the Yankees recalling Marius Russo.

Borowy's all-time pitching record with Bloomfield High, Montclair academy, the Fordham freshman and varsity squads is fifty-two triumphs and only three defeats.

DUKE SENDS UP TWO.

Durham, N. C., June 5.—(AP)—Left Fielder Eric [Red] Tipton and Shortstop Russell Bergman of the Duke university baseball team said today they had signed contracts with the Philadelphia Athletics and New York Yankees, respectively. Each received his A. B. degree this afternoon.

Patty Berg's Brother Wins Minnesota Prep Tourney

Minneapolis, Minn., June 5.—(AP)—Red Headed Herman Berg Jr., brother of Patty Berg, the national women's golf champion, today won his first major golf title when he carded 79—77—156 to take the Minneapolis state high school championship over the university course. Berg is a junior at Minneapolis Washburn High.

Baer Wants to Meet Barlund or Tony Musto

Max Baer will be ready to resume his boxing career in two months against the winner of the ten round bout between Tony Musto and Gunnar Barlund, Izzy Kline, trainer for the former heavyweight champion, said yesterday. Musto and Barlund meet in Chicago Stadium Thursday.

Baer is expected to come from Asbury Park, N. J., Thursday, to see the Musto-Barlund encounter if he considers his damaged features presentable after last week's losing battle with Lou Nova.

"Max is far from through as a fighter," Kline said. "He still has some good fights left in his system. He claims long idleness was responsible for his defeat at the hands of Nova."

Fighters Resume Training.

After Musto and Barlund resumed training yesterday—Tony in Kid Howard's gymnasium and Barlund in Trafton's—following a layoff Sunday, Promoter Bill Rand said he will appear before the Illinois boxing commission today to request formal approval of the complete card. He also will ask for permission to have the weighing in ceremonies Thursday afternoon broadcast.

A six round encounter between Alex Kettles, former South Bend sectional Golden Gloves heavyweight winner, and K. O. Clements of Pittsburgh has been added to the program. Other Golden Glove graduates in the show include Nate Bolden, south side middleweight, and Altus Allen, light heavyweight, whose home is in Peoria.

Bolden Meets Theodorescu.

Bolden faces Milo Theodorescu in a ten round event and Allen encounters Al Globe in a five rounder. Additional matches bring together Eric Seelig and Ken Overlin for ten rounds, and Floyd Gibbons and Marion Moseley for four.

Seelig is here with Artie Rose, New York trainer. The German fighter arrived Sunday in splendid condition. As a result he was given a rest yesterday. He will work out today.

Amateur boxing shows will be offered tonight in Kid Howard's gymnasium, 73 West Randolph street, and Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard. Bill Duncan, St. Charles middleweight, is paired with Johnny Crane of Morgan Park in a five round feature contest at the Northwest arena. Joe Preston, Marquette park welterweight, faces Billy Powers of Milwaukee in a five round secondary feature. Hank Kepp, Hamilton Athletic club, and Leonard Muller, Lindgren gym, clash in the windup bout in Kid Howard's place. Additional matches will involve Gene Ramon and Zach Bonner, Andy Sofiak and Teddy Popp, Tony Marty and Bernie Gerst, and Eddie Heintz and Lefty Goss.

Two other amateur shows this evening will be presented in Madison-Cicero outdoor arena and Savoy arena on the south side. F. M.

Halsted Loses to Larned in City Net Tournament

Gardner Larned, 15 year old player, reached the men's singles quarter-finals of the Chicago city tennis tournament with a 6-2, 3-6, 7-5 triumph over the veteran Thane Halsted, seeded fifth, in Oak Park yesterday.

Three entrants representing Big Ten universities moved into the fourth round, Frank Froehling and Marvin Wachman of Northwestern and Charles Shostrom of Chicago's conference champions scoring straight set victories. A number of matches were played in the women's singles, and play in all divisions will be resumed today. Results:

MEN'S SINGLES.

Mitzi Radek, Chicago Town and Tennis, defeated Florence Sleeper, Chicago Town and Tennis, 6-0, 6-1.

ARON TRIUMPHS OVER BRITTON; NYBERG WINS

Milt Aron of Chicago beat Bobby Britton of Miami, Fla., in Marigold Gardens last night. Though Britton showed flashes of brilliance in the ten round bout, he lacked aggressiveness and stamina. Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, seconded his son. Aron weighed 151½ pounds and Britton, 146.

MONARCHS VS. DRAFTS.

The Monarch Girls and the Down Drafts will play a fast-pitching softball game tonight in Normal park.

TWO 86s LEAD WOMEN'S GOLF IN NORTH DISTRICT

Shirley Johnson Ties with Mrs. Lillian Zech.

The Chicago Women's District Golf association's first team matches of the season yesterday produced spirited competition on the north, south, and west sides.

Shirley Ann Johnson of Sunset Ridge and Mrs. Lillian Zech tied for low gross with 86 in the north side's first division play held at Skokie Country club. The best score of the day, however, was turned in by Mrs. J. W. Indig of Mohawk, who had an 85 at Butterfield Country club on the west side.

The first of four intra-district team matches to be held this season will be played tomorrow at Olympia fields. Four teams of four players each, two from the north side and one each from the west and south sides, will meet. Play will start at 10 a. m. The next team match is scheduled on June 19. Yesterday's results:

NORTH SIDE.

First Division.

Lake Shore, 7½; Sunset Ridge, 4½; Tam o' Shanter, 6½; Glen View, 5½; Exmoor, 8; Onwentsia, 4; Lake Shore B, 7½; Evanston, 4½; Barrington, 8½; Northmoor, 3½; Kildeer, 6½; Park Ridge, 5½.

Mrs. F. W. Fairman of Onwentsia had low gross, 98, in the third division; Dorothy Found of Winnetka and Mrs. G. C. Crawford of Edgewater tied for low gross, 104, in the fourth division.

SOUTH SIDE.

Second Division.

Olympia Fields A, 9½; Lincolnshire A, 3½; Woodmar, 8; Ravisloe, 4; Olympia Fields B, 9½; Lincolnshire B, 2½. [Mrs. H.

Declare New Order Is Assumption of Power.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—The new rules of the federal communications commission requiring that international broadcasts must promote good will, understanding and cooperation infringe upon freedom of speech and are illegal, the National Association of Broadcasters declared today.

Neville Miller.

The charges were made in a letter from Neville Miller, president of the association, to Frank R. McNinch, chairman of the FCC. In this letter the broadcasters asked the commission to reconsider and set aside the regulation, effective Nov. 1.

This is an arbitrary assumption of power, not contained in the communications act of 1934. If the regulation were under the act it would give the commission the same powers over domestic broadcasting and "constitute a violent transgression of the basic principles of American democracy," the broadcasters contended as a result of their study of the regulation.

Hearing Is Demanded.

They urged the commission to reconsider and postpone final action until a hearing has been conducted on the questions raised by the broadcasters.

"A literal interpretation of this regulation would, for example, require a licensee to suppress spokesmen for minority groups if either the licensee or the commission believed their views would not promote international good will, understanding, and coöperation," the letter said.

"Freedom of speech as an integral part of the culture of this country not only is a cherished tradition, but a living reality, we are advised by several licensees of international broadcast stations that foreign listeners rely upon stations in the United States as a source for unbiased and uncensored news of the world.

A Blow at Confidence.

"This reliance is based upon the fact that these listeners know that in the United States there is no governmental supervision or control over the matter to be broadcast. We feel that the confidence that has been developed in the independent operations of American short wave stations will be destroyed when it becomes known that an agency of the government of the United States has laid down requirements to control the program content of these stations.

"The most effective way to develop and foster international good will by the United States is to avoid copying the tactics of totalitarian governments who supervise and direct all broadcasting."

Advertising Curb Unnecessary.

Concerning one part of the regulation which limits and prescribes the type of commercial advertisement which can be made, and the type of commodity which can be advertised, to the exclusion of others, the broadcasters said such regulations is neither desirable nor necessary.

"It would seem equally appropriate to require government supervision and censorship of all matter contained in American newspapers circulated abroad which use the facilities of the American merchant marine or the second class mail for delivery," the letter declared in opposing the ruling as a matter of foreign policy.

Concerning the powers embodied in the commission, the broadcasters said "we have been unable to find a legal status for the regulations which we have discussed."

OBITUARIES

John Baldwin Mudge.

John Baldwin Mudge, president of the Midwest Paper company, died yesterday in the Presbyterian hospital after an illness of two years. He was 63 years old and lived at 5131 Ellis avenue. Mr. Mudge, a Spanish-American war veteran, was a member of the Illinois and Chicago Athletic clubs, the Beverly Hills Country club, and the South Shore Country club. His widow, Mrs. Lettie Mudge; a daughter, Mrs. Clinton Rose, and a son, Frederick, survive. The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at the Hyde Park Baptist church, 56th street and Woodlawn avenue.

CAPT. M. J. GRADY FUNERAL RITES TO BE THURSDAY

Funeral services for Capt. Michael J. Grady of the Kensington police station will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in St. Sabina church, with burial in Mount Olivet cemetery. Capt. Grady's body will be kept in a mausoleum until the return of a son, the Rev. Thomas Grady, who sailed Sunday from Rome, where he is studying.

Capt. Grady, who was 52 years old, died Sunday night in Mercy hospital.

Capt. Grady had been a prominent member of the police department for many years.

Surviving are his widow, Rose; a daughter, Eileen, and two sons, George and the Rev. Thomas. Capt. Grady lived at 7925 Laflin street.

Henry Vernon Foster.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 5.—(AP)—Henry Vernon Foster of Bartlesville, Okla., died in a hospital today at the age of 63 years. No exact estimate of his fortune could be made, but often he was called "the richest man west of the Mississippi." One of Oklahoma's pioneer oil men, he developed the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company and headed it until he sold it to the Doherty interests in 1935. At that time Foster smilingly acknowledged he was worth at least $120,000,000.

The Rev. Frederic Willett.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, June 5.—The Rev. Frederic Willett, Britain's oldest clergyman, died tonight at Hayward's Heath, Sussex, eleven days before his 101st birthday. His last sermon was delivered at the age of 95 at an Armistice day service.

Mrs. Lucy Burns Kennedy.

Mrs. Lucy Burns Kennedy, a lifelong resident of the Lake Forest area, died yesterday in her home, 805 Kennedy road, Lake Forest, at the age of 87. Her husband, Richard, died in 1925. Mrs. Kennedy's parents, John and Anna Burns, were pioneers of the section, settling in what became the town of Everett in 1840. Mrs. Kennedy was born there in a log cabin in 1851. An unmarried daughter, Margaret, and a brother, William R. Burns, both of Lake Forest, survive. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday in St. Patrick Catholic church in the suburb.

Mrs. Rose Tomaso.

Mrs. Rose Tomaso, 64 years old, 1138 Columbia avenue, died yesterday in the John B. Murphy hospital. She was ill for six months. Her husband, Anthony, the former leader of the Tomaso String orchestra, well known in Chicago 20 years ago. Two sons, Joseph and Edmond, and four daughters, Miss Lucille Tomaso, Mrs. Marie Quinn, Mrs. Isabel Cleary, and Mrs. Eleanor Slattery, survive.

Mrs. Alba Wandrack.

The funeral of Mrs. Alba Wandrack, widow of a former McHenry county sherif, will be held today at Woodstock. She died Sunday in her home there. A son, Joseph, and a daughter, Laura, survive.

Mrs. Bertha C. Abbott.

Mrs. Bertha C. Abbott of 1850 61st court, Cicero, daughter of Chicago pioneers, died yesterday at Grant hospital. She was 62 years old. Mrs. Abbott's parents came to Chicago in a covered wagon more than a century ago, settling at Turner's Junction [now West Chicago]. Until four years ago, when she and her husband, Harry, former manual arts instructor at Harrison High school, moved to Cicero, she had spent all her life in Chicago. Her husband and two sons survive. Funeral services will be held in the chapel at 5844 Cermak road at 2 p. m. Thursday, with burial in Oakridge cemetery.

Otto Mayer.

Funeral services for Otto Mayer, a structural engineer in Chicago for 27 years, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the chapel at 3807 Lincoln avenue, with burial in Graceland cemetery. Mr. Mayer, who was 81 years old, died Saturday in his home at 3916 North Hamilton avenue. He had been retired on a pension in 1923 by the American Bridge company, with which he had been associated for years. Surviving are his widow, Elizabeth; two daughters, Erna and Mrs. Hermine Gahl, and a son, Herbert.

Mrs. Marie Dixon.

Mrs. Marie Dixon, wife of Thomas Dixon, an employé in THE TRIBUNE circulation department, died yesterday in St. Anne's hospital. She was 34 years old and lived at 1109 North Lawler avenue. ## J. C. TRASK, LAST CIVIL WAR VET IN ELMHURST, DIES

James C. Trask.

James C. Trask, Elmhurst's last civil war veteran, died yesterday at the age of 93 in the Edward Hines hospital. Despite his age he had insisted on riding at the head of the suburb's Memorial day parade. On the following day he became ill and was taken to the hospital.

As a youth he enlisted three times in the Union army before his family would allow him to stay with the 7th Michigan infantry. Three of his brothers fought in the northern ranks.

Mr. Trask lived with an adopted daughter, Mrs. Carl Patting, at 124 East Grantley avenue, Elmhurst.

OBITUARIES

William S. Burley.

William S. Burley, veteran real estate man, died yesterday in the Jefferson Park hospital, where he was taken after he had suffered a heart attack. Mr. Burley, who was 72 years old, was for many years an executive of the real estate department of the Burlington railroad. Later he was manager of the real estate department of the Old Ben Coal corporation. His home was at 200 South Ashland avenue, La Grange. Surviving are his widow, Anna, and a son and two daughters, Paul B., Ruth, and Frances.

Lieut. Col. George M. Peabody.

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—Lieut. Col. George M. Peabody, 45 years old, adjutant at the Fort Leavenworth, Kas., staff and command school, died in Walter Reed hospital yesterday, the war department announced today. He had been in the hospital since March 2. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon in the Fort Meyer, Va., chapel.

Maj. Guy W. A. Camp.

Treasury Aid Urges Congress to Act.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—John W. Hanes, undersecretary of the treasury, today urged congress to smooth the way for restoring the profit incentive to business enterprise.

He advised the house ways and means committee to adopt a tax revision program, and hinted other moves were necessary on the part of the administration to remove impediments to business recovery. His chief, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., had previously advocated tax revision.

Hanes' program was viewed as expressing the policies of officials who are opposed to the radical schemes for socialization of capital and industry, as embodied in the plan of A. A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state and a member of the Corcoran-Cohen-Henderson inner group of leftist planners close to the White House.

Takes Issue With Berle.

Berle's plan, supported ardently by the left wingers, was presented before the monopoly investigating committee. President Roosevelt has already approved its first two points; namely, government insurance of private loans to small business and a new immense spending program. The third point calls for socialization of capital financing.

Undoubtedly referring to the ultimate objective of the Berle plan, Hanes told the house committee:

"There are at the bottom only two ways of producing wealth. One way is to conscript labor and capital, and put them to work under government compulsion. This way is unthinkable in America.

"The other way is to provide the incentive of wages, interest, dividends, and profits. This is the way to which we are committed, the only way we can think of taking.

"I believe that the present tax system can be fairly improved so as to stimulate private enterprise.

Urges Committee to Act.

"With this thought in mind, I most earnestly suggest that your committee make it clear that it is the intention of the government to establish a tax system which preserves and increases the incentives that are essential to the perpetuation of a system of free enterprise in a nation of free men.

"I am not prepared to say that certain tax reforms will at once act as a miracle to cause the full resumption of privatae enterprise. Further reforms of the tax system may be necessary and I think that the government, as well as private enterprise, should always remember that new conditions demand new remedies.

"There may be other impediments that need to be removed which lie outside the pshere of taxation. There are no doubt impediments also arising in the disturbance of the outer world which the government as a whole cannot remove, though it may mitigate the effects."

Tax Revision Program.

The specific tax proposals, previously presented to the committee by Secretary Morgenthau, and which Hanes today endorsed, were:

1. Extend the miscellaneous internal revenue taxes which expire in June and July, and maintain the current rate of those taxes, which would otherwise be reduced in June.
2. Subject interest on all government securities hereafter to federal and state income tax laws.
3. Provide for carrying over net

HOUSE REBUFFS WAGE LAW CHANGE; UPSETS ADMINISTRATION PLAN

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—Upsetting administration plans, the house refused today even to consider a series of wage-hour amendments under procedure which called for limitation of debate.

The action came on a teller vote of 110 to 167 against a parliamentary move which would have led to forty minutes of debate and then a direct vote on the revisions.

The amendments were designed, among other things, to redefine farm exemptions under the law. Five farm organizations had expressed dissatisfaction with the proposed changes. A month ago the house labor committee approved a set of changes, then Chairman Norton [D., N. J.] withdrew the entire bill because of farm opposition. Last Thursday the committee rewrote them and had expected little opposition today.

Vexed by the house's action, Mrs. Norton said that so far as she was concerned there would be no further attempt to bring up the amendments.

COURT REFUSES TO QUASH GRAND JURY OIL PROBE

Danville, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley today overruled motions to quash a grand jury investigation of three major oil companies against which indictments, charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, are pending in the western Wisconsin district. The motions were filed Saturday by the Globe Refining, the Texas, and the Tidewater Associated Oil companies, and several officers of each.

The grand jury's investigation marks the second phase of the department of justice inquiry into alleged gasoline price fixing. The first resulted in the oil trials at Madison in the fall of 1937.

High Court Grants Review.

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—The government was granted a Supreme court review today of a decision that Federal District Judge Patrick T. Stone was empowered to dismiss indictments and grant new trials in the Madison, Wis., oil price fixing cases.

Sugar Control Spells Ruin in Louisiana

New Orleans, La., June 5. — [Special.] — Louisiana sugar planters, influenced by federal acreage quota rulings, are plowing under 31,000 acres of growing sugar cane. Florida planters are turning under 7,500 acres.

Meantime Cuba is permitted to export to the United States nearly four times the amount of sugar which American planters in Louisiana and Florida are allowed to produce. The Cuban imports into this country are permitted under trade agreements negotiated by the Roosevelt administration.

Louisiana and Florida growers are plowing up a total of 38,500 acres to qualify for the benefit payments promised them by the Agricultural Adjustment administration. The crop destruction comes at a time when nearly half of Louisiana's sugar cane lands is idle.

Growers Ars Saddened.

Louisiana growers are saddened by the waste. Thousands of sugar cane growers make their only cash of the year through that crop, sold to the sugar mills. There are only seventy-one plantations in the state big enough to have sugar mills. Thousands of growers have for their entire holdings ten acres of land or less, and raise sugar cane on part of that.

Leaders of the sugar cane industry say they do not know how many thousands of plantation hands and small farmers will be thrown on relief by the present plight of Louisiana sugar, a condition for which the federal government is held wholly responsible.

In 1938 Louisiana planted 270,000 acres of sugar cane, producing a crop of 5,859,000 tons of cane that produced 491,000 tons of sugar. Cuba is permitted to export to the United Statees about 1,900,000 tons of sugar a year.

Federal Officials Explain.

United States department of agriculture officials explain that the Louisiana acreage quotas are entered into voluntarily by the sugar planters. The Louisiana sugar planters say that unless they consent to sign up for the AAA quota, they are not given marketing cards. Without a marketing card, they say, no sugar-mill will buy their sugar cane for making raw sugar. They can burn it or feed it to their live stock.

A desperate but losing fight for relief was made by the American Sugar Cane league before this session of congress. Reginald Dykers, general manager of the league, declared that he and his associates see no hope for relief until the next congress. In December, 1938, Charles A. Farwell, executive officer of the American Sugar Cane league, made public the results of the league's investigation that showed a Roosevelt family interest in Cuban sugar. The move was attacked as "bad policy to antagonize the national administration" by Louisiana congressmen. But the published statements never were denied.

Got Contract from Cousin.

Summarized, the statements were these:

When James Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, answered the charges made against him in the article, "Jimmy's Got It," in the Saturday Evening Post, he did so in a series, "I'm Glad You Asked Me," written by Walter Davenport in Collier's Weekly. In the issue of Aug. 27, 1938, when Roosevelt family connection with Cuban sugar was not a public issue, Jimmy Roosevelt was quoted by Walter Davenport:

"We got the [insurance] contract with the West Indies Sugar company because its president, F. B. Adams, is my cousin. And we did a good job, too."

Investigate Roosevelt's Cousin.

The Sugar Cane league investigated Jimmy Roosevelt's cousin, F. B. Adams, and his company. They hold a copy of President Adams' report to his stockholders dated Nov. 16, 1937. It shows that the West Indies Sugar corporation that year enjoyed a gross income of $9,270,094.18 and a final profit of $909,714.16 after meeting all expenses. It shows that this one company alone was permitted to export into the United States as much sugar as all the sugar growers of Louisiana and Florida were permitted to raise, and Jimmy Roosevelt, by his own admission, got the insurance on it.

RESERVE BOARD FINDS SOME BUSINESS BELOW ACTIVITY OF YEAR AGO

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—The federal reserve board said today some lines of business activity have declined in recent months to levels below those of last year. In its monthly bulletin the board gave this summary of business conditions:

"Business activity, after a rapid growth in the second half of 1938, has failed since the beginning of this year to show the usual seasonal advance and in many industries current levels of activity are below those reached toward the end of 1938."

Part of the decline was ascribed to the stoppage of work in the bituminous coal industry.

Factory pay rolls, the board said, also have failed to make the usual seasonal advances, and the wage-hour act has not affected general wage earnings much.

"Wage rates in most individual industries have been fairly stable since the middle of 1937," the board said. "Increases brought about thus far by the fair labor standards act have been reflected in moderately higher average hourly earnings in a few industries, but their direct effect on the general average of hourly earnings has not been appreciable."

SMALL BUSINESS LENDING SCHEME TOLD BY ECCLES

Based on Devalued Dollar 'Profits.'

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board and chief exponent of the "spend for recovery" theory, today advocated use of dollar devaluation "profits" as "a cushion" for a liberal new system of loans to small business.

He told members of a senate banking subcommittee his plan would help fill a "gap in our financial mechanism" which he said retards small and medium sized business.

He proposed that $112,000,000 of the "profits" realized under the Roosevelt dollar devaluation program be used to create a new lending agency within the framework of the federal reserve system, or operated under "any other agency congress wishes."

Suggests Two Types of Loans.

This agency would be set up as a separate corporation for business loans under the Eccles plan. He said this corporation would make two types of loans: First, long term advances up to $1,000,000 that might extend for ten years or longer; second, loans from $500 to $25,000 which might extend for ten years and which would be fully insured under certain conditions.

Eccles told the group his proposal "would meet in a liberal and practical way the credit needs of small business. He asserted that $25,000,000 capital should be used to create a revolving fund that would supply $250,000,000 credit for the smaller loans.

This, he said, would operate as a pool for loans made by banks so that all loses would be covered, provided the losses of any one bank were not more than 10 per cent of its total of loans of this type.

Cites Book Profit.

Eccles explained that the treasury had a book profit of about $2,800,000,000 resulting from reduction of the gold content of the dollar. Congress, he said, authorized use of $139,000,000 of this fund when it established government insurance of bank deposits. Only $27,000,000 of this amount was used for deposit insurance and Eccles would now utilize the remainder under his small business loan plan.

Banks should not be criticized for their failure to assume risks involved in loans to small business, said Eccles. He warned the senators "no lending device" would provide the "primary motive power to full recovery," presumably indicating his belief that huge government spending activities should be continued.

Eccles said his proposals would supplement a bill by Senator Mead [D., N. Y.] which calls for insurance of 90 per cent of loans by banks to small business. Questioned by senators, Eccles said this insurance proposal "would be very disappointing" because banks would not care to advance funds if they had to bear the first 10 per cent of any losses.

Regardless of the outcome of his new plans, Eccles asked for repeal of existing powers of the federal reserve to make business loans.

Auto Industry Draws Praise and Blame in Study by FTC

Washington, D. C., June 5. — [Special.]—The federal trade commission today made public a report on the motor vehicle industry which was ordered by congress. The report covered concentration of control and price competition, pricing activities of local associations, recommendations as to manufacturer-dealer relations, financing company practices and consumer relations.

In 1938 there were eleven companies or groups producing automobiles, the report said, and three of these, all in active competition, had 90 per cent of the sales.

"Active competition among automobile manufacturers, although some of them have made very large profits," the report said, "gave to the public improved products, often at substantially reduced prices.

Finds Consumers Benefitted.

"Consumer benefits from competition in the automobile industry have probably been more substantial than in any other large industry studied by the commission.

Discussing efforts made by associations of retail dealers to fix or maintain prices, the commission said that in general it was found that interstate commerce was not present sufficiently to jusify federal action.

The report said that the manufacturers, and especially by reason of their great power, the General Motors corporation and the Ford Motor company, impose on their dealers unfair and inequitable conditions of trade by requiring them to accept contracts favoring the manufacturers.

It recommended that the following practices be abated to the end that the dealers have:

1. Less restriction upon the managements of their own enterprise.
1. Quota requirements and shipments of cars based upon mutual agreement.
3. Equitable liquidation in the event of contract termination by the manufacturers.
4. Contracts definite as to the mutual rights and obligations of manufacturers and dealers, including specific provision that the contract will be continued for a definite term unless terminated by breach of reasonable conditions.

Growth and Profits Shown.

The report outlined the growth and profits of the industry. It said that in 1938 seven manufacturers sold 99 per cent of the cars, with Chrysler, Ford and General Motors accounting for 89 per cent of the sales in 1937 and slightly more than 90 per cent in 1938.

From June 16, 1903, to the end of 1937, Ford manufactured nearly 27,000,000 cars and sold them for a little under $14,180,000,000, the report said, The aggregate profit was nearly $978,900,000.

From 1909 to 1937, General Motors made net profits amounting to $3,013,013,048 before income taxes, the report continued, and from 1911 to 1937 the corporation sold approximately 22,000,000 vehicles.

From 1925 to 1937 Chrysler sold approximately 6,200,000 cars and made a net profit of $355,049,438 before payment of income taxes.

CCC to Buy 1937-'38 Cotton Loans Totaling 95 Million

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—The Commodity Credit corporation announced today that it plans to buy in July all 1937-'38 cotton loans carried by banks and other lending agencies under agreements technically known as supplemental 1¼ per cent contracts. These total about $95,000,000.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES FOR THIRD WEEK; NOW BEST IN TWO MONTHS

Operations in the steel industry this week will advance for the third consecutive week and will reach the highest level in two months, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. Production is placed at 54.2 per cent of capacity, against 52.2 per cent last week.

The gain was somewhat larger than estimated yesterday. Production was expected, estimates at the last weekendwere that the rate would either advance slightly or show no change. A month ago operations were at 47.0 per cent of capacity, and a year ago the rate was 26.2 per cent.

Production this week is the highest since the week beginning April 3, when the rate was 54.7 per cent. From that point there were six consecutive weekly declines until a rate of 45.4 per cent was reached in the May 15 week.

PUBLIC SERVICE PLAN HELD WAY TO CLEAR SLUMS

Binns Tells of Work on 500 Homes.

BY AL CHASE.

Modern, low cost, privately financed housing will be possible when the reconstruction of city slums is done on a public utility basis and corporations have the right of eminent domain [condemnation of land for sites]. Arthur W. Binns of Philadelphia, who almost single handed has done in his city one of the outstanding slum rejuvenation jobs in this country, yesterday made this statement at a luncheon at the Stevens hotel.

Arthur W. Binns.

Binns was the guest of Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and his brother, Joseph P. Binns, manager of the hotel.

Builds 500 Homes.

Binns told of the opposition he met from the bankers in Philadelphia in his efforts to borrow money to carry on his program of rebuilding condemned homes into modern living quarters. Despite lack of coöperation he has rebuilt 500 run down homes and is renting them so that they return a profit of more than 15 per cent, he said.

The Philadelphian said that nowhere in the United States could any one assemble a site of contiguous land large enough for big scale slum

Our First Fifty Years and the Prophecy that Lies within Them

State Street in 1889 Looking North from Madison Street

Chicago in 1889! A city building for the future . . . restless with the energy of a million forward-looking people. This was the Chicago to which The Northern Trust Company first opened its doors. And the community welcomed the new institution. For it recognized that here a rare friendliness was combined with strict adherence to sound banking principles.

1939 finds Chicago three times bigger and many times busier than a half century ago. But the quality of neighborly cooperation and the practice of individualized service are just as characteristic of The Northern Trust Company as they were on "opening day." The steady growth of this institution has brought no deviation from the principles of the founders. The Northern Trust Company, in this year of its golden anniversary, wishes to pledge itself to a continuation of those worthy principles.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 5.—The stock market closed irregularly lower today in one of the quietest sessions of the year. Only 349,740 shares were traded. Price changes were small. Some minor fractional gains were mixed with the declines.

Desire to await concrete developments in the domestic tax situation and in international politics kept many traders on the sidelines, observers said. Underlying sentiment, however, appeared to be on the constructive side, partly because of the rise in steel schedules.

Steel shares were relatively steady. United States Steel and Republic edged higher. Bethlehem closed unchanged.

United States Rubber, most active stock, lost ½ point. Other rubbers also gave ground. In the motors General Motors closed unchanged, but Chrysler and others eased.

Most coppers slipped fractionally, as did aviation issues. In the oils, Standard of New Jersey and Consolidated Oil edged higher, but most others closed unchanged to lower.

Rails held to a narrow course and closed mixed. Santa Fe, New York Central, and Chesapeake and Ohio were higher.

New York Bonds.

New York, June 5.—[Special.]—Reports of progress toward unification of New York local transportation properties brought substantial buying of traction securities in the bond market today. Manhattan Railway 4s of '90 advanced 3¾ points and other liens were bought at higher prices.

United States treasury issues continued to climb, rising as much as 10-32 point, and many broke through previously established peaks.

Sharing in the speculative spotlight were Silesian American 7s, which rose 11 points.

Chicago Stocks.

Declines were in the majority in trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, with most of the losses confined to fractional proportions.

Commonwealth Edison, the most active issue on the list, finished unchanged at 28⅜ after setting a new 1939 high mark at 28½. Two radio issues, Zenith and Utah, were in demand at slightly improved levels.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks followed an uneven price trend yesterday. Lower quotations were posted for Northern Trust, First National, City National, and American National bank stocks. Continental Illinois National was quoted slightly higher and Harris Trust was traded at Saturday's levels.

ZENITH RADIO'S PROFIT IN YEAR UP TO $1,075,254

Unit Sales Climb 52 Pct. to Record Level.

Net profits of the Zenith Radio corporation increased to $1,075,254 in the fiscal year ended April 30, from $701,477 in the preceding year, Eugene F. McDonald Jr., president, announced yesterday. Earnings were equal to $2.13 and $1.42 a share in the respective years.

E. F. McDonald Jr.

The corporation, McDonald said, sold a larger number of radio receivers than in any previous year, with unit sales increasing 52 per cent as compared with the preceding fiscal period. The dollar volume of business did not increase to a corresponding degree because of lower prices, he added.

New Device Boosts Sales.

Distributors have placed orders for 1940 receivers in a volume 149 per cent larger than those ordered when the 1939 sets were introduced, McDonald asserted. He said the introduction of a new device which eliminates the necessity for aerials, antennas, and ground wires has contributed to the improvement in business.

McDonald announced that because "it would be unfair" to compete with automobile manufacturers for which Zenith produces automobile radios, the corporation has discontinued the production of motor sets for sale through regular channels. He told stockholders a substantial volume of business is expected this year from automotive customers.

McDonald reiterated the company's intention of withholding general sales of television receivers to the public. "Zenith is ready, but television is not," he said, adding that "the management continues to believe that television is not yet ready for the public and refuses to be stampeded into the premature production of television receivers for sale to the public."

A statement to stockholders soliciting proxies for use at the annual meeting, June 27, disclosed the name of Irving R. Allen has been substituted for that of Irvin C. Garverick Jr. on the slate of directors.

McDonald Paid $31,194.

It showed McDonald received $31,194 in compensation in the last fiscal year and held 71,437 shares of stock. Hugh Robertson received $28,694 as executive vice president and held 2,018 shares of stock. U. J. Herrmann held 10,697 shares, Paul B. Klugh 13,738 shares, and Mrs. Klugh 11,162 shares.

Allen, one of the incorporators of the company in 1923, was listed as the owner of 100 shares. Karl Hassel and Ralph Hubbart, other directors, are not listed as stockholders.

Business Done by Checks Declines in Middle West

Checks written against individual deposit accounts in banks in the Seventh federal reserve district [Chicago], totaled $1,002,975,000 in the week ended May 31, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. This was a decrease of 5 per cent from the $1,056,251,000 reported for the preceding week. Compared with the like 1938 week, when the total was $926,905,000, there was an increase of 8.2 per cent. Checks written against accounts in the Chicago banks alone totaled $683,469,000, compared with $542,637,000 in 1938.

RFC SUIT ASKS BANKRUPTCY FOR NAT. REPUBLIC CO.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation yesterday filed suit in federal district court seeking to have the National Republic company declared bankrupt. The RFC petition stated only $18,000 had been paid on a National Republic note for $500,000 which the RFC holds as part of the collateral for its loan of $90,000,000 to the Central Republic Trust company.

The latter company, once headed by Gen. Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President of the United States, is being liquidated. The National Republic company was listed as a subsidiary. The petition stated the National Republic company had a liability of $41,985 on its holdings of 419 shares of parent company stock.

COTTON

July cotton sold at new seasonal high prices yesterday on American exchanges. Persistent buying attributed to mills and spot firms was responsible for an upturn of .08 to .15 cent a pound. Closing trades were at the top. The deferred deliveries were bought by houses with European and Bombay connections and closed .05 to .13 cent a pound higher.

A good demand was reported for cotton goods. Manchester, England, reports said that the British government was distributing large orders for military purposes. Print cloth mills in the Spartenburg, S. C., area have voted to curtail production 25 per cent during the next three months.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .14 cent a pound higher with New York, 9.92 cents; New Orleans, 9.40 cents; Galveston, 9.50 cents, and Houston at 9.40 cents a pound. Prices follow:

COURT CONSIDERS CLAIMS FOR FEES IN C. & E. I. CASE

Ruling on Reorganization Expected Soon.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday took under advisement applications for fees in connection with the reorganization of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad. The interstate commerce commission previously made recommendations as to the amounts of the fees to be paid.

Judge Barnes already had under advisement the question of approving the reorganization for the road, which has been in the hands of the courts since October, 1934. It is expected that he will make a ruling on the reorganization within ten days. If he approves it, the interstate commerce commission may take a vote of the security holders as to whether they will agree to its terms.

If the court sanctioned the reorganization and two-thirds of the security holders ratified it, it would become operative. If the security holders rejected it, Judge Barnes, under the law, would be empowered to hold another hearing, at the conclusion of which he might or might not declare the plan operative.

Fee Requests Are Listed.

The fees requested yesterday and the recommendations made by the I. C. C. follow:

Chemical Bank and Trust company, New York, trustee under the general mortgage: requested $5,000 for past services and asked $2,500 for future services. The I. C. C. recommended that the $5,000 for past services be allowed to stand, and that the $2,500 for future services be cut to $1,500.

Wright, Gordon, Zachary, and Parlin, New York, counsel for the bank, $10,000 for past services, $2,000 for future; I. C. C. recommendation, $4,500 for past service, $1,000 for future.

Burry, Johnstone, Peters, and Dixon, Chicago; associate counsel, $10,000 and $2,000; recommendation, $4,500 and $1,000.

Central Hanover bank, New York, trustee under the first consolidated mortgage, $5,000 and $2,500; recommendation, $5,000 and $100.

Ask $10,000 and $5,000.

Larkin, Rathbone, and Perry, attorneys for the bank, $10,000 and $5,000; recommendation, $5,000 and $1,000.

Gilruth, Beck, and McConnell, Chicago, associate counsel, $8,000 and $1,000; recommendation, $3,000 and $500.

Guaranty Trust company, trustee under the prior lien, $1,500 and $2,000; recommendation, $1,500 and $200.

Davis, Polk, Wardwell, Gardiner, and Reed, New York counsel, $12,500 and $2,500; recommendation, $7,500 and $1,500.

Tenney, Harding, Sherman, and Rogers, Chicago associate counsel, $3,000 and $500; recommendation, $1,500 and $500.

Chicago Firm Asks $200.

Isham, Lincoln, and Beale, Chicago, associate counsel, $100 and $100; recommendation, $50 and $100.

Protective committee for the general mortgage, $47,000 and $30,000; recommendation, $50,000 and $25,000.

Louis B. Wehle, counsel for the committee, $42,619 and $45,000; recommendation, $25,000 and $4,000. Wehle sought to have a rehearing on his claims by the I. C. C., but his plea was rejected by Judge Barnes.

Kenneth D. Steers, chairman of the board, put the amount he was to be paid up to the I. C. C. and the recommendation was $18,000 and $4,000. Ernest S. Ballard, attorney for the debtor, did likewise and the recommendation was $45,000 and $10,000.

Reconstruction Finance corporation, $4,751 for disbursement to local counsel, approved.

GRAINS LOWER ON FAVORABLE CROP REPORTS

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

| | Yesterday. | Saturday. | Year ago. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Wheat | $ .75¾ | $ .77⅞ | $ .71⅛ |
| Corn | .50¼ | .50¾ | .56⅝ |
| Oats | .32⅞ | .33⅜ | .26⅝ |
| Rye | .51⅛ | .52¾ | .51 |
| Soy beans | .91 | .91 | .85 |

Favorable crop reports combined with a rapid extention of harvesing operations in the southwest caused liquidation by scattered holders of grain futures yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat led the decline and closed 1½ to 1⅝ cents lower. Corn was ⅝ to ¾ cent lower. Rye lost 1¼ to 1⅝ cents a bushel.

A forecast for showers and cooler weather in the American northwest, and good rains over a large part of the Canadian northwest over the week-end had a depressing effect. Many speculators who were buyers recently sold their holdings of futures as prices declined. Closing trades were at the bottom with prices the lowest since May 24.

Harvest Wheat in Southwest.

Harvesting of winter wheat in Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas is progressing rapidly. Combing machines have started to operate in parts of Oklahoma. With favorable weather cutting is expected to be general in that state in about 10 days.

Sufficient rain was received over a wide area in the southwest recently to carry the wheat crop to maturity. Some reports indicated that rain from now on would delay harvesting. It is expected that considerable wheat will be stored under government loans.

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation announced the purchase of 629,000 barrels of flour for relief distribution. The price was $2,296,000. Delivery will take place between June 10 and Aug. 28.

Weather Helps Corn and Oats.

Weather conditions over most of the corn and oats belt were regarded as favorable for the new crops of the two grains.

Speculative interest in corn was light was operations other than closing of spreads with wheat attracted little attention.

The visible supply of American grain showed the following changes from a week ago [in bushels]: Wheat decreased 1,184,000, corn increased 564,000, oats decreased 457,000, rye increased 118,000, barley decreased 292,000.

Butter Futures Strong; Cash Market Is Easier

The November butter future contract rose 0.14 cent a pound yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The cash market was easier, receipts were liberal and predictions of showers in important production areas pointed to larger output.

REVISE TAXES, HELP BUSINESS IS HANES' PLEA

Treasury Official Urges Congress to Act.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

business losses to be deducted from business profits of future years.

4. Ban the issuance of any more tax exempt securities.

5. Revise downward the present surtax rates on very large incomes.

6. Repeal of the undistributed profits, capital stock, and excess profits taxes [implied but not specifically recommended].

Wants Business Encouraged.

Taking cognizance of the government spending projects to relieve unemployment Hanes left this concluding statement with the house committee:

"I see on one hand some ten million men and women unable to gain employment in private enterprise. I see, on the other hand, a great deal of idle machinery and many empty smokestacks.

"If we can so encourage private enterprise that it will reach out into the ranks of the unemployed and bring the able-bodied back to work in profitable business, it will do more, in my honest opinion, to revive this country and hasten substantial, material, economic recovery than any other single thing that can be accomplished in this particular period."

Discusses Federal Spending.

Expenditures of the federal government today, he said, are very much larger than ever before in peace time, because of expansion of governmental functions in national defense, social security, unemployment relief, agricultural relief and conservation of natural resources.

Hanes said that retrenchment of expenditure alone will not balance the budget with a surplus sufficient to reduce the national debt. Therefore, he said, a larger national income is necessary and this can be produced only by more work, more investment and more enterprise.

"This means that the social reforms desired by the people can be sustained and developed only by the recovery of private enterprise, which, after all, is the backbone of federal revenue," Hanes asserted.

He then went on to urge incentives to private enterprise, among them tax revision.

Roosevelt's Theory Different.

President Roosevelt's attempt to raise the national income has been based upon public spending rather than through business incentive. It is the theory advanced by Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board.

Hanes' statement was interpreted by many as possibly his swan song as undersecretary. It has long been known that he was discouraged by the frequency with which his proposals for tax revision bounced back from the White House before a compromise was agreed upon.

Hanes was a liberal Wall streeter before he was recruited by the administration for the Securities and Exchange commission. He came into the treasury as liaison officer between the administration and business, and has conscientiously tried to build a meeting ground.

Quick action is expected on the tax bill. The house committee has agreed to confine its public hearings to corporation levies and expects to report the bill within two weeks.

METAL AND THERMIT.

Investors' Guide: I read an article several days ago that the Metal and Thermit corporation makes some kind of beryllium alloys. Is this true? What other products are made by this company? I would like to obtain some information about the company's financial setup.—A. M. T.

Answer: The Chicago sales office of the Metal and Thermit corporation reports that it does not produce beryllium metal alloys although it had at one time represented a firm which had patents for such alloys.

Principal output of the company consists of metallic tin, tin chlorides and melting scrap recovered from tinplate scrap. Tin crystals, oxides and sulphates are manufactured for the ceramic industry.

The company also derives substantial revenue from the "thermit" process, a chemical welding formula, and from its sales of "murex" welding rods. It is the sole sales agent of the American Murex corporation, which makes the rods.

Three detinning plants with a combined consumption capacity of 175,000 tons of tinplate scrap a year are operated by the company. Processes used are protected by patents acquired from Th. Goldschmidt of Germany. The firm was incorporated in New Jersey in 1908 as the Goldschmidt Detinning company. The present name was assumed in 1918.

The company does not disclose its earnings, but does make public its balance sheet. At the close of 1938 total assets were $7,240,080, a slight gain from $7,022,390 on Dec. 31, 1937. Current assets dipped to $4,327,325 from $4,398,071, but current liabilities increased sharply to $545,941 from $288,491.

Capitalization of the company consists of 95,307 shares of common stock and 5,053 shares of 7 per cent, $100 par preferred stock. There is no funded debt.

Dividends of $1 quarterly are being paid on each common share, in addition to regular payments on the preferred shares. In 1938 dividends on the common stock totaled $4.50 each compared with $9 in 1937 and $8.50 in 1936. The largest annual dividend was $14 in 1912 and the smallest $2 in 1922. Payments on the common shares have been uninterrupted since 1911.

It was stated incorrectly yesterday in a report on the Pullman company that the average passenger rode 438 miles a day in one of the 5,124 Pullman cars operated in 1938. The average distance traveled by a Pullman car each day in 1938 was 438 miles.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Further savings in food bills for Chicago consumers are in prospect for the near future as a result of the new declines in cattle and wholesale beef prices at the stock yards, meat men said yesterday. Reductions in costs of some of the best cuts of beef going to retail amounts to 50 cents to $1.00 a hundred pounds compared with a week ago. Many kinds of beef sold at new 1939 lows yesterday.

The cattle market was under pressure of the second largest Monday supply of the year. Total arrivals reached 18,000 head compared with 11,400 the preceding Monday.
